Elections for Student Government Association officers will take place tomorrow, Friday, and Saturday, according to William G. Sewell, president of the SGA. Mr. Sewell said that the SGA is handling the elections, ballot boxes, counting of ballots.

The Young Independent Voters' club is scheduled to have ballot boxes placed in the Science and Music buildings and in the SGA office. Voting hours are between 9 and 3 o'clock.

Mr. Sewell also said that students are to sign the ballots so that a thorough check can be made to see that there is no "stuffing" of the ballot boxes.

The ballots will be printed alphabetically by office. That is, there will be no party line-ups.

Mr. Sewell stressed that "there will be no campaigning by anyone within 50 feet of any ballot box."

Those who are up for office are: president, Carl Bandoian, Collegiate party, George Bowles, All-Campus party, and Clyde Harrison, vice president; Jane Brooks, All-Campus, and Robin Simons, Collegiate; treasurer: William R. Johnson, All-Campus, and Ryland Rash, Collegiate; secretary: Terry Langstaff, All-Campus, and Catherine Marlowe, Collegiate. Harrison is running independently.

Sidewalk To Appear Late

RPI, Feb. 16—James E. Conner, editor of the Sidewalk has announced that due to a new printing process this magazine will be a little late in coming out.

Mr. Conner stated that the new method, the photo-offset method, will enable the magazine to use photographs, as many line drawings as they wish and also to do better makeup.

This new method offers more opportunity for contributions from the student body. Mostly needed, Mr. Conner said, would be drawings, cartoons, woodcuts, and interesting photographs.

Carnival Spirit Gala Ball Theme

RPI, Feb. 11—The Art Students League will present their Mardi Gras in the Mosque ballroom on Feb. 19 from 8:30 p. m. to 12. Norman Jackson, director of the league, announced today.

The Dance will be in the form of a costume ball, with everyone being required to wear a costume.

The main decorations for the affair, which were designed and executed by the decorations committee, will consist of carnival scenes, depicted by large painted hangings. Overhead balloons and streamers, which will be released sometime during the evening, will also be a part of the theme. Miss Jackson said that much time and effort have been devoted to this year's background in an effort to add a true carnival spirit to the ball.

Music will be furnished by Newton Thomas and "The Windsors."

Following the tradition, a king and queen of the Mardi Gras will be chosen by judges Hazel Mundy, Fashion department; Raymond Hodges, Drama department; and Robert Harrison, commercial art department. The judges will base their decision on the most original and outstanding costume. Their selection will be followed by a promenade of the costumed dancers, after which the king and queen will be crowned by Norma Jackson and Robert Watkins, the king and queen of last year.

Admission for members of the Art Students League and their escorts will be by membership

RPI ORCHESTRA TO GIVE CONCERT

Released by School of Music

During the past several years a large number of students and many faculty members have shown a genuine interest in the work of the RPI Orchestra. The first local concert of this season will be given at the Thomas Jefferson High School Auditorium on Monday evening, Feb. 28 at 8:30 o'clock.

This year the orchestra is made up of about 35 students from RPI, 25 of whom are from the Music Department and five from other divisions of the school. William and Mary provides about ten players under the leadership of Alan C. Stuart of their music department who plays viola in the orchestra himself. There are four players also from Mary Washington College who are included in the roster as well as two or three from the University of Richmond.

Public Schools Represented

In addition to all these college players, there are several from the public schools of the city. An interesting new personality for the orchestra is Thomas Wikstrom who will lead the second violin section and who is the head of the Public School Music Department in the School of Music. Mr. Wikstrom has had an interesting musical background having spent some time teaching and playing at the University of Stockholm and the Royal Academy of Music.

Miss Margaret Conrad, head of the Violin Department in the Music School, is concert mistress. The orchestra is under the direction of Mr. Volney Shepard, head of Music Department.

Tillery Work Featured

The program which is to be given will feature the work of a contemporary Virginia composer. Hubert Tillery, well-known pianist of Petersburg, will appear as soloist in his own concerto for piano and orchestra. Mr. Tillery appeared as soloist with the Norfolk Orchestra last season, and the concerto and his brilliant playing of it will be a distinct contribution to the concert.

The balance of the program is made up of the orchestral works of Von Weber, Schubert, and Mendelssohn.

Prior to the concert to be given at the Thomas Jefferson Auditorium, the orchestra will have

On Feb. 2, in an exclusive interview by the PROSCRIPT, Mr. Harrison announced his intention of running in the SGA race.

Platform Stated

Mr. Harrison released the following statement:

"Believing in a strong student government association at the Richmond Professional Institute and in the ability of the students to carry on their own activities with the cooperation of the administration, I hereby announce my candidacy and present to you as students the points of my platform."

1. The advocacy and establishment of an Alumni Association to meet the needs of the school and those people who have graduated before us.

2. The promotion of initiative among the students in the academic ventures as well as social.

3. The establishment of a scholarship or scholarships to enable deserving persons to come to R. P. I.

'FOLIO' ORDERS TO BE PLACED BY FEBRUARY 18

Feb. 11—Each copy of the March issue of "Folio", art magazine, must be ordered from Ralford Porter, circulation manager, by Feb. 18, the Folio Club announced today.

Berle Weinstein, a member of the Folio Club, commented that the name of the forthcoming issue, "Celadon," is derived from a light or apple green color associated with ancient Chinese glaze work. After France began to import Chinese porcelain of celadon hue, this name was also applied to the shepherd in early French pastoral drama since he wore a tunic of the same color.

MID-WINTERS WELL ATTENDED

A floor show presided over by Tyrone Morrow, drama major, highlighted the Friday night Mid-Winter dance held in the Mosque. As part of the program, Donald Cronan, Art major, entertained with songs and jokes accompanied by Robert "Lefty" McKown, music student, who later played several accordion selections.

Hunter Purdie's band supplied music for this informal dance.

The Saturday night dance was spotlighted by the orchestra of Art Mooney, who provided music for a fair crowd of both formally and informally dressed couples. Gray's Armory was decorated in the theme of Valentine's Day with red and white streamers festooned around the side walls and red hearts dotting the hall.

Many laughs were afforded the crowd by the Mooney combination as they played new and old songs. The dancers laughed at the clowning by members of the band and joined heartily in a "community-sing" of Mooney's newest piece, "Dooley-doo on an old Kazoo."

THE BALLOT BOX BECKONS

At last election days are here. For one of the three candidates for president of the Student Government Association the three days this week when students go to the ballot boxes will mark the most important achievement in his college career. The Proscript is not going to try to prophesy the result of the election. A three-corner race has us guessing.

However, we will venture one prophecy, and if it proves false, RPI is to be congratulated. Probably not more than two-thirds of the entire student body will take the trouble to go to the ballot boxes to cast a vote. Past elections have shown that college officers and policies are determined largely by a minority. The majority refrains from voting, but for the remainder of the term sits on the sidelines and gripes.

Each candidate in the race—Mr. Bandoian, Mr. Bowles, and Mr. Harrison—has put forth his best efforts to arouse interest within the student body. Posters, speeches, and personal appearances have been directed toward bringing out the vote. If the electorate is passive, it is not the fault of the candidates.

A precinct system will be partially established for the convenience of voters. This will eliminate the excuse that one box in the Ad. Building is too far from other centers of student activity to be used conveniently by everyone.

It costs nothing to vote, it takes only a minute and it guarantees the satisfaction that YOU had a voice in electing the next SGA president.

Exercise your privilege this week. Cast your ballot.
—F. S.

OUR DUTY AND PRIVILEGE

The Mid-Winter dance set proved a success at the last moment thanks to the concerted efforts of the Student Government Association, the Administrators' club, and many other students who went all-out Friday afternoon to sell a last minute flurry of tickets.

The question remains: Why weren't these tickets sold earlier in the semester? Why did the student body wait until the very last minute, until they were begged, to buy their tickets to the dances?

It was necessary to change many things about the dances: Saturday night was declared formal optionally, students were given time to pay for their tickets. Do the students of RPI want dances or not? It would seem that they don't. The Mid-Winters dances are traditionally one of the most-expected sets in a school year. At other colleges they are attended by the majority of the student body. Why not here?

True, there were some undesirable factors involved. For one thing, Gray's Armory is not the best place to hold a dance. But as a concert was scheduled for the Mosque, and as RPI has no place big enough to accommodate large crowds, it was a necessary evil. Those who attended had a good time.

More dances are scheduled for the coming months. If we take a lesson from the past set, we should all turn out in full force and cooperate with the sponsors. It is our duty and our privilege. And we'll have a good time.

COTILLION CLUB TO MEET FEB. 17

RPI, Feb. 16—The final plans for the Spring Cotillion Dance will be made tomorrow at 6:30 p. m., in the Rear Library. Hilda Meredith, secretary of the Cotillion Club has announced.

Any one interested in serving on the orchestra committee may see Miss Meredith at the meeting.

It has also been announced that any girl interested in joining the club may pay her $2.00 registration fee at the meeting. The informal initiation will be held after the meeting. All members are urged to attend.

'Romeo And Juliet' Will Begin Feb. 24

Theatre Associates Release

When the curtain rises in the Gymnasium Playhouse a week from tomorrow night on the Theatre Associates' production of Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet", the climax of many weeks of intensive work will have been reached. With the arrival of Mr. Roger Peterson, New York actor who is guest-starring as Romeo, final polishing and finishing began in earnest. Sets are being rushed to completion, and lighting equipment is beginning to bristle from all points of the theater.

Perhaps two of Shakespeare's most famous minor characters appear in this play, in the persons of Juliet's Nurse and Mercutio. Chosen from the ranks of Theatre Associates to portray these two key roles are Miss Evelyn Randlette and Robert Treser, two relatively new members of the organization.

Miss Randlette, a native Richmond, has appeared in numerous roles in the Studio Theater since her enrollment last year. Her sole appearance in a major production was as Mrs. Pearce in last year's "Pygmalion," but her excellent work on the less-honored phases of Theater has done much for the success of such productions as "Dear Ruth" and "Hamlet" last year, and this season's "Alice in Wonderland" and "January Thaw."

A graduate of John Marshall High School, Miss Randlette has appeared with the Richmond Opera Group in the 1947 production of "New Moon." She has always loved all phases of dramatics, and hopes to follow acting as a career after her graduation in 1951.

Asked how she felt about playing the role of the Nurse, Miss Randlette said, "Doing Shakespeare is much more difficult than contemporary plays, because his characters are not as well-developed, in most cases, and the actress must do much of the characterization on her own. My role is an exception, however, which is one of the reasons I like it. Of course, the lengthy and well-known lines do present a problem. If you forget a line of Shakespeare, you're apt to find the audience prompting you—which is most distracting, to say the least."

Appearing as Mercutio, talkative and swash-buckling friend of Romeo, will be Mr. Robert Treser, who entered school here last fall. He has appeared in many Studio Theater presentations, and will also be remembered for his portrayal of Tweedledum in last semester's "Alice in Wonderland." Mr. Treser has had much experience in his chosen field of dramatics, having worked with the dramatic clubs in prep schools and Lehigh University, from which he graduated before enrolling at RPI. While in the Army he organized the Fort Monmouth Theater Guild among post personnel, and presented several shows, including "Winterset," and an original musical, both of which he directed. Last summer he was director of the Staunton Players, community theater of Staunton, Virginia.

"Mercutio is, to me, one of the best characters Shakespeare ever developed," said Mr. Treser. "Playing him is quite an experience, and is proving most enjoyable—even more so because I've never played a part like it before. Of course, being Shakespeare, it's a difficult part to play, since the problem of saying Shakespeare's lines without making them sound stilted is always a great one."

"Romeo and Juliet," starring Mr. Roger Peterson as Romeo and Miss Jane Brooks as Juliet, will be presented in the Gymnasium Playhouse on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings February 24, 25, and 26, with the curtain rising at 8:15. Tickets are now on sale at the SGA office every weekday from 11 until 2, at a student price of fifty cents. All tickets are reserved.

The Chuck Wagon

Charles M. Hendrick

The old man sat huddled against the wall of the towering building, his feet wrapped in torn and ragged remnants of shoes, much too large for his thin, twisted feet. Hurrying shoppers passing, glanced momentarily in his direction and continued on their separate ways. Not once did he raise his eyes from his task, for he was blind to all but the sound of their tread, and even this failed to break through his detached bearing. Even the sound of the small coins dropped into the cup at his feet did not cause him to pause in his playing.

I watched for a short while then moved closer to his side, straining to catch every note of his crude, cigar-box violin. Now the melody of his music sounded pure and clear to the ear, and I knew the theme of Schubert's "Serenade." The composition was not new to me, for I had heard it played in tones much more involved and accurate, but the poignant, loving mien of an old man, not long for this world, gave an air to his music that could not be copied or imitated. His gnarled and knotted fingers carressed the frayed strings of his instrument, with the touch of one whose soul has delved into the mysteries of life and death and eternity, and found his sight, and peace.

I wondered in the face of his composed features, for here it seemed that wealth and comfort had never been. Did these things mean so little to him? Watching him as he sat there, contentment etched upon his lined, worn face, I found the answer.

The sound of a passing bus drowned for a moment the notes of his music, and glancing quickly back to catch the effect of this interruption, I found only the same unhurried composure of those who live in other worlds. I left then, and wonder and sadness were mingled within me. Looking back once more, I caught a last faint note, and saw that evening shadows had reached to cover his place of rest; still he sat in blindness, unmoving, for shadows have no substance, and touched lightly upon him.

Six years have passed since I last saw this ancient artist, and now his spot is vacant, except for memories for me and for others, or some shopper who stands in ignorance of her surroundings. For me, there is still the music, and the shadows, and a sadness for something past.

Father Hickman To Present Travelogue

R.P.I., Feb. 9—Father Robert O. Hickman, clergy member of the Sacred Heart Cathedral, will present a travelogue on Mexico City, and the shrine of "Our Lady of Guadalupe," at the Newman Club meeting on Feb. 23.

Father Hickman journeyed to Mexico on his vacation last year, and made motion pictures and slides on the trip.

The shrine has been made internationally famous by the pilgrimages of the Mexican people since the year 1531. It was founded after the Virgin Mary appeared to a 55 year old Mexican peon, and instructed him to tell the local bishop to construct a chapel where she had appeared.

According to the Encyclopedia Britannica, a miracle of roses gathered in the winter and the figure of the Virgin imprinted on the cloak of the peasant confirmed the report.

Over 1,000 X-Rays Taken Last Week

More than a thousand chest X-rays were given students registering for the February term at RPI by the City Health Department and the Richmond Tuberculosis Association.

This is part of the joint efforts of the department and the association to have as many Richmond citizens as possible given X-rays.

Officials of the clinic stated that 1285 students and faculty members were X-rayed in the mobile unit stationed at the college during registration. Reports show, however, that everyone connected with the school has not had an X-ray and the association suggests that the remaining persons report to the Chest Clinic, 1001 East Clay street on Friday between 9 and 12 and 1 and 4, where the work will be done without charge.

The films will be inspected for TB and also any other chest disorders. The clinic recommends that everyone have an X-ray at least once a year and warns that TB can be contracted at any age.

FEW SOPHOMORES ATTEND MEETING

R.P.I., Feb. 11—Although publicized by the PROSCRIPT and through poster announcements only a comparatively small percentage of the Sophomore Class was present yesterday when President Ed Kelley called a meeting of the class to order. Confusion as to the meeting place resulting from several eleventh hour changes caused the group to be increased by the arrival of some last minute stragglers.

Mr. James L. Deck, a representative for Herr-Jones Co., manufacturing jewelers, presented samples of class rings for the approval of the members of the class who were present.

Mr. Deck's company has supplied rings to such schools as: William and Mary, V.P.I., V.M.I., U. S. Naval Academy, and the U. S. Military Academy.

The class voted to support Mr. Deck's company if it went to the expense of having a special die cast enabling an R.P.I. shield to be superimposed on the William and Mary class ring.

Following Mr. Deck's presentation and the bombardment of questions that followed, Mr. Ryland Rash, candidate for treasurer on the All Campus ticket presented a political speech to the class explaining the attributes and experiences he possesses which make him eligible for public office. Mr. Rash also touched on the advantages of some of the planks in his party's platform.

Further along the agenda, plans for the coming Freshman Sophomore Dance were discussed. Baxter Duffy announced that the S. G. A. had approved March 19 for the dance.

Mr. Kelley urged the class to organize men's baseball and women's softball teams for inter-class games to be scheduled this season.

Elected to the judging Committee as members at large were: Leo Wright, Frank Duffy, Mary Stevens, Golden Lester.

Mr. Kelley reassured members that class membership cards had been ordered.

Shenandoah Five Outpoints Green Devils 67-38

Devil's Corner

By

By WINSTON OVERTON

This week's tip of the Devil's horn goes to the R.P.I. Green Devil quintet who jumped into the win column on Feb. 5, downing Madison College 32-31.

When a ball team from R.P.I. wins, or loses a game, can you truly say YOUR team won or lost? Were you there in the stands to see the team win or lose—if not you can't say that YOUR team won, but that the school's team won or lost. It's a fact that the greatest number of R.P.I. fans to attend any basketball game has been less than one hundred.

When sports were at a low ebb, the screams for a sports program were heard for miles. Where is that enthusiasm now? The fans who attend and cheer on our teams are the real evidence of the service the athletic program contribute to the students. Without those fans, the program is ineffective.

On tab for tonight is a return game between the R.P.I. Collegiates and the Baby Devils. In the last encounter of these two teams the Collegiates downed the Jayvees 51 to 35. Nelson Corryea, coach of the Collegiates, termed the Jayvees "aggressive but inexperienced," but many disagree and say that if the Jayvees had the height of the Collegiates, the game and score would have been a lot different.

The Green Devils varsity squad looked a great deal better than they ever had before during the R.P.I.-Norfolk Division game. The Norfolk Division five took the contest 59 to 41, but the Devils showed better passing and foot work than they had previously.

Devils Wrestle Brief Lead From Visitors In Opening Minutes; Hill Gets 25 Points

Braves Pushed By Devils In 59 To 41 Win

R.P.I., Feb. 9—The Green Devils' formidable cousins, the Norfolk Division of William and Mary, dumped the Devils 59 to 41 tonight on the Thomas Jefferson High School court.

The favored Tidewater club led all the way but the Devils, spirited by the Madison victory, closed the leader's gap to four points midway in the third period.

It was the Norfolk Division's second win of the season over the Devils and Agee, a former Craddock High ace, paved the victor's trail with 29 points. Altogether Agee sunk 13 field goals, 10 more than Baines, his nearest competitor with 8 points.

The Devils' scrappy forward, Artis Mills, led the losers with 13 points. Hank Moughamian hit the hoops with five field goals and a gratis shot for a eleven point total.

RPI Pitchers And Catchers To Start Work

R.P.I., Feb. 13—Coach Robert Reese today issued a call for all battery candidates of the '49 baseball club. The popular athletic chief revealed that the pitchers and catchers will begin work next week.

The battery hopefuls will get a two weeks jump on the rest of the squad and are slated to work out at the local Y.M.C.A. Infielders and outfielders will report March 1.

Coach Reese has mapped out conditioning and limbering up sessions for the pitchers and catchers, and reports that unless weather conditions are unusually encouraging, they won't move outdoors until the rest of the squad begins practice.

The baseballers are assured of a 18 game program, including several potent out-of-state nines. Leading the list of the stronger outfits tentative on the Devils' card is Lafayette, runner-up for the Eastern Inter-Collegiate crown last year. The athletic office reports that arrangements to add several more foes to the schedule

R.P.I., Feb. 11 — Shenandoah College's smooth working basketball team drubbed the Green Devils 67 to 38 tonight at Gray's Armory.

The win snapped a two game losing streak for the mountaineers, who had dropped successive features to Little Creek Naval Station and the Newport News Apprentice School.

A handful of patrons watched Coach Reese's diminutive crew wrestle two short lived leads from the rangy visitors in the first quarter. Field goals by Mills and Washer gave the Devils a four point advantage after three minutes of play. A minute later Miller and Danley countered for Shenandoah to tie it up. The Devils went ahead for another brief stay at the six minute mark, 8 to 6. At this point Shenandoah began moving, and flashing a well drilled fast break spurred ahead of the Devils. The boys from Apple Candy domain were resting on top of a 24 to 11 score at half-time.

It was a one man show in the scoring department with Hill of the winners bucketing 25 points. Miller looped in 8 of the Devils' total for top honors. Stan Guild, Jake Washer, and Sam Granger ran close behind Mills with 7 points apiece.
