

TA's To Present Wilde Company

(THEATRE ASSOCIATES RELEASE)

Theater Associates, under the direction of Robert Watkins, are busily at work on their forthcoming production of Oscar Wilde's brilliant comedy, "Lady Windermere's Fan," scheduled to be presented in the Gymnasium Playhouse on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday evenings, March 30, 31, and April 1. Tickets are now on sale at the SGA office, every day between 11 and 2, at a special price for students of 50 cents.

Mr. Watkins, a graduate in the Dramatic Art department, received his BFA from RPI last August, and is producing "Lady Windermere's Fan" as a partial fulfillment of the requirements for his Master's degree. He is widely experienced in all phases of theater, having designed several productions for Theater Associates, among them "Pygmalion" last year. He will be well remembered for his performance as Professor Higgins in that play, and as the incomparable Sheridan Whiteside in "The Man Who Came to Dinner." He has also staged several productions in the Studio Theater.

The cast of the play includes: Evelyn Randlette as Lady Windermere; Tyrone Morrow as Lord Windermere; Anne Hudson as Mrs. Elynne; Morris Law as Lord Augustus Lorton; Vivian Trestant as the Duchess of Berwick; John Massey as Lord Darlington; Golden Lester as Lady Agatha Carlisle; Charles Cagle as Mr. Dumby; Robert Treser as Mr. Cecil Graham; Warner Callahan as Mr. Hopper; Doris Lea Williams as Lady Plymdale; Arthur Greene as Parker; Serene Smith as Lady Jedburgh; Ruth Printup as Lady Stutfield; Mary Ellen Bechtol as Law Cowper-Cowper; and Phyllis Rubin, Rodj Rogers, Caroline Phelps, and Conner Powell as dance guests.

Miss Peggy Jamison has been chosen to serve as assistant director for the production by Mr. Watkins. A senior in the drama department, Miss Jamison has done some excellent work on past TA productions. Most recently she served as stage manager for last month's production of "Romeo and Juliet."

Mr. Franklin O. Davis will be technical director for the show assisted by Miss Dorothy Henshaw. Both have seen productions of their design staged this season, Miss Henshaw having designed "Alice in Wonderland," and Mr. Davis having done "January" (Continued on page 4)

DORMITORY UNDERGOING REPAIR-DEAN

(Dean's Office Release)

The new mens' dormitory at 712 West Franklin Street is now under going repairs and it is hoped that the remodeling will be far enough along to enable students to inspect the building before commencement in June.

The building will have several features not heretofore incorporated in dormitories. There will be two large reception rooms on the front and three well lighted recreation rooms in the basement. The stairway will be enclosed so that these rooms will be separated from the living part of the house. The reception rooms will be arranged so that groups of students living in the building may entertain friends in the reception rooms without interfering with, and entirely separate from the dormitory rooms, which will have a separate entrance on the side so that when entertainments are held in the reception rooms, the students who are not attending the parties may enter the stairway from the side without passing through the reception rooms.

The old library of the building, which is the second room on the East side, will be remodeled so as to provide a room and bath for the hostess (and powder room (Continued on page 4)

STUDENTS ASKED TO PLACE BOOKS ON NEW SHELVES

According to an announcement made by Mrs. Ethel M. Cottingham, custodian of the Ad Building, a set of book shelves has been placed in the Basement of the Ad Building, next to room No. B. Students who desire to leave their books in corridors are asked to place them on these shelves.

In the future persons who leave books on the floor, or on the hall mantel, first floor Ad Building, will find them moved. This will be done for a period of two weeks and if students continue to violate this rule, Mrs. Cottingham has recommended that the books be placed under lock and key and (Continued on page 2)

Spring Vacation Begins April 2

R.P.I., April 1—Spring vacation will begin April 2, it was reported today by the Registrar's office. Classes will resume at 8 a. m. on April 11.

Mrs. L. L. Wood, Assistant Registrar urged that all applications for degrees and certificates be turned in by April 1.

The warning issued by Bill Sewell, SGA President, for clubs and organizations to check with tax authorities before selling tickets to activities, threw a 'monkey wrench' into plans to defray some of the expense of the Freshman-Sophomore Hayride by charging a 50 cents fee for guests, other than dates, of class members.

Baxter Duffey, activities chairman, in a committee meeting last week said, "We will depend on the generosity of our guests to 'feed the kitty' instead of charging an admission charge."

It was voiced at the meeting that it was not the intention of the Freshman and Sophomore classes to raise money by having a hayride, but simply to supply the class with recreation.

It was estimated that it would cost 50 cents per person to cover the expenses of the outing. This was the amount to be charged as admission for guests before it was learned of the red tape of tax payment.

The hayride-weiner-roast-barn dance will be held as planned Saturday, March 19, unless rain should delay the event to the following week-end. A weather report will be posted.

There will be adequate transportation provided at 4 p. m. and at 6:30 p. m., from the school to Northfield Stables. Girls living in dormitories are assured that transportation will be furnished back to the school in time for curfew.

A juke-box will be used for dancing.

Guests may bring their own records.

The event will feature hayriding in horse drawn wagons and several dance contests.

Those using private transportation should check bulletin boards for a sketch of directions or contact Baxter Duffey.

Phyllis West, a member of the Sophomore Class, is making the stables available to the classes on a cost basis. This is in line with the idea of a non-profit outing.

ACCT. MAJORS INTERVIEW ON JOB

To provide accounting majors with technical work experience, the School of Business is contacting business organizations to establish an internship system. The plan enables the employer to observe the student under actual working conditions and gives the student an opportunity to determine his fitness for his chosen work.

The accounting professors hope to interest several Richmond firms in cooperating in this plan. The internship plan is used in many of the larger schools of business.

Letters have also been sent to local business firms inviting them to send personnel representatives to the campus to interview Seniors for positions. Seniors in business should contact Mr. Kreppick if they wish to be considered for these positions.

Juniors Plan Banquet

The Junior-Senior Banquet will be planned when the Junior class meets tomorrow night at 7 o'clock in the rear library.

Members of the class of 1950 are reminded that class cards may be obtained by paying one dollar to class treasurer Bob Hicks.

MAY DAY IN MONROE PARK

With the 1949 May Day celebration in prospect, attention is drawn to the site where the crowning of the queen takes place. Despite the beauty of the spectacle in former years, could the effectiveness of the crowning not be increased by having it in a larger and more attractive location? Such a place might be Monroe Park.

The difficulties encountered in using the East Lawn for the crowning are obvious. The enclosure is crowded; many students are unable to obtain good positions when more than a few dozen persons have arrived. Even the addition of a grandstand last year, did not adequately fulfill this need. The field is unshaded and the sparse patches of grass which are the necessary result of the Lawn being used as the college's only athletic ground, make the May Court's dresses dusty. The artificial grass mat, on which the Court sits, only emphasizes this lack of natural greenery.

Moreover, the lack of space available for the ceremonies makes it impossible to include many outside persons among the spectators. For this reason publicizing of the RPI May Day celebration is practically pointless as compared to that which is done by the University of Richmond, Mary Washington College and other institutions in the state. A more attractive place in which to have the program would attract much favorable publicity for the college.

If Monroe Park could be obtained for the festivities, most of these difficulties would be eliminated. As the park is city property and probably could not be obtained free, why should it not be rented as is the Mosque for college functions? If this could be arranged, RPI would have a May Day celebration of which it could be proud.

The Institute's most attractive girls are featured in the May Court each year. They deserve a setting worthy of their beauty.—F. S.

BASEBALL BEGINS WITH BACKING

The first baseball game of the current season will be held in Ashland Saturday. The RPI Devils will try their skill against the Yellow Jackets of Randolph-Macon.

Any team, whether it be high school, college or professional, plays better when there is a crowd cheering for it. It can be assumed that R-M and Ashland spectators will be yelling for the Jackets. It's up to us to get out and root for the Devils.

True, there are a few draw-backs to be expected . . . the first game of the season, out-of-town, etc. But if we are to have any sort of a team with spirit, we must support them from the start. Also, so that plans can be formulated for next year, we must show that we are willing to back our teams.

Eleven games have been scheduled, with an expectation of a final agenda of 18. Most of these games will be played in Richmond at Parker Field. There is no admission charge for RPI students to see them. We should get the habit early of going to see the Devils. A team is only as good as its backbone, and the backbone is the spectators.

Basketball game crowds were disappointing. We should decide now to back our baseball team to the limit.—N. C.

Josephine Cost $238
What About You?

R.P.I., March 16—What do you consider your skeleton to be worth? Judging from the price paid for our good friend, Josephine, human bones are bringing a goodly sum on the market these days. Even during 1944, when the war was in full swing and price control was at its height, Josephine cost the school a neat sum of $238.75. With prices the way they are now, she would no doubt be worth somewhere around the $500.00 mark.

Since coming here from Chicago, where most of the nation's meat packing industry is located, Josephine has taken part in nearly every activity known to the campus. Upon her arrival here on July 20, 1944, she took part in various Biology lectures and discussions concerning what holds up the human body. Needless to say, she was the center of much discussion since she's a perfect example of how the human skeleton is held together. From the Biology department, she was transferred to the Kinesiology department for deeper study. There she really let her hair down and gave out with the real low-down on what makes the human skeleton click.

At present, Josephine occupies the rostrum in Ad. K, where she presides over numerous meetings of the unspeakable creatures that prowl the hall of R.P.I., after the doors are closed for the night.

SGA Accepts Club;
Drops The Others

R.P.I., March 9—The Student Government Association today gave its official recognition to the society of Student Engineers of the VPI division.

At the same meeting the Administration and Lost Battalion clubs lost their recognition in the SGA assembly for "failure to submit a constitution and lack of interest in having a representative at SGA meetings."

The action reduces the number of SGA representative seats from 28 to 27.

Sewell Attacks
Frosh Class
For Inactivity

"If you are not going to have a Freshman Class that is active, why don't you quit?" Bill Sewell, SGA president, at a meeting of the class called last week to plan for participation in a Freshman-Sophomore Hayride and the coming May Day weekend.

Before the forty members of the class present at the meeting, Sewell re-echoed his plea for student participation in organizations. "I am a one man committee for the dances sponsored at RPI," claimed Sewell as he attacked the lack of interest shown by students. Continuing, he said, "Only one-third of the total school body is interested in school activities." Sewell reminded the Freshmen Class that tradition dictates that freshmen provide the May Day dance.

RPI Music Student
Wins Organ Audition

Mar. 5—Florence Clark a sophomore in the School of Music, won a district audition in pipe organ music today. The district contest, which was held under the auspices of the National Federation of Music Clubs, included participants from Virginia, Maryland, District of Columbia, and West Virginia.

Miss Clark, who studies with Charles Craig, previously won the State auditorium organ on Feb. 19.

The Chuck Wagon

This world we live in is a wonderful place. As a matter of fact I am very much attached to it; I want to stay here. Every day there is news of some invention which will make living more pleasant for each of us. For instance the atom bomb, has given us untold blessings we hear, and has opened a whole new world for us. Like I said before though, I like this one!

A plane recently flew around the world non-stop; now that proves what I have been saying. Just think you can plan for the future when a sight seeing trip will take you around the world, and bring you back in a matter of hours. Of course you won't see much scenery at that speed, but I'm sure it will be educational nevertheless. One invention unveiled recently does away with the secretary who answers the phone while the boss is out. It does everything but sit on the bosses lap. I'm sure it will never be a success, though the local league of business men's wives have wholeheartedly endorsed it.

No longer do we have to wake up in the morning in the old-fashioned, normal way, but can open our eyes to the pleasing tones of the radio; although I fail to see the pleasure of awakening to the strains (I do mean strain) of some local hillbilly band, or the litting voice of some underpaid, over-enthusiastic announcer, extolling the virtues of his soothing, stimulating and highly versatile cigarette product, at five or six o'clock in the morning.

I don't mean to say that I disapprove of all the modern inventions of today, it's just that I wonder where it will all end. Maybe some day we will have machines that will go to work for us, collect our checks, turn them over to us ask for nothing but a little oil now and then. Now that would be a worthwhile project for some enterprising scientist; that I'd buy!

Leadership Girls
To Direct Party

R.P.I., Mar. 9—A group of 35 girls of the Department of Recreational Leadership will direct a program for approximately 200 Neuro-psychiatric patients at McGuire Hospital on March 17, St. Patrick's Day, according to Mrs. Lois A. Washer, department head.

The evening's entertainment will feature country dances in which the patients will participate under the direction of the students. This is another phase in the training for the Recreational Leadership majors.

Richard Chase, dance instructor and author of "Grandfather Tales" and "Jack Tales", gave several demonstrations to the women students on March 3. It is believed that his assistance will aid the students in their program.

Goldstein Attends Lecture At V. P. I.

R.P.I., Mar. 8—Albert Goldstein, a Junior and Sociology major here, attended the lecture of Dr. Arnold Gesell on child development at Virginia Polytechnic Institute in Blacksburg on March 7, according to Dr. Alice Davis, head of the Sociology department.

Dr. Gesell is the foremost world authority on child development, and former Director of the Clinic of Child Development, School of Medicine, Yale University. After the lecture, Mr. Goldstein conferred with Dr. Gesell relative to a paper he has written on his own child for a psychology class here.

Canterbury Clubs
Confer April 2-3

RPI, March 11—All students, regardless of their religious preference, have been invited to attend a conference of the Canterbury Clubs in the Southern Diocese of the Virginia Episcopal church. The conference will be held at Roslyn Diocesan Center on April 2 and 3, said Christine Landback, in charge of the RPI delegation.

The conference will feature speakers and will include representatives from the University of Virginia, Hampton-Sydney College, Mary Washington College, Randolph-Macon College, Farmville State Teachers College and "possibly others," said Miss Landback.

The RPI Canterbury Club is sponsoring the project. Transportation will be furnished to the center. A fee of $3.35 to cover meals and rooms will be charged.

Among the activities planned are a Communion breakfast on Sunday morning, recreation on Saturday evening, and discussion groups. The discussion will include answers to religious questions which students often ask. Miss Landback has urged that any question which RPI students wish to contribute to this forum be left with her at 828 Park Avenue.

Students attending the conference will register at Roslyn from 1:30 to 3:00 on Saturday afternoon. They will return to Richmond Sunday evening.

Miss Landback added that any additional information may be obtained by contacting her.

Coaching Is Reese's Fifth Baseball Post

Coach Robert Reese's baseball background reveals that the Devils' mentor is a versatile veteran of diamond play. Coach Reese has participated against high school, college, and Navy competition, and played four positions.

As a Freshman at West Scranton High in Scranton, Penn., Reese made his baseball debut garbed in catcher's equipment. After three years of signal calling he transferred to Scranton Tech and the outfield. In his Senior year he was a mainstay on the Tech squad and helped the club annex the city championship.

In the uniform of East Stroudsburg Teachers College Reese was moved from the out garden to third base. At the end of his Freshman year he shelved the college uniform in favor of Uncle Sam's Navy blue. While in the Navy, Reese took another baseball trip and wound up handling the second base chores. In his second Navy season he got his first coaching experience by tu-

Devils Prevue Sat. Against R. Macon Nine

R.P.I., March 16—The Green Devils will unveil their baseball might Saturday afternoon at 2:30 when they go against Randolph-Macon's Yellow Jackets in a practice game at Ashland.

The Devils, with a little more than two weeks practice behind them, will invade the Jacket's camp mainly for the competition. Coach Sanford's nine usually ranks among the stronger outfits in the Old Dominion and the Devils are ceded little chance of up-rooting them. Coach Reese stated that the flavor of outside competition should prove profitable in the Devils' preparation for their rigid schedule.

Coach Reese plans to substitute freely during the game. He expects to divide the pitching between either three or four moundsmen.

Scandinavian Methodists O. T. Director Plan Parley Speaks Here

Miss Eva Brostrom, occupational therapist from Denmark, spoke to the seniors in the O. T. Department here on Monday, Mar. 7. She discussed the history and development of occupational therapy in Denmark and other Scandinavian countries and compared it to the work in this country. She stated that Denmark was in the same stage of development in 1935 that the United States was in 1918, but conditions are gradually improving.

Miss Brostrom, who is director in one of the largest hospitals in Denmark, is inspecting occupational therapy departments in the United States.
