DR. PAUL BURBANK
HAMPTON, VIRGINIA

President, Virginia State Dental Association

Greetings

In the following pages, you will find the program of the Seventy-fifth Annual Convention of the Virginia State Dental Association. This year's convention is dedicated to the memory of Horace Wells, discoverer of nitrous oxide anesthesia and it is fitting that a portion of the program be devoted to anesthesia. I feel sure, with its varied construction the program will offer sufficient appeal to encourage your attendance. Further, it is designed to give you full scientific value with an added punch of light entertainment prepared by the committee on local arrangements. You must not deny yourself the opportunity to relinquish your arduous duties for this brief spell and refresh yourself both professionally and physically. Richmond is the ideal convention city, its convenient location, travel facilities, and ample hotel accommodations, offer every inducement for a large attendance.

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the officers, committeemen, essayists and all who have contributed their time and ability to make this meeting possible. They have labored under extreme difficulties and I am sure the fruits of their efforts will command your felicitations.

In closing, may I take this occasion to thank each of you for the honor and privilege of serving as President of the Virginia State Dental Association during this war-time period. My administrative effort has been dedicated to co-operation with our parent organization, the American Dental Association and the National government in prosecuting the war in every possible way through our State Association's facilities. The enthusiasm and support accorded me warrants well for the future of dentistry in Virginia and my prayerful wish is to see the early and successful termination of this war that so many of our younger members might return to add their vigor in the further progress of our Association.

Respectfully,

PAUL BURBANK.

Exhibitors

The Exhibitors and those placing advertisements in our BULLETIN assist us in financing our program and upon the reports of the representatives at this meeting, to their respective firms of their success or failure in reaching our members, depends whether the exhibiting firms might think it worth while to continue attendance at our meetings. To the representatives is due the courtesy of an opportunity to exhibit and demonstrate their products to our membership.

Consequently, both for the advantages accruing to the Association and in fairness to our exhibitors, members are urged to spend as much time as possible with the representatives and show them every possible consideration.

Your committee has strived to be liberal in the time reserved for the use of exhibitors and believes that the time spent in attendance at the various demonstrations will be well worth while.

Strength, toughness, resiliency, and stability of form make LUXENE 44 the outstanding material for partial dentures. LUXENE 44 partials maintain their fit in the mouth because they don't swell in water; thin sections have more strength; toughness cuts down breakage; resiliency absorbs stresses and strains in use.

Precision casting by Extrusion reduces opened bites, moved teeth and assures accurate reproduction of the model.

BRIDGEWORK : DENTURES

The Birth of a System . . .

Faces . . . for all of mankind. Nature herself made them basically Square, Tapering or Ovoid . . . and, in her most attractive natural dentitions, harmonized tooth form with face form.

FROM his nineteen years of study of numberless faces of all forms, Dr. J. Leon Williams distilled Nature's basic law of face-form and tooth-form harmony . . . thus the Trubyte System was born.

The Trubyte System made practicable the application of the law of face-form and tooth-form harmony to the selection of artificial teeth.

Its world-wide acceptance by the dental profession acclaims its value in the selection of teeth for distinctive dentures. Trubyte New Hue Teeth are classified according to the Trubyte System. They provide anatomically correct forms and assure a harmonious form for every face, and a size . . . the right size . . . for every case.
