

Preschedule System To Be Tried In May By Registrar's Office

Plan Will Aid Upperclassmen

RPI, April 21—Students who plan to return next fall must preschedule their courses during the month of May, it was announced today by the Registrar's Office. This is being done in order to allow upperclassmen to get into their necessary classes before the classes are filled by Freshmen and Transfers.

All advisers have the pre-scheduling forms and a schedule of the class for next fall. Students should see their adviser at once, the Registrar advises, for appointments and then follow the same procedure used at registration. In other words, students should plan the courses to be taken, see the instructors for their signatures, and have their name registered on class rolls.

After this has been done, students must return to their advisers and hand in the forms to them. If a student takes care of this now, the only steps necessary at registration in the fall will be to pick up the registration card with the form attached and make any necessary changes. ## Mr. Krepick To Speak Thursday

RPI, April 23—Mr. I. John Krepick, head of the Department of Business, will speak before the Personnel Executives Club Thursday night on "Cooperative Work Experience Training on a College Level."

The topic will be concerned with the necessity of including practical work experience in college business training. He will point out the important meaning and application that theoretical classroom experience will have when the business student finds employment in his particular field.

"The problem," Mr. Krepick said today, "is to organize and promote work programs which will provide meaningful experience, so that the student may not have to waste time in applying his practical knowledge to the job he chooses after graduation."

He also plans to stress the advisability of closer correlations between business and the college curricula, so that Richmond businesses will be able to select qualified workers at graduation.

D. E. TEACHER LEADS SESSION

RPI, April 22—Miss Rosemary H. McMillan, associate director of the RPI Distributive Education Department, left today to lead a session of fellow-D. E. teachers in Greensboro, N. C.

The conference, sponsored by the Business Educational Division of the Woman's College University of North Carolina, featured Better Teaching for Vocational Progress. It lasted from Friday through Sunday.

Miss McMillan's subject was "Improved Instruction in Distributive Education."

SOCIAL WORK TO OFFER NEW COURSES

R.P.I., April 27—The School of Social Work will offer, during the coming Summer session, a series of two institutes as well as two six-week courses, which will be open to graduate students and to qualified social agency employees; Dr. George T. Kalif, head of the school, has announced.

The institutes will be offered by Dr. Benedict Nagler, chief of the Neuropsychiatric division of the Veterans' Administration hospital in Richmond, and Mr. Henry J. Palmieri, Chief Probation officer of the Richmond Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court. Dr. Nagler will offer "Understanding Socially Abnormal Behavior" (Continued on page 2)

MISS FRANCIS TO PLAY 'MARIE'

R.P.I., April 27—Cornelia Francis, a soprano, will take the lead as Marie in the condensed version of the "Bartered Bride," which will be given in conjunction with the Music, Dance, and Art Festival at the Womens Club on May 25 and 26, Mr. LeRoy Weil, director of the opera, announced today.

Other leads that have been selected are George Shutte as Janik and Walter Whittle as Baschek. A chorus of thirty-five began rehearsals last Wednesday. Mr. Weil also stated that a twenty-piece orchestra will be used in the presentation of the "Bartered Bride." Minor roles in the production will be announced at a later date.

FROSH WILL GIVE SHIPWRECK DANCE

A "Shipwreck Dance" will be given by the Freshman class Saturday night in the school gymnasium from 8 to 11:30, William R. Johnson, class president, said recently. Admission price will be 50 cents, stag or drag.

Mr. Johnson said that a door prize will be given to the couple who looks most "like they have been shipwrecked." Free 11:30 lates will be given to all Freshmen girls who attend.

"Because of the lack of co-operation by the Freshman class in paying their dues, we are trying to raise enough money to pay for the May Day dance by having this affair," Mr. Johnson said.

STUDENTS MUST PAY CLASS DUES

RPI, April 22—Members of all four classes are required to pay class dues before taking part in class functions, William G. Sewell, president of the S. G. A., said today.

It was previously reported that only Freshmen must pay class dues, but Mr. Sewell corrected the statement.

31 STUDENTS TO PARTICIPATE IN RECITAL

Thirty-one R.P.I. students will participate in the Modern Dance Recital to be given at 8 p. m., on Wednesday and Thursday, May 4 and 5 in the school gym. Americanism is the theme of the recital. An admission of twenty-five cents will be charged.

The program is divided into three sections. The first portion contains impressions of some cultural backgrounds, such as primitive influences—As oriental placidity and Old World gaiety and strife. Bits of folk mores compose the second division. The five dances of this part of the program are Sailor on Leave, Country Style, Superstition, Negro Spiritual, and Noise of a City. After a short intermission, the modern dancers will present the final section which includes eight moods—Carefree Youth, Happiness, Dreams, Wonder, Power, Energy, Lost Image, and Rhapsody in Blue.

O. T. STUDENTS DISCUSS JOB INTERVIEWING

RPI, April 22—A discussion on applying for and accepting positions as occupational therapists was held at a meeting of three groups of O. T. students the past Thursday, Mrs. Elizabeth Messick, head of the OT department, announced today.

The three groups consisted of students completing O.T. theory at RPI, of those in initial training at Richmond Hospitals, and of graduate students working for their BS degrees.

Students were shown the importance of working under proper medical supervision and of securing necessary information regarding their initial positions before accepting them.

CONVENTION TO BE MAY 6

'Counsel Clause' Removed From SGA Constitution

UR, WM GET VIPA HONORS

The "Richmond Collegian" and the Royalist" of William and Mary in newspaper and magazines took top honors in the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association Spring judging held at Randolph-Macon college in Ashland last week-end.

Second place awards in the newspaper field went to the "Flat Hat" of William and Mary, while the "Ring-Tun Phi" of Washington and Lee and the "Virginia Tech" received third prize.

Yearbook second place went to "Virginia Tech Engineer" and "The Messenger" of University of Richmond received third prize.

New officers elected at the convention were John French of Washington and Lee, president; Dan Roberts, Randolph-Macon, vice president; and Pat Stringham, William and Mary, secretary-treasurer.

'50 NAMES 1949 ELECTION SLATE

R.P.I., April 27—Nominations of officers for the class of '50 were made at the meeting of the Junior class held last week. Nominated for president were: Robert Lindholm, Charles Morgan, and Herman Allen; for vice-president: Anne Beasley, Barbara Meuser, and Betty Webb; for secretary: Barbara Kelley, Phyllis Hartsook, and Jane Twigg; for treasurer: Howard Padgett, Lee Gordon, William Finney, and Bernard Schutte; for S.G.A. representative: Cliff Boyd, Eugene Wright, Julia O'Farrell, and Pat Pritchett; and for Women's A.A.: Caroline Hogshead, Audrey Flood, and Gertrude Back.

This slate of officers will be voted on in the near future, Miss Anne Beasley, class secretary, said, and the identity of those elected will be disclosed at the next class meeting, scheduled for May 12.

Further plans were made for the carnival, sponsored by the class, to be held Saturday, May 15, in the school gym. The carnival will include ten booth concessions, featuring such amusements as fortune telling, tossing pennies for cigarettes, and "eats" stands; and a dance pavilion with juke box music. Nothing will cost over 4 cents.

Volunteers are badly needed for booth work, Miss Beasley said. Robert Lindholm is master chairman of the carnival committees.

W. S. S. F. Sets Goal At $100; Reaches 55%

RPI, April 22—According to Miss Diane Garner, publicity manager of the Wesley Foundation at R.P.I., $61.25 of the $100 goal set by this club in the recent World Student Service Fund Drive had been contributed by Wednesday, April 20.

This fund goes to underprivileged students throughout the world to aid in covering their expenses for food, books, medical attention and other necessities.

The drive, which was held from April 18 through 23, con-

RPI, April 20—The disputed "counsel clause" was removed from the new SGA constitution tonight by a 12 to 4 vote. It is hoped the action will open the way for a speedy approval of the "Sewell Plan" document, which must now return once again to the administration for action on the powers of the president and vice-president in the new setup.

Under the "Sewell Plan," both men and women students would be governed by one SGA body headed by a president. Separate men and women honor councils are proposed to handle honor regulations of men and women. The administration advocates a woman's SGA body operating separately from the main group.

The "council clause" dropped from the constitution, was designed to permit honor violators to have counsel at hearings. It was deleted from the document on recommendation of the administration on the grounds that it was not needed. Another provision grants violators the privilege of calling as many witnesses as necessary.

The only remaining obstacle confronting the constitution and delaying a vote by the student body, is the controversy on whether the document should be revised according to the administration's proposal concerning the separate women's SGA body.

Bank Jobs Open To Students

RPI, April 24—All two or four year 1949 graduates of the Business Department have the opportunity to be interviewed by Mr. J. R. Baldwin, Personnel Director of the Bank of Virginia during this week.

If the interview is satisfactory, Mr. Baldwin will place the student in a permanent job following graduation.

Any student interested in being interviewed for banking positions in Richmond, Petersburg, Newport News, Norfolk, Portsmouth or Roanoke, may obtain an application blank from Mr. I. J. Krepick, head of the department of Business, in Room 15 of the Administration building.

Mr. Baldwin stated that the student is under no obligation to accept the offer.

isted for the most part of competition between the dormitories to see which one could attain 100 per cent contributions from the students.

As far as is known, the Graduate Dormitory at 902 Park Ave., has been the only one to reach the 100 per cent goal, but others are expected to do so by the time the drive ends.

Officers of the Wesley Club extend thanks to everyone who has contributed to the drive and sincerely hope that the final goal will be reached.

"MERCI"

Across the sea from France comes the token of a grateful nation—a token has been extended even to the halls of RPI. The pieces of beautiful lace, the doll and the literary productions are all objects of sentimental, if not intrinsic, value. When they are placed on display at the RPI library, students will view them with the feeling of warmth that comes from the realization that people are people everywhere.

To some, the giving of the French gifts may appear to be motivated by selfish interests. It is said that the people are thus trying to win the favor of Americans by flattering them with presents. This spirit is an outgrowth of the "America first" attitude which prevailed just previous to World Wars I and II. It is easy for Americans, living as they do in a country of plenty, to pass over the small tributes of France. Surely, as students, we can do no less than accept these offerings with the spirit in which they were sent—the spirit of generosity and friendship.

When the Merci train was on exhibit in downtown Richmond, it was seen by many persons who remarked on its unusual interest and variety. RPI is indeed fortunate to be the recipient of a bit of its cargo. The articles were designated for individuals in such a general way, however, that it was impossible to award them to particular persons. They should be shared for the enjoyment of all.

As the Merci Train objects are placed on display, we the students will view them with sincere appreciation and thanks—MERCY to the French people.—F. S.

JOB HUNTING HEADACHES OVER?

Mr. Baldwin of the Bank of Virginia is giving every two or four year Business graduate an excellent opportunity for permanent employment.

Such a plan of interviewing all those interested should put an end to the tiring and often disappointing task of job hunting. So many students receive their degrees with the remark: "I don't know if I am glad or not. I don't know how to do anything but go to school!"

Also under this plan students have a chance, if they wish, to obtain jobs in their own home towns. If more such plans could be undertaken by departments in the school other than Business, and extended to fields other than banking, RPI could attract more students with the promise of getting jobs for them at the completion of their courses. The students would have a definite goal towards which to work, rather than working for four years and at the end, wandering aimlessly around job-hunting. Knowing exactly what to seek saves wasted time and effort.

Mr. I. J. Krepick, head of the Department of Business, is to be highly commended for originating this job placement plan at RPI. It is sincerely hoped that other department heads will follow his lead. The students will show their gratitude when they have advanced to the positions of bank presidents or newspaper editors!—M. S. W.

'MERCY' TRAIN

R.P.I. library.

These articles were received from the committee, appointed by Governor Tuck for the distribution of the contents of the Virginia car. The letter stated that "the intrinsic value is not high, but there is a great sentimental value that carries out the theme of the whole gracious gesture of the French nation."

School librarian, Miss Rosamond McCannless, suggested several articles which she considered desirable to display here.

The largest article received was a hand made doll from Paris, the model of a typical Brittany maid.

Included in the lace collection was a piece of circular work that had been part of a ball dress worn in 1907 by a young lady. Now 62 years old, the owner wrote that she hoped that it would be used on a wedding dress of an American girl. The letter was a heart-warming symbol of gratitude which the French people have for all Americans. Also included was a crocheted collar presented in a unique box made of wall paper.

Besides the autographed copy of poems and a novel were several pamphlets and travelogues on Brittany.

Miss McCannless said that these articles will be put on display in the library as soon as facilities can be arranged for that purpose.

It is hoped by both sides that the controversy will come to a satisfactory settlement in the near future.

When technical points of the document are settled, the constitution will be published and the entire student body will vote for its acceptance or veto. It is expected a public hearing will be held before the vote, which will be by ballot.

The Chuck Wagon

That Sunday would be one for books they all agreed. Frank had his father's car; all the gang had managed to get up in time for an early start, and the beach was only sixty miles away. The 4 of them could easily squeeze into the one-seat car, and since Frank was a good driver, there was no reason for the several "Be careful Frank," warnings which their parents had sent after them as they drove off.

Everyone knew that Frank was a swell driver, why he'd never had an accident in his life, and he had been driving for five years now, or was it six.

Any way, the day was so beautiful and warm, the beach must be swell, and we'd be there in two hours at least. But gosh, two whole hours! Hey Frank, why don't you step on it a little, we'll never get there at this rate? Yes Frank, hurry it up a little!

Frank, doesn't want to appear childish or yellow, so he 'gives her the gas' and speeds on.

Boy, this is more like it! We'll have another whole hour to swim. One whole hour saved, out of a lifetime!

Some where in the unconscious mind, Frank senses a warning, an indefinable feeling of guilt. Those three people have made him their God; their lives are dependent upon him just as if he were some supreme being. Frank does not know it, but that tension mounting inside him, mounts with every increase of speed. He's a good driver; he knows the car, what it can do; and its awful crowded up here. Suppose something should happen? Aw don't be silly, nothing will! What the heck, we want to get there soon as we can, don't we? Sure; Step on it!

That Sunday was one for the books they all said. Yes, it turned out just that way; the water was swell; they had saved one whole hour from a lifetime, as they had wanted. There was no accident, as is usual in this type of story, and anxious parents watched as they pulled up in front of each home.

Frank forgot about his momentary twinge of conscience and kissed his girl a second time, before leaving. It was such a swell day, wasn't it. And we saved a whole hour. Lets go again next Sunday Frank, want to? O. K. lets!

And next Sunday, Frank with new confidence and no feeling of guilt this time sped towards the beach; playing God again! This time the hour saved from a life time paid dividends. This time four anxious parents waited late for sons, and daughters who lay mangled and torn beneath the twisted wreckage of what had once been an auto. One hour saved: But time is transient stuff, and wastes away even when we hasten to store it!

"Sunday was indeed a beautiful day, but so quiet now without . . ."

Treasure Hunt To Be Featured In Picnic Outing

R.P.I., Apr. 27 — A treasure hunt will be featured in the May picnic outing of the Accidental club which will be held next Tuesday afternoon at Bryan Park. About 40 or 50 members will meet at the park at 3:30, Jean Roberts, secretary of the club, announced today.

The food committee for the picnic was chosen at a called meeting of the club last Thursday afternoon at the Music Building. Ray Babelay, Viola Williamson, and Jean La Fratto compose the committee.

The club contacted the Balfour Company, which will send a representative to the next meeting with pin samples.

One of the music students, John Stone, has been at Stuart Circle Hospital for several weeks and is now improving.

Plans To Form Fencing Club Are Favorable

The Touche Club, a temporary club composed of a group of students interested in fencing may reach an active status in the near future. A charter is being drawn up to be submitted to the S.G.A. for approval.

The club expects to be organized after spring vacation and will be open to men and women students at school. Meetings will be divided with the first half a regular business meeting and the last part with fencing instructions.

Guest speakers will be obtained to speak on the art of fencing. Some students have taken up fencing and others are learning the basic rules.

All payments must be made to the Business Office before registration, the Registrar stressed.

"We are asking students to take advantage of this system and to cooperate by doing so correctly. This system will greatly cut down on the confusion at Registration and enable the students to have a better planned program," said Mrs. Ann E. Wood, assistant registrar.

All forms must be handed back to the advisers by June 1, Mrs. Wood said.

Green Devils Suffer First Defeat 1-0

McGuire's Field, April 23—Ed Critzer held onto his unearned run record today by letting up only three scattered hits in six innings against Newport News as the Devils suffered their first defeat in four starts 1 to 0. Having pitched fifteen innings of competitive ball for RPI Critzer has given up only eight hits and has yet to yield an earned run.

The game was called in the sixth because of a heavy fall of hail and rain which flooded the diamond. The Devils trailed from the fourth inning when the Apprentice scored on a single, an RPI miscue and a long fly ball to the outfield. The Devils showed promise of scoring throughout the entire game by putting seven men on base but were unable to score them. The Devils loaded the bases in the first with nobody out but a strike out and a twin killing by the Apprentice stopped the Devils short.

The Devils collected four hits at the expense of Griffen, the winning pitcher, with Jim Fisher leading the way with a double and a single for two trips to bat. Garland Canada and Clyde Harding banged out the other two safeties. Canada's drive was good for a double. The Devils pulled two twin killings while making only one error. Griffen fanned six RPI batters and walked four.

Devils Defeat Braves 6-3 For Third Straight

R.P.I., April 21—Bill Johnson survived a shaky first inning today to pitch Coach Reese's Green Devils to a 6 to 3 victory over the Norfolk Division of William and Mary on McGuire field.

A two run blast in the opening frame was the only serious threat Coach Bud Metheny's Braves could produce off the slants of Johnson. The veteran hurler let up but 4 hits to join the stellar mound work of teammates Ed Critzer and Charlie Oliver. It was the third win in as many starts for the R.P.I. crew.

The Devils scored a lone run in the first on two singles and two walks. Taking advantage of Blair's wildness the winners countered again in the fourth on 2 walks and a single by Washer. The R.P.I. nine rallied for a brace of runs in each the sixth and seventh frames to insure the win.

Jack Birkhead banged out 3 singles in 6 trips to lead the Devils' 12 hit assault. Clyde Hardy collected 2 safeties for 4 trips and Bill Johnson aided his own cause with 2 for 5. The Devils' left 14 runners stranded on the bases.

Lacy of the Norfolk Division was the only player on either team to knock out an extra base hit. The leftfielder tripled down the right field line in the first inning.

Softball Game Opens Friday

R.P.I., April 27 — The R.P.I. girls initiate softball Friday afternoon at 3:30 when Coach English matches the R.P.I.'tes against Union Theological Seminary girls on the U.T.S. diamond.

This is the first year that R.P.I. has had girl's softball on a competitive rather than an intramural basis. A full schedule is being planned, but several games are pending.

The team has been practicing at Parker Field every afternoon from Monday through Thursday since Spring vacation. The girls still have a few minor weaknesses that will probably be ironed out after their first few games.

Coach English announced her probable line-up for the U. T. S. game but stated that it is subject to change. Colgin as ss.; Hackett at 1st b.; Henderson at 2nd b.; Everhart at cf.; Phipps at 3rd b.; Tartar or Cohen as p.; Willis as c.; Gardner at lf.; Cohen or Halser at rf.

nesday, 19-18 in the school gym. The contest, sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association, was played with no holds barred.

The first half was played according to girl's rules and the second according to men's basketball, but ended in a three ring circus. Even the referees got in on the act. The rule book was thrown out and the affair progressed to every man for himself. The only interruptions were from the timekeeper.

Devils Topple Medicos 3-1 Behind Oliver

R.P.I., April 20—Charlie Oliver throttled the Medical College baseballers today with 4 hits as the Green Devils shattered the Medico jinx with a 3 to 1 win on Shockoe Field.

Fred Aldridge, the Medicos' premiere moundsman, tossed a sterling game for the rival Medicos but his teammates committed 4 costly errors. The smooth working righthander let up but 4 hits and struck out 14.

The Devils jumped to a one run margin in the fourth. Aprahamian worked Aldridge for a walk to lead off the inning. Washer and Canada dumped successive bunts and in a vain attempt to nip Canada, Smith threw wild at first and Aprahamian raced around to score.

The Medicos bounded back in the bottom of the fourth with a run. Duncan nicked Oliver for the first Medical College hit of the game. The speedy shortstop stole second and scored when Helsabeck's grounder was muffed.
