

Faculty Committee Prepares Uniform Grading System

A new grading system to apply to all classes has been prepared by the faculty committee. This system, it was announced by Dean H. H. Hibbs, is designed to effect uniformity in grading in the various departments and schools here at the Institute. It will also bring the grading system of the Richmond Professional Institute in line with that of the colleges at Williamsburg and Norfolk.

The system makes the following provisions:

"In order to bring about uniformity in grading students in the various departments and schools of R.P.I. and in order to bring about uniformity between R.P.I. and the colleges at Williamsburg and Norfolk, the following definitions as regards grades have been prepared by a faculty committee for the guidance of the new as well as the old members of the faculty.

1. "Students should be graded according to the

"Candida Dropped By Theater Group

"Candida," by George Bernard Shaw, the Irish playwright, has been dropped, at least for the present, from the Theater Associates production list," Raymond Hodges, head of the Dramatic Arts Department announced today.

"Candida," scheduled for January 9, 10, and 11 performances at the Gymnasium Playhouse, cannot be produced because of a lack of publisher's scripts. The scripts are out of print. Duplication of these would constitute an infringement of copyright laws, so "Candida," at least until the scripts become available, is out.

"In its place," Mr. Hodges said, "the Association will present some currently popular success. We have not as yet decided upon any particular play, but it will probably be a comedy."

Students Take Part In Play

Seven students of the dramatic department participated in "Rip Van Winkle," produced by the City Division of Recreation recently.

Those students who took part were Lola Mae Sheffet, Jinnie Jones, Joan Leghorn, Lou Messick, Morris Law, Ty Morrow, and Bill Buckley. Mrs. Raymond Hodges, wife of Mr. Hodges, director of the drama department also participated.

The play was directed by Mrs. Elizabeth Apperly, under the supervision of Mrs. Rose Banks.

Dunkum Elected By R.P.I. Veterans

Bennie L. Dunkum, a veteran with three years overseas duty, was elected floor chairman at the first organization meeting of the Richmond Professional Institute Veterans' Club, the meeting was held in the gymnasium building Tuesday, October 22.

Dunkum immediately appointed Joseph Lawson Hendrick, Jack Burkhead, Herbert George, and Henry Rowe to serve with him on a committee which will select a time and place for the next meeting of the club.

William C. Shaffer, the business department instructor was present and at the close of the meeting expressed to the chairman a willingness and desire to further efforts of the club in any way possible in his capacity of faculty advisor.

All members who were present took advantage of an opportunity to express their own personal viewpoints on how the club could best serve the needs of the veterans and the college.

Primary Arrangement Made For Cotillion Fall Formal

The opening dance of the Cotillion club of the Richmond Professional Institute will be held Friday, November 8 from 9:00 p. m. to 1 a. m. in the Mosque ballroom.

Ten Students Give Musical Recital

The first recital to be given this term by the R.P.I. musical students, scheduled for presentation Monday night in the Music Building, under the direction of Volnay B. Sheppard.

Offering six compositions for woodwind and string instruments, the program included also, solos by three of the voice students.

To begin the recital, Donald Wendt, violin soloist, offered Kreisler's "Praeludium" and "Al-

The Proscript Regrets Omissions

The editors of the Proscript regret that it was impossible to publish a biographical sketch of Mr. E. V. Briggs and Mrs. Harold Phillips, two new faculty members, in the last issue.

Mrs. Phillips, an instructor in the drama department, is the former Miss Mary B. Dixon, who had her own Studio of Speech Art in Richmond. She received her B. A. degree from Western Maryland College where she was

Correspondent To Speak At First Convocation Monday

A convocation has been called for Monday, November 4 at 11:45 a. m., by Dean Henry H. Hibbs.

Bruce Thomas, widely publicized as an American platform personality who is "free to talk and does" will address Richmond Professional Institute's first convocation this term at the Pace Memorial Church. The subject of his lecture will be "The Orient Is Our Business."

After thousands of miles of travel in which he interviewed business, political, religious, economic and military leaders, Bruce Thomas, free-lance foreign correspondent, has returned to America, bringing with him a post-war report on Asia.

Thomas has made eighteen trips to the Orient, and his talk will be from his "I Was There" lecture series. Thomas also covered the Bikini atom-bomb tests.

Dean Hibbs has requested that the Senior class and faculty wear caps and gowns on this occasion.

According to the Student's Handbook, regular convocations are sponsored by the various academic departments and student organizations in the college. Guests lecturers are frequently presented to the student body.

Other convocations assume the duty of disclosing special announcements and instruction. These convocations provide an opportunity for the students to have a better understanding and knowledge of curricular and extra curricular activities promoted in the school.

Attendance at all convocations is compulsory. Pace Memorial Church is situated at Laurel and Franklin streets.

Commercial Art Club Installs New Officers

Nancy LaTouche has been installed as president of the Commercial Art club of the Art Student's Group.

Other officers who took over their new duties are Jean Elereson, vice president; Avlon Anderson, secretary and treasurer; Betty Hoover, student government representative; Nancy Shuman, publicity chairman; and Betty Baxendell and Jane Carol Brown, social chairmen. Mrs. Hazel Mundy, professor of costume design and illustration, is sponsor of the organization.

All commercial art student can join the club.

HAVE ANY SUGGESTIONS?

If you are pondering some practical suggestion which might improve a condition or situation at school, you can bring the matter before the faculty and student body by writing about it in a letter to the editor of the Proscript.

The only specifications made for these letters is that they be clear and concise, not longer than 80 words, and not employed as an outlet for petty complaints or peevishness.

The Proscript is running, in each issue, a column called "We the Men." This will be written by a different man every week and will express the exclusively masculine point of view concerning school activities. Or it may be written to express representative feelings and opinions of RPI men.

Any male student is eligible and invited to try his hand at writing one of these stories. If you have a yen to express yourself, see Emily Ann Rice, page two editor.

BOYS, BOYS, BOYS

What with the influx of 495 brand new male students, (official count of the Registrar) new situations are arising daily in this former sanctum-sanctorum of female scholars. Our sophomores and senior ladies look with envy, not to mention malice aforethought, at the lucky juniors who not only have a traditional "little sister," but a most untraditional "little brother." We implore the boys to spread themselves out.

The seams of the day room are splitting from overpopulation, and the new and welcome soda fountain is worked to capacity, but who will deny that the day room holds more interest than it has evidenced heretofore.

It seems that the things for all female tyrants to do is to open their clubs, their date-books, and their hearts to the new element.

Boys, boys, RPI is glad to have you!

LIBRARIANS BUSY

The greatly increased enrollment here at RPI has taxed all the school facilities, and the library has been affected as much as any of them.

Many new classes are being offered this year; therefore, the library must supply reference books for these classes. The task has not been small.

Most of the librarian's assistants are new students who, as yet, are not entirely familiar with the library system. We can help these people by being thoughtful.

Reserve books taken from the desks should always be replaced there, and not left on tables in the reading room or in the hall. You are responsible for these books. If you want to give them to other people when you have finished them, go to the desk and let the librarian make the transfer official.

Keeping books overtime is also a habit thoughtlessly acquired. The demand for books is very great. When you keep them overtime you are depriving other students who may need them. The fines for overdue books are not for the library's profit. The librarian would rather have the book than your money.

The new library hours are from 8 to 5 o'clock daily, and it is open at night from 6:45 to 9:30 Monday through Friday. The library is closed all day on Sundays.

legro." Wendt, who plays with the West Wood Supper Club orchestra, is of Richmond.

Conrad Wash, James Luke and Bert Damron, played next, Bach's composition, "Sicilland." Wash, while with an army band in the Pacific, made an appearance with Kay Kyser. He and Luke are of Richmond, while Damron's home is in Fredricksburg.

Miss Nancy Colvig, a senior, of Clarisville, Ohio, for her solo, sang "Alleluia," by Mozart.

A former student of Interport College, at Bristol, Miss Lillian Baber sang for her selection, Curran's "Nocturne."

Vitali's "Ciaccona," a violin solo, was played next by Miss Ernestine Briesmeister.

Following, was Miss Virginia Taylor Stephenson, of Garysburg, North Carolina, who sang the "Aria di Polissena," by Handel.

Mason's "Whipporwill," and "Etude in C flat minor," by Scriabine, were the two selections played next by Beverley Cooke. Beverley, a native of Richmond, while in service played the piano with the British Broadcasting Company.

The following number, a woodwind duet entitled "Coronete," was rendered by Conrad Wash and James Luke.

The closing selection, played by Bernard Kastin, pianist, was Chopin's "Scherzo in B flat minor." Bernard, a veteran and a sophomore, is from Brooklyn, New York.

R.I.C. GROUP STUDIES VA SOCIAL PROBLEMS

Four speakers led the panel discussion of "Planning for Social Change" at the first seminar class of the Richmond Intercollegiate Council in Hawthorn Hall, Virginia Union University, Monday night, October 21.

The Richmond Intercollegiate Council is a bi-racial group of college instructors and students who meet twice monthly to discuss social problems, with special emphasis on those problems affecting Richmond and Virginia.

"The President Speaks"

BY MARY BYRD

As president of the International Relations club, I speak for the entire club when I say, "A hearty welcome to you our new member." The club is pleased with the response received from those of the students who have been solicited—as prospective members. It is our desire that this interest will continue throughout the year thus making this the most profitable year of our club yet to be recorded in its history.

One of the chief topics of conversation, both in the classroom and on the campus, is centered around international affairs. The I. R. C. is the organization in which you can share your ideas concerning these points of interest. We meet for the purpose of informing ourselves on current problems, both at home and abroad, with the hope of acquiring a deeper understanding of these problems.

Dr. Howard Davis is our advisor and the meetings are held monthly. It has been the policy of the club to have guest speakers at the regular meetings, however it has been suggested that our programs take the form of debates and round table discussions with an occasional speaker to stimulate our thinking.

Our first meeting of this year is scheduled for November 7, at 8 o'clock in the rear library. Please watch the Proscript and the bulletin board for the announcement of the speaker and his topic.

We The Men-

BY CHUCK WOOD

It has been very interesting to me to note the changes at RPI, which the enrollment of men has effected during the three years I have been here at school.

When I came here in 1944, I had just gotten out of the army, and had been accustomed to being surrounded by men. When I arrived at RPI, the situation was naturally reversed. There were exactly seven boys.

This year, however, the picture has completely changed. The sound of men's voices mixed with the laughter of the girls rings through the corridors of RPI, and there seems to be a happier, healthier atmosphere about the college. I think this is due, not only to the fact, that school has become coed, but also to the end of the war and the return of more normal conditions to the homefront.

The Proscript also regrets an error in the last issue in which Mr. William C. Shaefer was referred to as an assistant professor. Mr. Shaefer is an associate professor in the Business department.

standard which the teacher expects from the particular class over a period of years.
2. "Students in a course should be divided into five classes according to the quality of their work.

"Students who do the finest work which is distinctly superior and outstanding should be given the grade of A.

"Students who do good work which is more than satisfactory and distinctly superior to the average but not so outstanding as A, should be given the grade of B.

"Students who do satisfactory work but not outstanding work, i. e. students who do fair and average work, no more and no less than is satisfactory, customary or usual for most students, should be given the grade of C.

"Students who barely pass should be given the grade of D.

"Students who fail should be given the grade of F.

"Students absent from the final examination but who do all other work in their course should be given A.B.S.

"Students who do all the work in the course except a specified part of it which the teacher agrees may be deferred should be given INC.

"The grades A.B.S. and INC. automatically become F's at the end of the next semester if a make-up examination has not been taken or if postponed work has not been completed.

"The above grading system will apply to all students in all departments. This represents a substantial change as regards the School of Art. Heretofore students in this school have been required to obtain a grade of B or above in half their studio courses. Hereafter these students will be required to meet the same requirements as all other students changes to maintain an average of C.

"Heretofore the Art School has given the grade of B to most of the students who are doing satisfactory work. The grade of C was seldom used in the Art School. Under the new plan art students will be graded A, B, C and D and the distribution of these grades will probably be the same as in the case of other students."

THE R. P. EYE

Greetings, guys and gals! Your R. P. Eye has been Scouting the campus for the latest items of interest . . . Dan Cupid has really been keeping his bow humming lately. Pat Quisenberry and Melvin "Slim" Epperly promised to "love, honor, and obey" on September 28th . . . Joy McAllister, a former student, says that Phil is gaining weight on her cooking at their home in Tennessee . . . Come Christmas, Mariette Wallace and Charlie Irwin are to become "Mr. and Mrs." . . . Our Art Department reports that Elaine Winer and Lan Singer, local sports announcer were married on October 21, and also Lila Bloomberg will soon marry her Dr. Jack . . . Polly Nevers and Joe Hamlin are engaged and Joe is now studying in St. Louis . . . And we musn't forget to announce the engagement of Nancy Webber to Jack Patterson, Jr.

From the Dorms . . . It seems as if the Randolph-Macon boys are taking over the Moore House and that could be the reason for that gleam in Jean Riddle's eyes lately . . . Dick Gibbs is a regular bridge hand in the Meredith House these days. We wonder who it is now! . . . There are really gay times at the Hickok house and the R-P-Ites have been having barrels of fun. We hear Bunny's "Bill" supplied the girls at the Hickok with addresses of fellows at Little Creek—could this be a new branch of the Lonely Hearts Club? . . . Pat Wall, Anne's roommate, entertained Johnny Haycke from New York, formerly stationed at McGuire General Hospital.

The Pigskin season is opening with a bang! . . . Anne Jarvis went to Raleigh and saw the mighty Blue Devils defeated by State for the first time in 14 years . . . Mary Caligari and Alec took off and saw Navy defeat Villanova on September 28 . . . Rose Marie Morecock attended the Hampden-Sydney-Richmond game with her summer school companion George Cooper, a pre' med' at H-S.

Jeepy had a "Payne" in her tooth fixed one week-end in Danville, coincidentally her bill from U.N.C. visited there for the week-end Hannah Bromberg flew to New York City for a week-end to be with her OAO Allan Widder. To be sure a wonderful time was had, and did you see Hanna's beautiful birthday gift from Allan? Hm, hm . . . Speaking of trips, they are same hikes Ernestine and Jammy take from R.P.I. to the Boulevard every day.

More news . . . Carol Brace had a long distance call from her Jimmy, down Georgia way. He agreed with us that not all of those famed Peaches had stayed in Georgia for the winter.

Quincy Parrish had a grand time when Mother, sisters Sara and Mary Louise, and a friend drove here from Georgetown, South Carolina. Nothing like a family reunion to make one think of home, even more . . . Lewis Tucker is the lucky fellow with Hannah Bunch. Certainly do make a cute couple, and they don't yell when they are bridge partners either. Ah love! . . . Helen McNeill had stars in her eyes when she told us about that wonderful call from someone special in West Virginia. We'll bet that tingling never sounded so sweetly . . . Carolyn Owens' sister is a newcomer to the Broadway stage but very up-and-coming from the last reports. A new contract is in the making. Watch this column for new details . . . Ask Marilyn Birtles about that nice young man she met in the Art Museum. Ah, the wonderful assignments we get in some courses . . . Kay Buckley with Bill Bailey, and Lothaine Barloga with Ector make up the standard RP-I-Randolph-Macon foursome. Why, or why, must there be so many, many miles between . . .

See you around

Highlights and bylines.

It looked very good to see a crowd of spectators witnessing the hockey game Wednesday afternoon. Martha Winston and Mary Kathy Munce were all over the field offensively for our gals, while Kathy Tarter played a sensational defensive game. Although held to a tie, Miss Frances Chapman, head coach, was pleased by the splendid showing R. P. I. gave.

Taking into consideration that the femmes were tangling with some of the best hockey material in the state, they didn't do bad. Watch them travel to Farmville, the 28th of October; Westhampton, the 31st; the Norfolk Division (here) November 1st; William and Mary college (away) the 4th; and then to Sweetbrier, the 8th and 9th to participate in the Virginia Field Hockey Tournament. They'll give a good account of themselves.

Which way'd he go, Joe? The Men's Athletic Association, after getting intramural basketball off to a good start, are now in the process of electing officers to represent the A. A. The persons have been chosen by the temporary council to run for the offices. Rod McKenzie, John Munce, Stuart Smith, Herbie Weisiger, Bob Hall, Ralph Roe, Richard Lacey, Dave Shobe, Bob Pulley, Marvin Culbreth, Clarke Willey, and Don McKenzie. Watch for the elections, as everyone will be asked to vote.

Good News.

The A. A. sprang a neat surprise Thursday, when Herbie McKenzie exorted Dick Wiltshire, Old Dominion cage star, around school. Wiltshire is a prospect as the men's athletic coach, but no definite plans have been made.

Sporting the Intramurals.

One more plea will be made for better player-attendance at the Intramural Basketball League games. Come on, gang, enter a team, if not, at least join one of the others. At present, the Wednesday night league leadership is being held by Team Five with two consecutives wins, while in the Monday league, teams One and Three are deadlocked with one win apiece.

Scanning the Shorts.

Gene Layne is a neat tumbler, as anyone witnessing Wednesday's hockey game will verify. That field was really slippery. Ann Tucker was injured on the field and had to be substituted for. However, she should be back in at left wing for the Farmville game. Best o' luck at Farmville, girls!

R.P.I. Ties Hockey Club

Led by the sparkling defensive play of Katherine Tarter, easily the outstanding player in the field, the R. P. I. hockey eleven tied a more-experienced Richmond Hockey Club team, 7-7, October 23 on the Old Fair Grounds Field.

The Clubites took an early 1-0 lead as Scot Johnson, veteran at center forward, broke through the locals defense to tally the first goal. With the ball in R. P. I.'s territory most of the first half, Jane McDorman, left wing, tallied another counter for the Club to give them a commanding lead. This lead, however, was short-lived, as Mary Munce, who continually broke through for long gains, drove the ball past the goalie to register the R. P. I.'s first score of the game. This left the halftime score at 2-1, R. H. C.

Coming back with renewed vigor, the local femmes kept the ball in opposing territory the majority of the time and four minutes before game time, Capt. Clem Allen, aided by some neat passing, scored the tying marker.

Throughout the game, Martha Winston, Munce and Allen time after time threatened the Hockey Club's goal, but could not push over the winning marker. Linda Lamberdy, opposing goalie, played a grand defensive game, staying off several R. P. I. attempts to score. Gene Layne and Connie Hatke played well defensively for the locals.

Section C Downs A In Thrilling Game

Led by Captain Alma Martin, Section C of the Physical Education freshmen classes defeated Section A by the score of 36-34 in a close volleyball game featuring hard play by both squads.

Section C, looked well on the way to a lopsided victory during the first half in which they hung up a 26-16 lead. Sparked by Co-Captains Freda Horton and Helen Norris, Section A pulled to a second half tie and nearly a victory, when Martin pushed over two quick tallies for the winners to put the game on ice.

The teams lined up with Capt. Martin, Gloria Chawey, Phyllis Taylor, Twila Nelson, Theresa Pintado, Lindsey McCallister, Helen House and Mary Barnes comprising the winners. Making up the losing squad were Co-captains Horton and Norris,

Recreational Leadership

In the future, there will be some outside talks in the class of Recreational Leadership as announced by Mrs. Lois Washer.

Mrs. Washer will give a talk on Monday, October 28th, at 4 o'clock at the John Marshall High School. She will speak on boy-girl relations and following will be a question and discussion period.

On Friday, November 8, at 11 A. M., there will be a meeting of the Richmond Council of Church Women. "What Church Women Can Do To Further Recreation" will be the topic for discussion.

Some fifty members of the Mass Recreational class will put on a party Wednesday, November 20, at McGuire's Hospital for two hundred veterans. The theme will be based around idea of college and football. Miss Barbara Taylor, a graduate of Social Work will be the master of ceremonies and act as chairman.

The veterans will be divided into football teams and a wheel-chair race is also being planned. Prizes will be given to the winners. More activities will be arranged for this party later.

World Organization Urged by Prentice

Speaking before several groups of interested students, Colgate Prentice, a Swarthmore college student, proposed that the UNO be made into an authority with a real power and that a world federation be established.

Prentice, who lives in Williamsburg, is the third president of a national organization called the Student Federalists, which was formed four years ago in Scarsdale High School by Harris Wofford, now a University of Chicago student. The group has 3800 members and 90 chapters representing the United States, England, Switzerland and France. Student Federalists is not yet a political organization. Its aims are to educate students, train leaders and support proposers of the world government plan.

Prentice vehemently declared that he refused to act under the assumption that war is inevitable and human nature will never change. "Our plan is not a cure-all, but I sincerely believe it promises more security than any other. This is the only way to prevent another war."

R. P. I. student advocates of the plan who desire to form a chapter can organize through the International Relations Club. Literature may be obtained from the Student Federalists' New York office, 31 E. 74th street, New York City.

Our People

By Proscript Staffwriter

Charles Phillips, a six-foot, four-inch, 195-pound all-around athlete comes to R. P. I. this year, following three years as a line officer in the U. S. Navy.

"Charlie, who is 22, and lives at 405 Henrico Road, started his athletic career at Thomas Jefferson High School, where he played end for the Jeff varsity football eleven. His main contribution to the West End school was in track however, where he ran the 440 and the high and low hurdles. He captained the thin-clads in his senior year.

He graduated from T. J. in 1943 and entered Tufts College in Boston to continue his education and his athletic career. He played end for the Tufts eleven, and also repeated in track by running the quarter-mile and hurdles.

His experience with men, and also his experiences at T. J. and Tufts has done a lot to help the men at R. P. I. develop athletics. He played a major role in organizing the Athletic Association, which promises to put the backbone into men's athletics at our school.

"The main thing that I like about this school is the girls, but I would like to see more sports for boys such as football, track and tennis," Charlie said.

R. P. I. is indeed lucky to have men like Charlie around, and so to an outstanding athlete and a swell fellow, we say, welcome."

Intramural Volleyball

In the opener of the girls' physical classes' intramural volleyball league, the Panthers defeated the Indians, 36-31, October 16 in the college gym.

Captain Ruby Wallgren's Panthers jumped to a 22-10 halftime lead, and were never headed. However, the Indians staged a last-ditch fight in the second half to make it a close game, the decision being in doubt until the final whistle.

The teams lined up with Phillips Ann Berger, Captain Wallgren, Jean Jones, Martha Henderson, Barbara Hobson, and Caroline Hokshead comprising the winners. Included in the Tribes' squad were Captain Martha Winston, Jene Stanberry, Doris Layne, Mary Jo Reynolds, Mary Ellen Walthall, Hilda Hester, and Joan Baggett.

Community Chest Nears $657 Goal

"As of Saturday, October 26, we had only $7.55 to go before the Richmond Professional Institute reached its goal of $657.00 in the Community Chest drive," Mrs. Lois Washer announced. The drive ended the past Monday.
