

Drama Group To Resume Weekly One-Act Plays

The one-act play series, produced by the School of Drama, will begin its season on October 19. As in former years, a one-act production will be presented each Thursday night in the Studio Theater with two performances at 7:30 and 8:30 p.m.

A play designed primarily for children and directed by Cathy Marlowe Stampalia is scheduled for Glen Allen high school on October 19, while the Studio Theater presentation will be Noel Coward's "Fumed Oak" with Wamer Callahan as student director.

The one-act play series is the experimental laboratory for members of the drama school. Each play is designed, directed, and presented by students in the school.

In addition to the series, five major productions are planned for the current school year.

Contest Open To Rename RPI Annual

Contest plans for the choosing of a new name for the RPI yearbook were announced by Editor Jack Roach after a meeting of the 1950-51 staff last Thursday evening.

The contest is open to all students whether they have subscribed to the yearbook or not. The winner will receive a free copy of the yearbook. If he or she has already paid the subscription fee, the money will be refunded.

All entries are to be deposited in a box placed in front of the S.G.A. office. The entry must include the name of the student and the name he is submitting for the contest. The maximum number of words for each submission is two. The contest closes Saturday night, October 7.

The yearbook staff is still open to new members. All those who are interested are asked to contact Jack Roach, Carson Overton, Mary Jo Wagner, or June Foster.

Alumni Homecoming To Include College Booster Club Members

Absence Committee Rules On Overcutting Classes

Students, if you don't want to spend your Friday afternoons with the Absence Committee, remember these rules. Students may be unexcusedly absent from class once for each lecture credit hour, after which they face dismissal from the class, unless a satisfactory excuse is presented to the Absence Committee.

Three tardies will be counted as one absence and there will be no unexcused absences in laboratory work.

The overcut student, regardless of the reason for his absence, must appear before the Absence Committee. He must not be allowed to attend the class unless he presents a re-admission slip signed by a member of the committee.

The Absence Committee composed of Mr. Raymond Hodges, chairman, Miss Juliet Woodson, secretary, and Dr. Margaret Johnson, meets every Friday at 2:30 o'clock in Dr. Johnson's office.

If a student has two cuts left in any class at Thanksgiving, Christmas, and spring vacation he may take "double cuts," such cuts being counted the last time a class meets before a holiday and the first time it meets after a holiday. Students may not do extra class work outside nor attend another section of a class in order to avoid using double cuts.

Class Drop Period Ends October 7th

The two week period in which class changes may be made will end Saturday, October 7, according to Mrs. Ann Woods, assistant registrar.

Any classes dropped after October 7 must still be done so through the registrar's office, but a grade of "WF" (withdrawal failure) will be given. Classes dropped without notifying the office will be given a grade of "F" (failure).

Students are urged to notify the registrar's office concerning their addresses as quickly as possible, Mrs. Woods said.

Nightly Canteen Set Up In Gym

The Recreation Club is sponsoring for the Student Government Association a Recreation Canteen. This canteen takes place in the Gym and is open at 6:30 p.m. Monday through Friday nights.

Dancing, community singing, ping pong, shuffleboard, bridge, chatting and getting acquainted are included in the nightly programs. Students from the Recreation Club are supervising the canteen.

Men and women students from all classes and departments are invited to attend.

SGA Passes Dance Rules

A set of rules regulating dances at RPI was approved by the Student Government Association at a meeting held September 28.

The new regulations which will go into effect immediately were submitted to the SGA by Baxter Duffy, president, from a committee composed of Mrs. Buchy, official SGA hostess; Dr. Johnson, dean of women; and Mr. Gordon, counselor of men. The SGA voted full support. (Continued on p. 3)

The newly organized RPI Alumni Association will hold its first Homecoming celebration October 20-21 on the college campus, a bulletin issued last week by the Association revealed today. Students who are members of the "Booster Club", undergraduate organization to promote the alumni group, will be extended invitations.

Highlight of the Homecoming activities will be a banquet-dance at the Hotel Richmond winter garden. The affair, which is informal, will be open to all alumni who purchase tickets and to student members of the Boosters Club.

In addition to the dinner-dance, the alumni plan a general registration in the ad building on October 20, a reception at the Dean's home that afternoon, and a variety program in the gymnasium that evening. On Saturday, October 21, the group will convene for a business meeting at which the new executive committee will be installed. After the (Continued on p. 2)

Brooks Traweck Named President Of German Club

Brooks Traweck was elected president of the RPI German Club at a special meeting held September 25 by the old members.

Other officers elected were: vice president, Joe Geheris; secretary, Phil Pafford; treasurer, Charley Wood; SGA representative, Dalton Baugess; business manager, Drury Lyle; assistant business manager, Jim Tenser; and historian, Kenneth Lyell. Mr. Frank Sheldon was re-elected club advisor.

Approximately one hundred students attended a later meeting held in the gymnasium the same night. Mr. John E. Gordon, Dean of Men, addressed the group.

New members are still being accepted into the club, and those men students interested are asked to attend the Monday night meetings. Notices of these meetings will be posted around school.

A Speedy Answer

The recent important move of Chesterfield County Trial Justice John W. Snead, who decided to revoke permits in some reckless driving cases, recalls to mind several wheel-joy drivers at RPI. Justice Snead's decision was based on the theory that reckless drivers who are fined are apt to do a repeat performance, while those who lose their permits will think twice about their driving manners when their permits are restored.

It is a pity that Richmond does not adopt a procedure similar to that of Justice Snead. Should the city adopt such measures, it would not be surprising if there were many used cars for sale from RPI students.

Some of the reckless driving on Shafer Street and in the alleys between Shafer and Park Avenue is certainly of the type toward which Justice Snead's measure is aimed.

The Chesterfield Justice has come up with a speedy answer to reckless driving and it is hoped that no RPI student driving in Chesterfield will speed with their cars and be slowed to a walk because of having lost their driving permit.

Something To Remember

Joe Louis' dismal attempt to come back as heavyweight boxing champion points up a moral we would all do well to remember. The Brown Bomber was the most popular drawing card in the fight world since Jack Dempsey and it is estimated that at one time he possessed more than a million and a half dollars. Louis made a pot full of money, and he spent a pot full.

Louis was forced to return to the ring from retirement after two years because of financial problems. He owed the Government many thousands in back taxes. In the prime of his fistic days when money was coming in hand over fist, Louis should have had the foresight to realize that it couldn't go on forever and taken on better management of his dough. If he had, this tragic anti-climax to his glorious career would not have been written.

The defeat of Joe Louis proves not only that champions don't come back, but also proves that the world's all-time champions are Uncle Sam's income tax men, who are never beaten.

Don't Be Tough On Rats

Now that Rat Week is getting started, we hope all students will refrain from the brutal practice of "hazing". This child-like torture has been absent during all Rat Weeks familiar to us and we urge that the good record continue.

Meanwhile alumni are sending in their ballots to elect officers of the permanent executive committee to be voted upon for the offices of president, vice president, secretary and treasurer.

Up for president are John (Jack) Creasy, '42, a former PROSCRIPT editor and past SGA president. At present he is display manager for a Roanoke department store.

Another presidential candidate is Mrs. Helen Drinker Gannon, '31 the present Executive Secretary of the Henrico County Tuberculosis Association.

For vice-president the group nominated Dabney Darracott, '50; Asa Watkins, '42, and Norman Sisisky, '49. Darracott is now in Washington, D.C. working as an auditor for a dairy firm, Watkins is a New York artist and professor, and Sisisky is in business in Petersburg.

The new secretary will be either Mrs. Mary Jo Stahl Southall, '40, a member of the Richmond chapter and a Homecoming committee, or Miss Elaine Wise of Washington, D.C. a former editor of the annual at RPI.

Edgar Mallory, '43; William G. Sewell, '49, and Raymond Graves, '50 are the nominees for treasurer. Mallory and Graves are from Richmond, while Sewell is employed in Salem.

Dr. Bondy Writes From Germany

Hamburg 13
September 24, 1950

Universitat Hamburg
Psychologisches Institut

Dear Friends:

By now school will be beginning again, and I am really sorry not to be with all of you. About two months ago, a friend of mine came to Hamburg to visit me, and he brought me the Wigwag of the Class of 1950. I at once looked through the book and I was delighted to see so many familiar faces. When I went to close the book, I suddenly found someone sitting on the well-known wall of 901, and then, to my surprise, it was me. If I remember correctly Harry Klatt took this photograph. Afterwards I discovered the dedication.

I have to tell you that I appreciate it very much that you had the Wigwag dedicated to me. There have been times during the last months when I thought that you all had forgotten me, but then I remembered that Americans are not much on letter writing (please, no generalizations!) Seriously, I was most grateful for this gesture in the Wigwag, because it is another sign for me that my years in Richmond were not in vain and that I have still many friends there.

I hope that the connection between Hamburg and Richmond will not stop. And I would like you to know that we have plans for making an exhibition of art work from RPI at the Amerika Haus here. (Thus far, this is only an idea in the minds of Frank Hardesty and me.)

As the dedication is from all of the students of the Richmond Professional Institute of the College of William and Mary, I want to thank the staff of the Wigwag and all the students very much.

Best wishes for the new semester from me and also from Anne and Frank Hardesty, who are both working with me at the University of Hamburg.

Cordially yours,

c- Any student or guest abusing his privileges at a dance will be reported by the chaperones on special report slips which will be provided. Two members of the faculty present at a dance are required to witness a breach of conduct by their signatures on the report slip before a student will be considered delinquent. Summer Jobs, Manual Required Of DE Majors

Distributive Education majors, applying for degrees, are required to spend at least eight weeks in summer placement positions provided for them by the Distributive Education department, according to Mr. Robert D. Joy, of the department.

After this training, the student must complete a manual about his work, mixing his practical and technical experience.

This summer, Distributive Education majors from RPI were placed in stores from Minnesota to Florida, and from Virginia to Kansas, selling everything from the latest fashions to boxwoods.

Theresa Pollak On Leave For Private Art Work

By Mindel Chovitz

Miss Theresa Pollak, head of the Fine Art Department of RPI has again won honors for her work.

Miss Pollak, who is now on her year's leave of absence to do creative work, has had her paintings chosen by the art students of Mary Baldwin College. These students are holding an auction at which they will sell their own work in order to buy a painting from an established Virginia artist. The decision to buy Miss Pollak's work was brought about by voting. Mr. Ned Archer, another Richmond artist who teaches at the Cocoman Gallery in Washington, won second place.

"From My Studio Window", the canvas which decided the vote is an oil painting which has been exhibited at the Virginia Museum.

Miss Pollak is now at Mary Baldwin with a one-man show and from this the students will decide which canvas to buy for the college's permanent collection. She will exhibit 12 oil paintings and 15 drawings. The exhibit began Saturday September 23 and will continue through October 22. It will be closed October 10, 11, and 12.

Miss Pollak is well known to the students of RPI. She began teaching here in 1928 as a part-time art instructor and became a full-time professor of Art in 1935. She is largely responsible for all the improvements in equipment and facilities with which the art students now work.

Miss Pollak is a member of the Epsilon Chapter, Phi Beta Kappa Honor Fraternity and is listed in Who's Who in American Art, Leading Women of America, Prominent Women in Virginia and Who's Who in Virginia.

Miss Pollak will return to RPI in September of 1951 to resume her duties as Faculty Chairman of the School of Art and Head of the Fine Art Department.

The Sports Go Round

The Fate of The Devils

While athletic staffs in a number of the major schools are trying to explain the "why and wherefores" of an already hectic football season, Coach Edward Allen is faced with the RPI standing problem of manshortage.

The big athletic staffs, stubborn as they are, may never explain the funny bounces of the football. Still, they keep plugging. Allen has taken an identical stand on behalf of the Green.

For two seasons the soccer team has been under-manned. The 1950 version is short on personnel with the opening game against Duke University only two weeks off.

The Green Devils were expecting incoming Frosh to alleviate the drought. Thus far the class of '54 has done little to bulge the rank of the Green.

On hand to start the current season are seven lettermen from last year's hapless club. Not a single man of the seven played soccer before coming to RPI. They have taken their knocks from several of the south's top soccer teams -- but make no mistake -- brief though they may be, the Green Devils have experienced moments of glory and 1950 could be the best of their three years provided they aren't forced to face Duke, UNC, N.C. State, W H L, and Virginia with a skeleton crew.

Student Golf Rates

Faculty members and students (men and women) may play golf at the Glenwood Course at a reduced rate according to the Athletic Office. The reduction in rates will be determined by the number taking advantage of the offer. Tickets, available in Ad. 313, will be on a monthly basis and are valid anytime except weekends and holidays.

Short Shots

Coach Ludwig, headman of soccer at Charlottesville, has 50 men in camp.....Charlie Johnson, originally feared to be lost this season, is practicing with the team....Bill Smith's long range punts will again be the Devils' prize defensive weapon.

SPORTS

Femme Sports Feature

By Jean Howeth

Hi you-all! The gals have begun their hockey practice with the clash of sticks, new equipment, and a relatively small team.

What's the matter with you people? Exert a little school spirit and make your appearance on the hockey field. See Miss Chapman about the time and place of hockey practice as she will be more than willing to assist you.

It will give you roses in your cheeks, spirit in your soul, and bruises on your knees. Whoops, wrong approach. Settling down to a more serious mood though, the WAA needs more sport participants. The girls sports at RPI have never had cause to feel ashamed of their record. Let's not begin now.

The fall schedule of hockey opens with Bridgewater, Va. on Oct. 14. At the present it is too early in the game to make any promising predictions.

Some of the girls who played last season will be with us again. They are: Connie Grumbles, Patsy Anderson, Margaret Johnson, Virginia Smith, who is manager of the team, Grace Dorey and Gwen Ginn, who will be remembered as Gwen Waller. Incidentally, these last two young ladies spent a week at the hockey school in Mt. Pocono, Pa. Miss Constance Applebee was the instructor.

Nothing definite as yet, but our girls are trying to arrange a game with William and Mary for our homecoming on Oct. 21. As soon as we hear from them, I'll let you know the outcome.

FLASH!!! Seems as though a few more femmes have made their appearance on the hockey field. They say it's bad journalist style to beg for something so I'll get off of my knees and leave it up to you.

However, if you can't give any physical support to the worthy cause (aren't they all?) of a better sports team, moral support would be recognized and welcomed. A few rousing cheers are an incentive to any team to "do or die".

Did you girls know that each of you becomes a member of the Woman's Athletic Association when you enroll at RPI? Do you know what that makes you? Responsible for the outcome of girls sports. So if you have a guilty conscience, don't blame me, I warned ya!

Old Dominion Grid Review

By Charlie Decker

The first two weeks of the 1950 football season is already dotted with its major upsets. Michigan's defeat at the hands of Michigan State and Mississippi State's victory over Tennessee rates as the number one upsets thus far. Michigan and Tennessee were rated two-three in most pre-season polls, with Notre Dame unanimously receiving the number one position. However, even the Irish had a close call in edging North Carolina 14 to 7.

In the Old Dominion, which "we all" are primarily concerned, many a Virginia rooster was shocked at William & Mary's defeat by V.M.I., 20 - 19. Then, with the Keydet's stock piling up, they promptly lost to George Washington. Scores Sept. 30

Coach Ed Allen stated today not only would the Green Devil Soccer squad use McGuire Field for practice but also for home games. The Devils began practicing there Monday.

Allen is laying plans for the Devil squad around co-captains, Clyde Harding and Joe Francis, along with Bill Smith, Ronald Feaster, Roscoe Porter and Wally Burroughs -- all lettermen back from last year.

Among the newcomers to report for practice are Bill Pritchett, Jimmy Dillon, William Shotwell, Joe Geheris, Robert Kempton, Stan Bregman, Dewey Lovelace and Tommy Turman.

When asked how the team was progressing in practice coach Allen remarked, "fine with what we have, but we need quite a few more players with or without experience. Boys who have never played or seen soccer played are welcome to come out, because soccer is in its infant stage at RPI and nobody is an expert at it yet".

Soccer Begins Third Season This Month

When Coach Ed Allen sends the Green Devil soccer aggregation against Duke University this month, chapter three in RPI's newest sport will be in the making.

The Devils christened soccer at RPI two seasons ago under the tutelage of Mr. Loeb, a former world's soccer star, and Robert Reese, former Devil coach.

Soccer is the original, undiluted form of football and has become so internationally adopted that the statement is made, "The sun never sets on the game of soccer."

Soccer is Europe's national game with England in the past sporting the world's best in soccer. Compared to the support fans give soccer in England, our football classics of the year are far behind in gate receipts. In 1937, 149,547 soccer fans passed through the turnstiles to watch England match talent with Scotland and again in 1944, 93,000 looked on as Scotland took a pounding at the hands of the English eleven.

The success of soccer as an American sport received a shot in the arm last month when the American squad downed England's best 1 to 0 in Rio de Janeiro last month.

Constitution and the organization and operation of each of them. Printed copies of both will be given to the freshmen and they are expected to be familiar with them," he said. "This is the only way in which they can understand the SGA and the Honor Council," he concluded.
