IFC to discuss its role with Wilson

By Bill Eby

Times Staff Writer

Members of the Inter-Fraternal Council will meet with Dr. Richard I. Wilson, vice president of student affairs, tomorrow in an attempt to define that organization's role in relation to the VCU administration.

The meeting, scheduled for 10 a.m. in the President's Conference Room at 910 W. Franklin st., was announced by Bill Oliver, president of the IFC, Tuesday night.

Oliver said the scheduled meeting would be one of several already held with the administrator to allow fraternity and sorority activists to discuss such issues as the proposed Council of Undergraduate Student Affairs and the recognition of national fraternity chapters on campus.

The proposed council, according to

Oliver, will definitely be discussed at a meeting of the University Assembly to be held at the end of the month.

Dr. Wilson has previously stated the assembly would assume a proposed format of nine students, three faculty members and three administration members. This format of the council, the members of which will be nominated to the University Assembly by Wilson and his staff, is subject to change, according to Dr. Wilson.

The council was to be discussed at the last meeting of the University Assembly but prolonged discussion of other matters did not allow the proposal to be brought before the group.

Oliver also announced Tuesday that he is planning to run for the SGA presidency this spring.

Oliver said, "I can not help but feel that fraternities and sororities are being backed against the wall. We have been held up by red tape that could possibly be avoided and since I have been with the organization of these groups from the beginning, I feel I can help these people (the administration) along and show them what we, as fraternities and sororities, need."

In other IFC business, motions were passed to allow the Judicial Committee of the IFC to review the constitutions for membership approval to the regulatory body. The groups are Lambda Sigma Pi and Phi Alpha Sigma, both fraternities and Delta Sigma Theta, a sorority.

Proposals submitted by the Rush Committee for this semester were passed by the IFC. The proposals included that all pledges must have a 2.0 average before pledging any member organization and must maintain that average for sustaining membership; and that any form of hazing will not be allowed. The IFC will require a list from all member organizations of persons signing up for rush and then all those who are accepted for pledgeship.

Rush committee proposals pertaining to the academic year, 1970-71, were also approved by the body, including the designation of rush period as being from the end of mid-semester testing in November to the

SGA Bureau to study sub-letting of parking

The SGA Research Bureau will investigate the possibility of sub-letting faculty parking spaces during times when they are not normally used, according to Randy Eley, SGA president.

Also in his Senate report, Eley also said that the Research Bureau will investigate the possibility of paving some parking lots and erecting basketball goals, etc. He added that expense will be the determining factor.

Eley also said that the idea of forming a student-run paperback bookstore is being considered to complement the present bookstore.

Eley announced that Eighth Congressional District Representative Bill Scott will be special speaker at the SGA retreat planned for the weekend of the 14-15 of March. Past presidents of RPI and MCV student governments have been invited to attend and aid in the discussion and planning also.

Eley concluded his report stating that co-ed visitation is now up to the University Assembly.

In his treasurer's report, Sam Wilcox announced that he had contacted members of the Art Union and cleared the $2,500 allotment originally given

Sub-assemblies

Committee opposes structure

The Student Life Committee has declared its opposition to the sub-assembly program proposed by the selection committee of the University Assembly.

Negative comments were made at a special meeting Wednesday in Rhoads Hall.

"As I see it," said Butch Jenkins, House Speaker and leader of the committee, "the subcommittee is another buffer...between the school's Administration and the student government...to push us further down."

The controversy began last Friday when the committee met with Dr. Richard I. Wilson, vice-president for student affairs, who had called the meeting in order to elicit student cooperation in the program.

Dr. Wilson advised the committee to discuss the proposal among themselves and to inform him of any alternatives that they felt were necessary.

The students are scheduled to meet with Dr. Wilson again today.

"Until last year the student government was a fairly respected body," he commented. "Personally...I feel that you could just as effectively use the student government here and at MCV" to communicate between "the school's Administration and the student body."

Drugs workshop to begin Tuesday

By Ida Darby

Special to The Times

The recollections of a former drug addict will be one of the features of a two-day workshop on drug abuse to begin Tuesday in Rhoads Hall.

Robert Moorman started taking drugs in 1961 at college in Cambridge, Mass. After dropping out of school, he spent the next five years experimenting.

He tried marijuana, morphine, heroin (an eight-month addiction), mescaline, LSD, and amphetamines. Also included in his experimentation was limited use of solvents and glues, romlar, barbituates, and various pills.

Then in 1966, Moorman was arrested in Tampa, Fla., for grand larceny and possession of narcotics. Within the confines of the Florida state and county prison system, he began the process of rehabilitation.

For the past two years, he has lectured at schools, colleges, and universities from coast-to-coast.

The workshop on drug abuse, sponsored by the Dean of Students of the Academic Division of VCU, will cover such topics as the current drug laws and their enforcement, a review of the latest research findings, and an overall view of what is happening on the college campus today.

All sessions will be held in the multi-purpose room of Rhoads Hall, 710 West Franklin st. and are open to VCU students.

Following is the program schedule:

'Fiery' pianist to perform

Martin Berkofsky, whose music was proclaimed "fiery" by The New York Times, will perform in a recital at 8:15 p.m., February 28.

The young classical pianist received his musical education at the Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore, where he studied with Konrad Wolff and Walter Hautzig. In 1966, Berkofsky was awarded the Fulbright Scholarship for study in Vienna, Austria.

The program of Bach, Beethoven and Schumann is being presented at the Jewish Community Center in celebration of the 105th anniversary of B'nai B'rith.

Reservations for this benefit concert can be made by calling 649-9137, or on campus tickets may be purchased from Denise Van Lear (353-7074).

Admission is $2.50.

'Ship of Fools' here tomorrow

"Ship of Fools" starring Lee Marvin and Oscar Werner will be shown at 7 and 10 p.m. tomorrow in Science 115. Tickets are 25 cents.

Sophomore recital to be given tonight

Raymond E. Chenault, Jr. will present his sophomore organ recital at 8:30 p.m. tonight in the sanctuary of the Holy Comforter Episcopal Church.

He is an applied organ major and a student of J. Lawrence Robinson.

Since his entrance into the VCU Music Department he has been accompanist for the Choral Group and for instrumental and voice students. He is a member of the American Guild of Organists, (AGO), Richmond Chapter, and is program chairman for the VCU chapter of that group.

Chenault will perform works by Bextehude, Franck, Widor and Messiaen.

The public is invited.

En toto

With the appointment earlier this month of Dr. Lauren A. Woods, an Iowa professor, as vice president for health sciences, the search for six cabinet members under President Brandt was completed. After reading the qualifications of these men and seeing some of them in action, we feel that their potential will be good for the university.

We have seen the work of Dr. Francis J. Brooke, vice president for academic affairs, who served last year as acting president. Certainly after last year's experiences he is knowledgeable about student feelings and opinions on campus issues.

Raymond T. Holmes Jr., vice president for finance, has been associated with this university for several years and is known to most students as a gentlemanly, capable administrator.

The new vice president for student affairs, Dr. Richard I. Wilson, has proved an ally to students on several causes, and is proving quite popular with student leaders.

Dr. Roger Smith, vice president for planning and operations, John F. Imirie Jr., vice president for university hospitals, and Dr. Woods are new to the campus and not yet well known, but their written qualifications are sound, and much is expected from them.

En toto, it seems that President Brandt has a worthwhile bureaucracy with which to work. His team of assistants stands ready to be called on, and it appears that their jobs will be busy ones. We hope that they will remain responsive to student thought.

Catalyst

Senate story clarified

All of us interested in faculty participation in the governance of the university were gratified to have The Commonwealth Times carry an article concerning the progress of the development of a university-wide representative faculty organization in its February 18 edition.

However, there are several statements in the news article, which could give the wrong impression.

First, the announced vote is unofficial until the ad hoc elections and credentials committee, composed of equal numbers of HSD and GAD faculty members, can count and certify the votes.

Secondly, the formal announcement of the formation of the new Faculty Senate should and will come from the previously mentioned ad hoc committee, not from the chairman of the Academic Senate of GAD.

Finally, the statement that "the new organization will replace the Academic Senate (GAD) and include the MCV Faculty" tends to give the impression that HSD faculty will have something less than full and equal status in the new Senate. There has been full and equal participation by the faculties of both campuses in drafting the bylaws and each will be fully represented in the new Senate.

Thank you for allowing me to make these clarifications.

Dr. W. E. Blake Jr.
Chairman, Academic Senate, GAD

D.C. work program set

Opportunities are available for four VCU students to become interns in the Washington Summer Intern Program beginning in June. The students will serve as government aides.

Vincent F. Wright, assistant dean of students, has been named head of a selection committee to choose the students.

Three students will be selected from the Academic Center and one from the MCV campus. Applicants must have two years of college or 60 semester hours of study by June. Also, they must have a 3.5 average; graduate students must be in the upper half of their classes.

Applicants must be U.S. citizens. Interested students may contact

Wright, on the second floor of the Administration Building, by February 20.

New vice president honored

end of first semester in January. Member organizations who wish to hold another rush period, other than the designated time, in order to maintain membership will be allowed to do so.

Voting for prospective pledges will not be held until the first week of second semester and each year, the Rush Committee will be given the authority to designate rush and pledge periods.

The IFC has also started a project in conjunction with a petroleum distributing company, Texaco, to distribute applications for credit cards to sophomores, juniors, seniors, graduate students and administration and faculty members. No fee will be charged for the credit card which will be used on a three-month trial basis. Prompt payment of items obtained by use of the card by the owner allows use of the card to be extended for one year.

Housing was discussed at the Tuesday meeting with Oliver pointing out that no formal stipulations from any policy body had been placed on the matter, other than no fraternity or sorority housing would be allowed on campus due to limited space.

The IFC serves as a regulatory body and is presently composed of seven fraternities and four sororities.

For membership into the IFC, an organization must submit its constitution to the body which, by IFC consent, will be presented to the Judicial Committee of the IFC for membership approval. The constitution will be expected to contain a non-discriminatory clause in relation to membership and generally follow the same scope of the IFC constitution.

Zeta Beta Tau

Zeta Beta Tau began its mid-winter rush with a smoker held Wednesday night at the Student Center. A guest speaker and a film were presented to explain the principles of the organization. Refreshments were served.

Plans were completed for another gathering for members and pledges to be held Saturday at the Sheraton Motor Inn.

Another smoker is planned for Wednesday, Feb. 25. Interested students are invited to attend.

Phi Delta Omega

Phi Delta Omega has been organized off-campus since 1964. When the new ruling was passed allowing fraternities on campus, PDO brought six full-time members on campus to help bring the national fraternity to VCU.

In December of 1969, the Circle K Club merged with Phi Delta Omega. Phi Delta Omega now has 23 active members.

February 11, 1970, the Phi Deltas elected their executive board for the coming year: Harper Powell, Richmond, president; John Neal, Lawrenceville, vice-president; Steve Kincheloe, Richmond, secretary; and Marshall Northington, South Hill, treasurer.

This semester, Phi Delta has plans for a spring rush, dance, Brunswick stew sale, houseparty, May Week, Camptown Races, VIRs, Greek Week, and will take steps toward becoming a national fraternity.

S. A. M.

The society for the Advancement of Management, Virginia Commonwealth University's professional business society, opened its spring membership drive this week.

The VCU chapter, which meets every other Thursday night at 7:30 in the Faculty Lounge of the Hibbs Building, is affiliated, along with 200 other colleges, with the National Society for the Advancement of Management. The programs of the meetings regularly call for talks by top business managers in the Richmond area, viewing of educational films, and social activities.

Among the present functions of the VCU Management Society Chapter is the planning and organizing of the annual Management "Open House" scheduled for April 1. Present plans call for Auren Uris, Managing Editor of the Research Institute of America, to address the assembly.

Membership is open to all business students. Any interested student is invited to attend the spring membership meeting to be held on February 26 at 7:30 p.m. in the Faculty Lounge. Spring dues will be $6.

Kappa Epsilon Omega

Kappa Epsilon Omega will hold its second smoker on Sunday, Feb. 22 at 3 p.m. in the Hibbs Faculty Dining Hall. All male VCU students have been invited.

Lambda Sigma Pi

Lambda Sigma Pi will hold its spring smoker February 22, at 2:30 p.m., at its house, 1635 W. Grace st. All interested second-semester freshmen (and up) males are invited to attend. Free refreshments will be served.

French majors to take July foreign tour

French students at VCU are learning more than just "book" French. In groups of two or three, French majors are meeting with natives of France to discuss politics, social customs, and other current topics.

Previously, the language clubs had provided this opportunity to speak French, but this year lack of space gave the students no chance to practice the language learned in class. The purpose of the program is to aid students with their grammar, intonation and accents.

The classes will also be available to other students interested in and proficient in French after the French majors have been accommodated. Interested students should contact Mrs. MacDonald in room 308 of the Administration building.

French or German majors will be taking a six week travel-study tour July 2-Sept. 1. They will earn six credits in French or German and will stay in Geneva, Switzerland, or Friburg, Germany. Those interested should contact Madame Cecile Noble, room 308 of the Administration building.

Ram baseball team begins new season

The Ram baseball team is rapidly approaching the beginning of the season and Coach Ed Allen has been holding workouts since the current semester began.

The pre-season practice is usually held in the gym when it is available, but, whenever possible, Coach Allen takes his men outside for some hitting and fielding.

All outside practices, as well as all home games, are held at Hotchkiss Field, located on the north side of Richmond.

There are currently 30 students working out with Allen. By the end of this week a cut will be made.

Coach Allen is intent on keeping between 15 and 18 boys on the squad.

From last year's team, Coach Allen has the entire starting infield intact, two returning outfielders, and three veteran pitchers.

The Rams will play 30 games this year, including six doubleheaders.

That's a question "The Meadow Laundry Gang" gets asked every so often from a mildly perturbed customer. They really admit that they sometimes lose, crush or devour buttons of every make, but who doesn't? The one thing "The Gang" does do however is to replace every button that is lost. "Fearless Ed" purchased a machine that does nothing but sew on buttons; a six hundred dollar investment that is worth ten thousand dollars to "The Gang" because it helps iron over the little mistakes that only humans can make.
