Advertising Campaign Planned

Student Support Needed—Neely

The soliciting and planning of advertisements for the Proscript this year, will be done by majors in the Advertising Department of the School of Business Administration, according to Mrs. Dorothy Neely. Mrs. Neely is the faculty advisor to the advertising and management departments of the Proscript. Students working in allied fields, have been invited to support this staff in their work.

The Proscript plans a possible increase in size this year, if more advertising can be obtained. This increase in the size of the paper from four to six pages will enable the Proscript staff to add more editorials and items of news interest. "The increase will depend upon the aid of you, the student body, to the extent that you patronize and advertise our supporting advertisers," said Mrs. Neely.

O.T. Department Adds 24 Students

Twenty-four new students have been enrolled in the Occupational Therapy department, Miss Helen Freas, acting director of O. T., has reported.

There were eleven new students enrolled for the school year 1947 - 1948. The total number of students in the department for the year 1948-49 as compared with a total of nineteen for the year 1947.

Miss Freas also said that this year, for the first time, O. T. students are getting clinical training under Margaret Bayne at The Crippled Children's Hospital and Margery Peple at Pine Camp Hospital in Richmond. Both of these training directors are R. P. I. graduates.

Four graduates, Grace Emanuel, Marjorie Gichner, Marjorie Davie, and Elizabeth Pratt are at R.P.I. this year taking degrees in Psychology.

Plans are being made by the members of the department for a picnic to be held at Bryan Park on Oct. 16.

New Mag. Hits Stands November 1st

James E. Conner, editor of the new monthly magazine which will begin publication on Nov. 1, has announced that manuscripts are now being accepted for editorial consideration.

Succeeding from the "Journal," which has been published quarterly here for the last two years, this completely new magazine is projected as a monthly. A new name and an entirely revised format will be featured this year, Mr. Conner said.

William Jordan, president of the Literary Club has announced an important meeting of the club and its prospective members today at 2:00 in Ad. 5.

IT'S A YOLK, SON—Students at RPI were busy in off-time with "Rat Week" activities. Under one order, Peggy Clements and Kenny Kendrick had to play a game of catch—using an egg—until the egg broke. Judge Carl Bandoian, chairman of Rat Week, supervises the event.

R.P.I. SCORES AGAIN WITH NEW COURSES

A new course in Commercial Teacher Training has been approved by the School of Business Administration. It is now possible for R.P.I. students to become certified teachers of business and commercial subjects.

The trend toward higher salaries for business and commercial teachers makes this an attractive program for those who possess the personal qualities and abilities necessary for success in the course. Leading to a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration, it prepares students for two avenues of employment: one in business and industry and the other in commercial teaching.

Junior Class Meets Today In Church

Carl Bandoian, President of the Junior Class, has announced that there will be a meeting of the Junior Class tomorrow, from 12:15 until 1 p. m., at the Grove Avenue Baptist church.

Bandoian said that the purpose of the meeting will be to elect a class treasurer and a Women's Athletic Association representative.

In addition, a class basketball team will be formed and a discussion of dues and class functions for the year will be held at this time.

HELLO OUT THERE TO BE PRESENTED

The Theatre Associates will present William Saroyan's one act play, "Hello Out There," at two performances, 7:30 and 8:00 tomorrow night at the Studio Theatre. Admission to these performances is free.

This is one of the weekly student-produced one act plays, planned to give majors in the Drama department experience in production. Meg W. Connor will direct the show this week.

Following the second performance there will be a brief meeting of Theatre Associates. Mrs. Connor, president, has announced. Plans will be made for the coming season.

Building Addition Nears Completion

An end to the dust clouds that have been obscuring the hallways of RPI is in sight.

Mr. C. B. Andrews, superintendent, speaking for the J. Kennon Perrin Company, contractors, said today that the new stairway in the south side of the Administration building has been completed as far as the third floor.

The workmen have finished tearing out the walls and the construction is nearing completion. The remaining work to be done is the tearing out of the roof. Mr. Andrews said, "The brick work has to be run all the way through and a new roof will be put on." He also stated that he expects to have the stairway section torn out through the roof by next week. "By then, he said, "The worst will be over."

Miss Bess McClung, an RPI nurse, when interviewed about the dust as a possible cause of colds stated, "The average cold is an infectious condition. I would hardly think that the dust would be a large contributive factor to the usual cold. However," she said, "Allergies and minor irritations of the eyes and the nasal passages could possibly be caused by the dust, but usually dust irritations are caused by the common household variety and not such as you would find in building construction."

So take heart ye with watery eyes and earth shaking sneezes, the worst is past.

O'TOOL NEW HEAD OF THERAPY CLUB

RPI, Oct. 7—John O'Tool was elected president of the Physical Therapy society today. Other new officers are Nelson H. The meetings for this year will be held the first and third Tuesday of every month at 7:30 p. m. The next meeting will be Oct. 19. All physical therapy majors are invited to attend, Coryea said.

G. C. CHARTERED

RPI, Oct. 7—A temporary charter was adopted by the newly formed German Club at its first official meeting today, according to Charles H. Oliver, reporter for the club. The charter will be posted on the hall bulletin board for the attention of all male students. At the meeting tomorrow, the necessary alterations and suggestions will be incorporated into this charter.

The German Club is sponsoring a membership drive this week and those men paying their dues before the next meeting will go on the records as charter members. The dues may be paid in full or in part, Oliver stated.

The German Club is one of the newest organizations at RPI and it has a purpose that is of interest to every student. It was formed to bring name bands to the school and their plans call for action in the near future. The club is made up entirely of men and any male student is eligible to join.

The officers elected for the coming year include: "Bit" Griffin, President; Bill Sadler, Vice-President; Bernard Shutte, Secretary-Treasurer; and "Mutt" Easton as Business Manager.

Progress

Two little girls were comparing notes on their progress in learning the catechism. One said, "I'm down to the original sin already." "That's nothing," replied the other, "I'm already past redemption."

Overflow Crowds Cause Hurried Shift To Mosque

RPI, Oct. 10—An informal dance and celebration Saturday night brought to a close the seven-day reign of the "high and mighty wearers of the green and gold" who enforced Rat Week from Monday, October 4 to Saturday, October 9.

The dance, sponsored by the Junior Class, was the climax of the gala week for all Freshman Rats, who knew it meant the end of rat signs and paper bags, among other things. The dance was held at The Mosque for all RPI students with the big brother and sister teams having their Rat charges as guest.

MANY RATS TRIED

More than a hundred Rats appeared before each session of the Rat Court that was held Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 1 p. m., at the Shafer street entrance to the Administration building.

This event had originally been scheduled for the gymnasium; however, when it was discovered that the expected crowd would be too large for the gym William G. Sewell, Jr., President of the Student Government Association, and Carl Bandoian, President of the Junior Class, realized that larger accommodations must be found.

After a hurried conference between the two presidents and Dr. Margaret L. Johnson, Women's Advisor, it was decided to move the dance to the Mosque. To facilitate the change the event was combined with the dance which is traditionally sponsored each year by the Student Government Association.

Bill Sewell of the Student Government Association, said everybody accepted Rat Week in good spirit even though there was a large number of violators. The guilty offenders were ordered punished by the judge of the Rat Court, Carl Bandoian, president of the Junior Class.

The rules that the Freshmen were required to follow were: wearing of RPI skull cap or a pair of gloves, carrying of textbooks in a large paper bag or pillow case and wearing of signs which stated that the Freshmen were Rats at RPI. The signs also carried their names, addresses, telephone numbers and a self-drawn picture of themselves. The rules were enforced only in the restricted zone—Shafer street between Park avenue and Franklin street.

Some of the sentences handed out by Judge Bandoian were the performing of various stunts and the reading of the Rat's Confession.

Following is the Rat's Confession, which was declaimed by offenders in a loud voice.

"Oh, most high and mighty wearers of the green and gold, I kneel and humbly beseech thy clemency for I am but a miserable worm and the skum of the earth! I worship you, respect you, and will always remember your kindness to such a sorry rat as I: I thank you!"

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

Oct. 13—Junior class meeting, 12:15.

Oct. 14—Basketball team meeting, 1:00. Theatre Associates play, 7:30 and 8:00.

UMT--The Rampart

In these days of atom bombs and whisperings . . . however loud . . . of an atomic war, many people think that foot soldiers, the men of the line, are obsolete. However, most military men have observed that to occupy and hold a country is still a necessary function of war . . . a most necessary function.

To train men to occupy and hold these countries is, therefore, the first concern of the armed forces.

Naturally, we all hope and pray that the world will remain at peace. But there is always the inevitable horror and fear that a war will break out suddenly.

A reserve force of trained men is constantly necessary. At present, the only way to have this force ready is through Universal Military Training.

This program is a good one for two reasons. It not only keeps a constant source of trained personnel on hand, but it also gives the men a chance to have a year's respite between high school and college. During that year, many things happen to the average high school graduate. His views on life change; his mentality grows by leaps and bounds to that of a mature person; he forms definite ideas as to what he would like to do when he is graduated from college.

Through this change in the make-up of the men coming under UMT, the college Freshmen can enter school knowing what they wish to study and not waste time "looking around." A year in the Army makes a man of a boy; it makes a businessman of a loafer; it makes A DETERMINED MAN.

Action For International Understanding

In the last issue of the 1947-'48 Proscript, the staff under the editorship of Carl Shires, published a two column invitation to the students of a French college to correspond with American collegians at RPI. The columns, designed to further understanding between the two nations, were compiled from back editions of the Proscript, and after condensation were translated into French by Dr. Margaret L. Johnson and M. Maurice Brot, the latter a former instructor of French here.

The French students' approval of this attempt is evidenced in their letter which appears below. It speaks for itself. If such a project could be carried out on a large scale, could not better international cooperation be achieved? Ignorance is the cause of prejudice. Knowledge of the attitudes of those of other nations clears the way for understanding of more important issues.

The French have given us a new idea in their creation of a France-United States Association. Could such an organization be started at RPI "to favor mutual understanding?"—F. S.

Mr. Carl Shires

Managing Editor,

The Proscript,

Dear Sir:

We thank you sincerely for sending us an example of your Institute's newspaper and more particularly for the article, "To Our Friends of France."

We know now that the activities of the American students are varied and very interesting. Your paper demonstrated this to us concretely.

We agree with you that we can hope to enjoy the peace and security which all people ask in their prayers. If every individual in every nation could only come to know and understand each other better! It is for this purpose now that many Frenchmen, particularly the young people have founded the France-United States Association, the motto and program of which you perhaps know:

"To favor mutual understanding between the two peoples. To develop their

Letters To Editor

To the Editor:

I was disturbed by the implications of your editorial on Count Bernadotte's assassination. While I do not for a moment condone the deed, I hardly think Bernadotte was the lily-white martyr you painted him. It is quite obvious that his policy was consistently one of appeasement to the Arab effendis and British imperialists. Besides, he was warned repeatedly by the Stern Gang and the Israeli government. He chose to ignore these warnings and deliberately went to a spot where he knew the terrorists were waiting for him.

The Sternists' and Irgunists are indeed threats to peace in Israel, but they are in no way connected with Russia, except in the distorted minds of imaginative warmongers. The Revisionist Party, with which they are affiliated, is capitalistic, the bitter enemy of the Labor Zionists, who are in control of the Israeli government. The latter are Socialists.

Very truly yours,
Iris Kritzik.

Dorm Open House Planned

The women's dormitories will have open house for the male students of R.P.I. from 8:30 to 11:00 p. m., Wednesday, Oct. 27th. Dancing and refreshments will be the order of the day.

According to Miss June Grosner, house president of Founders' Hall, 327 West Franklin street, this is believed to be the first such event in the history of R.P.I.

SUMMER DREAM

Lazy patterns of breeze stirred shadows, on summers warm sands—
Sleepy lullaby of sparkling sun strewn, flowing ribbon of motion—
Dreaming youth - soaring thoughts—
colored worlds of fantasy—
Touching shores of unseen lands—
vivid and bright in imagery—
Swaying tuft-crowned pines—brushing cotton shadows from the warm sun's path.

LIBRARY RULES ANNOUNCED

Library rules for 1948-'49 have been announced by Miss Rosamund McCannless, R.P.I. librarian. Hours during which the library will be open are: Monday through Friday: 7:30 to 5:00 and 6:30 p. m. to 9:30; Saturday: 7:45 a. m. to 5:00.

The library will not be open on Saturday night or Sunday. Miss McCannless emphasized that there are three types of reserve books: green-carded overnight books may be removed at 3:45 p. m. and are to be returned before 9:00 a. m. the following day. On Saturday, these books may be taken at 11:00 a. m. and are due Monday before 9:00. Yellow-card three-day books are due before noon of the third day. Non-circulating books are not to be taken from the library. They are marked with pink cards.

Fines for overdue books are: 10c per day for 3-day books; 50c a night for overnight books plus 5c per hour for every hour after 9:00 a. m.; 5c per day on two-week books.

Current and bound periodicals may not be taken from the library. It is considered a serious offense at R.P.I. to remove books from the library without signing the cards. No final grades or credits are given until a student has returned all books and paid due fines.

Drama Review

THE TEASER BATTEN

By FRESNEL LIKO

Last night Euripedes sat bolt upright in his sarcophagus and looked wild-eyed into the performance of Medea by Theater Associates. We saw it twice, the first and the last of the three performances, and found the final one much the better. Laurels for the evening are not concentrated in any individual but rather in portions of their performances.

Anne Hudson, playing the nurse, certainly merits the wreath for a fine portrayal. Her tone was effective, facial expressions rather flat, motion on stage convincing. Her effective gestures were confined to those in which her hands were on her hair, which was most of the time. The opening speech was hers, and was difficult, but was comparatively well done.

The most convincing voice on the stage was that of one of the chorus who had one line in the play—"She makes old men young again." A pat and a box of bonbons to her.

Medea, was played in the last performance of the evening by Joan Wallerstein. The first time we saw it last night, it was played by a strange combination of Kay Hepburn, Judy Anderson (a caricature) and Pauline (Perils Of.) The other performance was done by Joan with a little of Judy and was much more effective. Bonbons to her for the pantomime while the nurse was recounting the fire-death of Creon and his daughter.

The chorus' stylized entrance didn't connect. Such things must be coordinated a la Rockettes or left out. It would have been more effective if they had simply walked on in order.

To demand too much from a group which attempts such a play as Medea on one week of rehearsal is to be brutal. But small changes can often take care of big troubles. Big gestures need big stages. They, as Mr. Hodges commented, are apt to look hammed on a small stage. They are guaranteed to look hammed on a small stage. So are extreme body-angles on reaction, Joan.

A word about the set, Bob Watkins may take a bow. Good job. As he approaches the foot, he might improve the stage a little by tripping over the second depth scrim—that white cheese-cloth screen—the long one. It blocked the nets, and the depth to the green cyclorama.

From a voice standpoint, diction was poor in nearly everyone. Too many words were mumbled or thrown away. The nurse's line as she leaves for the palace "our only hope," is a case in point. No, we didn't know it either until we read the play again. As important as diction is inflection. It was apparent that all, particularly Medea, were depending on volume for emphasis rather than strength, force, inflection. Hatred is more effectively spat in a whisper than poured in a screech. The yell hurts the ears. The hoarse-whispered snarl shudders the soul.

The timing of dialogue and music-mood was a welcome and very effective touch.

James Enderly played Jason, one of the flats. A rich voice with good tone which was too tired to stir out of its chaise longue.

From a cutting point of view, there are some points which need patching. Many of the speeches are too long and are repetitious. These should be cut to the bone and the time given to lengthening the period allotted to the delivery of the gifts to Creon's daughter, her death, and the return of the Nurse with the report. She didn't even have time to go to the drug store for a coke last night. The guardian and the messenger were well dispensed with, as was Creon. But the presence of Aegeus would have more completely justified Medea's confidence in her own safety after the murders. In the uncut version, it

The President Speaks

By WILLIAM G. SEWELL

In answer to the editorial appearing in the paper Oct. 6 entitled "Traffic System Needed in Halls," I would like to defend the Student Government Association by saying, "we know it exists and the condition will be remedied just as soon as construction is completed on the new addition at the rear of the Administration building. The students are asked, until such time as measures may be taken, to eliminate the congestion . . . to refrain from stopping, loitering, or holding informal get-togethers in the front hall of the Administration building.

"Where Are the Sophomores?" let us add to this, "where is the attendance at all meetings?" If you students are not interested in having clubs or organizations, or will not support them, they can easily be disbanded. I attended six meetings last week and out of the six, five did not have enough attendance to legally carry on business. We are not asking for school spirit this year—that is an old cry. Our cry this year is throw out the dead wood, both members and organizations. If you want the organizations, you must support them.

The Junior Class under the leadership of Carl Bandoian, is to be congratulated for Rat Week. There have been a great many compliments passed to you Juniors. Keep up the good work!

Fine Art Group Welcome Members

RPI Oct. 7—The Fine Arts Group met today to welcome new Fine Arts students and Crafts majors.

The purpose of the club is to further interest in Fine Arts throughout RPI.

Raiford Porter, president of the club, explained that later on in the year art exhibits, usually from the Virginia Museum, would be shown. As in the past, Porter said, a student auction will be held in either December or Spring when the work of students will be on display and auctioned off.

It was decided that meetings in the future would be held on Tuesday.

Miss Theresa Pollak, faculty sponsor, was at the meeting.

O. T. DIRECTOR CONSULTANT HERE

Miss H. Elizabeth Messick, who has been appointed director of the Occupational Therapy department at R.P.I., will act as consultant here this year while she continues work in the Surgeon General's Office in Washington. Next September, she will take full charge here.

Miss Messick came here in September and met the O.T. students. She told what O.T. is doing in the Army.

Miss Freas Now First Lieutenant

Miss Helen Freas, Acting director of the Occupational Therapy Department at R.P.I., has recently been commissioned a First Lieutenant in the Officers Reserve Corps, Army of the United States. She is in the Women's Medical Corps, which has just been formed.

is this factor which is the turning point in her decisive action.

We're sorry, Euripedes. You may lie down now. And here's a band-aid for the bump on your head.

M.A.A. ADOPTS NEW ATHLETIC RULES

Devil's Corner

By WINSTON OVERTON

The girls hockey team opened their season at Salem, Virginia on October 9th against Roanoke College. The locals dropped a 1-0 decision to the Roanokers.

For a new sport at RPI the Green Devil Soccer team got off to a good start by losing a close game to the High Point College Panthers of High Point, North Carolina 3-0. Two penalty kicks and a field goal were all the Panthers could score against a stubborn and game Green Devil eleven.

From this corner it looks as if Coach Robert Reese of The Richmond Professional Institute is trying to give the newly organized RPI basketballers some first hand experience in the way he is making out the basketball schedule for the 1948-49 season.

On November 17, the Green Devils will play host to the Richmond Royals, an Independent ball club, in an exhibition game on the Central "Y" hardwood. The Royals will use such players as Freddy Gnat former University of Richmond Captain, All State player for four years and All American and All Southern in '46, Whit Crowell, captain of the Royals, star for four years at Randolph-Macon and such All State and All American stars as Billy Hallmark and Roland Bodtke from Randolph-Macon and Al Marandino also an alumnus of Randolph-Macon. Also on the roster is Garfield Salves from William and Mary and John Marshall High here in Richmond, Va.

The 26th of February will find the Green Devil's varsity playing the U. S. Amphibious "5" Champions of the Atlantic Fleet. The game will take place in the evening at the Gray's Armory on 7th and Marshall Streets here in Richmond.

Well heres the best of luck to the Baby Green Devils basketball team as they take on the Freshman team from William and Mary College in Williamsburg, Va. The game will take place on the evening of February 11th 1949 at the Gray's Armory. In a feature game that evening the Baby Green Devil's bigger brothers will take on Shenandoah College of Harrisonburg, Virginia.

Eight Teams Form Volley Ball League

R.P.I., Oct. 13. — The Volley Ball intra-mural games will begin in two or three weeks, according to Miss Chapman. The teams to represent each house and the day hops are now being chosen. The winner becomes the possessor of the beautiful plaque awarded for this activity.

Competing for the award this year will be the teams from the seven houses and one from the day hops. The play-offs, arranged on a Round-Robin basis will take about a month to complete.

Letters To Be Awarded Starting This Year, Twelve Rules Approved

RPI, October 13—A list of athletic participation rules was drawn and passed by the Men's Athletic Association the past semester. These rules went into effect in Sept. 1948, after the first MAA meeting.

A vote was also taken as whether to award letters to athletes for last years sports. Members voted against this and letters will be awarded for sports beginning this semester.

Soccer Young? Definitely Not!

R.P.I. October 13.—As High Point and the Green Devils lined-up for the whistle that would start their soccer game last Friday, a new chapter was being added to R.P.I. history.

The Devils under the tutoring of Mr. Loeb and R. W. Reese were christening a sport, entirely new to local followers. Although comparatively new to numerous Americans, the game of soccer dates back to the early stages of the nineteenth century.

Soccer is the original, undiluted form of football, and has become so internationally adopted that the statement is made: "The sun never sets on the game of soccer."

It was known merely as football in England until the latter part of the century when Rugby College started kicking the ball around and came up with a game of their own. This variation of soccer was very similar to what we refer to as football.

Authorities believe it will be only a matter of time before football will replace soccer as Europe's national game. Native Europeans are doubtful of this. Amazingly, support for this game dwarfs the multitudes that witness our classic football duels. At Hampden Park, Glasgow, Scotland in 1937, 149,547 people passed through the turn-stiles to watch England bump heads with Scotland. In 1944, 93,000 stood by as Scotland took a drubbing from England at Wembley Stadium.

For the man who plays soccer professionally however, the salary he would receive could not be compared to that of an American football or baseball player. The average salary for the Soccer participant would be around 75 or 100 dollars.

Tickets On Sale For Men's Sports

R.P.I. October 13—Season tickets for all varsity games may be purchased from members of the Men's Athletic Association according to Mr. J. W. Ziegler, faculty advisor. The tickets sell for $3.00 each.

Mr. Ziegler went on to explain that the tickets admit the holder free of charge to any basketball or baseball game and to any dance or social affair sponsored by the Association.

Junk man: Any beer bottles for sale, lady?
Old maid (disdainfully): Do I look as if I drink beer?
Junk man: Any vinegar bottles to sell, lady?

—U. S. Coast Guard Magazine.

Mr. Krepick stated that the Faculty Athletic Committee will assist the MAA through the athletic director or coach for purchasing letters, trophies, or equipment needed.

A committee along with the MAA officers was selected by the President, Jack Birkhead to draw up a constitution for the club.

The rules adopted for sports are:

1. No member of any team may be absent from any scheduled games unless absence is due to illness or family emergency. Penalty for violating — suspension from team.
2. All team members will be responsible for knowing when games are scheduled provided member has been notified by manager or coach. Any absences for this reason will be treated as a violation of Rule No. 1.
3. Any team member displaying poor sportsmanship, using intoxicating beverages during season, using tobacco during practices or games for smoking in any form, or the use of profanity at any time will be suspended from the team.
4. The scheduling of games is a college responsibility and will be arranged by the Faculty Committee and Athletic Director only.
5. No persons will be allowed to sit on players bench except team members, coaches and manager.
6. All team members will be expected to follow the recognized training rules conscientiously during the current season.
7. All team members are urged to take out an accident insurance policy prior to participation in any sport.
8. Athletic Association dues.

Hockey Squad Handed First Loss At Salem

The RPI girls' hockey team opened their season with a 1-0 defeat from the Roanoke College at Salem, Va., the past Friday.

Miss Chapman, coach, said that the game was slow and many fouls were committed by both teams. It was also the first game for three members of the RPI team.

The locals meet the John Marshall High School girls today in a practice game at Hotchkiss field. On Friday they take on Bridgewater at 4 p. m. at Parker Field in Richmond.

THE MEANING

The teacher was trying to explain the meaning of certain words to her class. She came to "sufficient."

"Now," she said, brightly, "suppose there was a cat here and I gave it a saucerful of milk, which it drank. Then I gave it another saucerful, and it drank it all. But when I gave it a third it would only drink half of it. We can then say that the cat had sufficient. Now, Tommy, what is the meaning of sufficient?"

"Please, teacher," said Tommy, eagerly, "a catful of milk."
