

Meeting Called Wednesday For February Graduates

A meeting to discuss graduation plans for the February graduates will be held next Wednesday, October 25, in the Rear Library at five o'clock.

At a meeting last Thursday Dr. Johnson agreed to be the class faculty advisor and Ralph Nagler was appointed committee chairman.

The following were chosen to serve on the committee: Junie Latimer, treasurer; Virginia Eubank, secretary; Barbara Allen, art work; Dot Lewis and Bill Davis, publicity.

The February graduates are requested to pay Latimer the 25 cents dues fee, which will cover correspondence and other miscellaneous expenses.

Business School Aids Students Seeking Jobs

Students desiring to earn extra money to assist in school expenses or for Christmas spending should get in touch with Mr. Richard Carlson, acting head of the Business department.

Mr. Carlson is not running an employment agency; however, he does have a list of eight or more part time positions and several full time positions, available in Richmond.

Prize Offered To Students For Colonial Period Essay

Again this year, the Virginia Society of Colonial Dames is offering a prize to students of accredited Virginia colleges for the best essay pertaining to the colonial period.

"Although James Madison is not of the early colonial period, next spring will be the 200th anniversary of his birth. As he contributed so much to the formation of our government, the board asks, that for this year the essays be written on him or some phase of his career.", announced Lucy N. Talliaferro, chairman of the essay committee, VSCD.

SGA Floor Committee Is Praised

The fact that the SGA Floor Committee is functioning effectively was brought out at the SGA meeting held Wednesday, October 11.

Reporting on the outcome of the Newman Club dance held in the Gym recently, Carson Overton, spokesman for the group stated: "We, of the Newman Club, are quite proud of the response which we received from the student body. The students conducted themselves in a manner to be highly commended and helped to make the dance a success from every angle."

Commenting further on Overton's report, Baxter Duffy, SGA president, added: "The dance was perhaps not the largest one ever held in the Gym but it was one of the most excellently conducted. I wish to congratulate the organization's Committee on the planning and smooth co-ordination with which the dance was carried out."

Members of the Floor Committee who served at the senior class dance last Saturday night were Dalton Burgess, Anne Huffman, Ed Kelly, Katherine Keith and Bette Quillan.

The amount of the prize is $200 and the title of the essay is "James Madison: Father of the Constitution."

It should be between 2500 and 4000 words' typed on one side only of regulation size paper, and must be bound in a folder.

All quotations and references should be mentioned in footnotes and a list of books from which material was used, must be appended.

Neatness, accuracy and punctuation will be considered in making the award.

Questions By Councilmen Leave Frosh Bewildered As Rat Week Progresses

"Who is the dean of women," Miss Rat?

She didn't know the answer so Miss Rat had to appear before the Rat Court and pay for her lack of intelligence.

Rat Week has been in full swing this week with the councilmen for Rat Week "sticking" the frosh for everything in the book. Ask any freshman who to stay away from, and they will tell you the students with the green bands around their arms.

The little nothings, the Rats that is, can be seen running all over the campus sporting beanies, carrying matches and desolate faces that even their mothers would not know, catering to the slightest whims of upper classmen. To say that they were frightened would be a gross understatement They look petrified.

Last Thursday a councilman (the man with the green band) was talking to a Rat concerning the location of the fuse box for the switchboard. The Rat, being the alert scholar that she was didn't know. The councilman promptly summoned her to appear before Rat Court on the charge "Lack of observation."

And so it goes. The Rats suffer, are caught, appear in court, and suffer some more.

SOCCER WILL CONTINUE

The soccer team will operate as an independent club without financial aid from the college. This development came after the Athletic Council was forced to cut the budget due to high cost and lack of student interest.

WAA POINT REVISION

The Women's Athletic Association council has proposed a revision of the point system for awarding varsity and intra-mural letters.

Registration of more than 100 RPI alumni is scheduled to begin this afternoon in the Ad. Building for the first Homecoming sponsored by the college. This is the first step in a week end of festivities to be climaxed by an informal dinner-dance tomorrow night at the Hotel Richmond Winter Garden.

The registration procedure, to be handled by Clyde Wiltshire, '50, will begin at 3 P.M. Alumni will be directed to the headquarters by signs and student guides. From 4 to 7 P.M. Dean and Mrs. Henry H. Hibbs will honor the alumni with an informal reception at their home.

A variety show will be held in the gym beginning at 8 P.M. The first portion of the show will be a surprise skit. For the second part a minstrel show sponsored last year by the RPI German Club will be presented.

Tomorrow morning the Association will hold its first general business meeting. The new officers of the group will be announced and installed then. Installation of the new executive committee will be made by Bailey L. Condrey, '50, temporary president of the association, who will present a new gavel to the incoming leader.

At the business meeting the association is expected to approve the charter drawn up by the Class of 1950 last spring. Clements Darracott is general chairman of Homecoming.

After the business meeting alumni will be given an opportunity to "re-discover" the RPI campus through student tours of buildings and grounds. During the afternoon most dormitories will observe "open-house" for the guests with tea being served at Founders Hall.

The week end will be climaxed by an informal dinner-dance at the Hotel Richmond Winter Garden beginning at 7 P.M. Reservations for this event may be made up to 7 P.M. tonight by contacting

Alumi Homecoming

This week-end at RPI is turned over to the Alumni Association for their first homecoming festivities. Included in the agenda is a business meeting and various entertainment activities climaxed by a dinner-dance Saturday night at the Richmond Hotel winter garden.

Certainly the list of activities is great enough to attract alumni. We hope a large turnout is present.

The Alumni Association is one of the most refreshing student activities that has come to RPI in many years. It has always seemed a sore spot in the past that we did not have an organization for graduated students. It also seemed to reflect a lack of college spirit, which is far from true.

This first homecoming will be the beginning of a long and profitable career for both undergraduate and graduate students alike, as well as the college. Let's hope it's a big success.

High Cost Hit Soccer

RPI's sports-minded students are to be commended in their loyal action to uphold soccer as an inter-collegiate sport after high cost forced the college to withdraw financial support. The soccer team, and other students interested in seeing the game continued, announced that they will carry on the game from private donations.

The question arises as to where must blame be placed for soccer's loss of financial aid. The blame cannot be leveled at any one person. Soccer was a victim of high cost.

The Athletic Council made the decision, but we feel it was a difficult decision. The realization that RPI must withdraw its financial support was undoubtedly as saddening to the Council as it was to all other sportsmen. The Council is not to blame, nor is the soccer team. If blame must be placed anywhere it can only go to the students who failed to support the team.

We hope that the students who have pledged financial aid can keep the game alive, but the lack of outside backing may give them a rough time. However, they have our support and we feel they will succeed.

Don't Miss Getting Shot

A mass shooting of students will begin here next week. Men will invade the campus and drape themselves under black robes behind their shooting machines. And students will come, too. They will sit quietly and gaze at a corner of the room while the machine is aimed at them. Several hundred students will be on the firing line. One by one they will come to gaze at a corner. And "bang, bang" the machines will shoot them.

Sounds strange, doesn't it? Well, yes, it is, in a way. It's not strange that students come to be shot. It's odd-very odd, indeed-that they don't. It doesn't hurt. Not at all. In fact it's rather pleasant. The after effects will be pleasant, too. And so many in the past have missed it all.

Results of the shooting will be recored in the Wigwag-or whatever the new name of the annual will be. If everybody at RPI were shot we'd have a better yearbook. There would be more pictures to put in it, which would mean more pages and a bigger book. So, do your part and don't miss getting shot. See you on the firing line.

"The Glass Menagerie"

To Open Drama Season

Rehearsals are underway for "The Glass Menagerie", the School of Dramatic Art's first major production of the season, to be presented November 9, 10 and 11 at the Gymnasium Playhouse.

The play is scheduled to follow the showing of the current film, "The Glass Menagerie", starring Gertrude Lawrence and Jane Wyman.

Arena style staging is planned for this production. Although the play has not been done too frequently in the round, it has a psychological appeal that is well suited to this type of staging, according to Director Raymond Hodges.

Vivian Trestman and Ann Graves will play the leading roles of the mother and her cripple, apathetic daughter. Wamer Callahan will be seen as the son and Peter Prodan as the caller. All are veterans of the RPI stage, with the exception of Prodan, who is a graduate student from U.C.L.A.

marriage of her daughter Martha Jane, to Richard M. Newton, son of Dr. and Mrs. Maury Newton of Narrows, Va., August 5, 1950.

Mrs. Newton is a freshman at RPI. Mr. Newton is a freshman at MCY.

Miss Trestman and Callahan have had professional experience at Green Mountain Playhouse in Middlebury, Vermont.

Members of the technical staff announced this week are: Don Hermes, assistant director; Mr. Robert Watkins, set designer; Miss Phyllis Kendall, costume designer; and Mr. Ross Miller, technical director.

The major productions for the remainder of the year have been scheduled by Mr. Hodges. "The Madwoman of Chailot" is set for December 7, 8 and 9. Three original one-act plays, entitled "Triplet", will be seen on February 22, 23 and 24. The school will also present Euripides' "Electra" on March 22, 23 and 24 and Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew" on May 3, 4 and 5.

Editor: The Proscript

We have received a clipping from a recent Proscript concerning our work here in Germany. Please be assured that we greatly appreciate the fact that you have taken note of it. However, as we presume that this information was taken from the local newspaper, we find that the same errors were repeated as they appeared in the Richmond News Leader.

We would appreciate it, therefore, if you would note the following-

We are both working at the University of Hamburg (not Heidelberg) under Professor Curt Bondy. Mr. Hardesty is doing the art work on an adaptation of the Wechsler-Bellevue Intelligence adolescent psychology now in progress. In addition to this, he is research assistant for a study of the attitudes of German youth.

I am, as the article indicated, instructor in Test and Measurements, and I am supervising the adaptation of American testing methods for German use.

We find our work and the people interesting and absorbing, but none the less we miss our friends (both students and faculty) at RPI very much. Our best wishes to everyone.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Anne S. Hardesty

As president of the S.G.A. I would like to commend the student organizations for their participation in social functions thus far this year. The only dances held to date in the Gym have been conducted in an excellent manner. They in themselves are marking the progress of student affairs, of which our student body are in dire need.

I would like also to take this opportunity to give special commendation to Miss Fzye Robinson for the work she carried on in the Student Canteen during its existence, for more than fulfilled my greatest expectations in acquainting our students with one another.

Each student is either making progress or standing still. When bottle-necks occur, often it is the person on top who is the cause. In this case that person would be me. From my close perspective I do not always perceive the bottle-necks as they occur, while the students can detect them rather easily. I will appreciate the student body pointing them out to me so that their inevitable progress might be rapidly realized.

Rat Cap Not For Shepard

Mr. Volney Shepard is probably the one person at RPI who has never been a "rat".

The Director of the School of Music, who also holds three degrees from the same number of colleges was never classified as a freshman.

It happened thus: When Mr. Shepard entered his first college, Oregon State, he was rated as a junior because of his outstanding pre-college work in music. Upon his graduation, he was awarded a diploma.

The next step was Washington State University where he again entered as a junior. Graduation from that institution produced a B.A. degree. Then Mr. Shepard attended the Chicago Musical College as a special music student. After studying at the college for one year, he was awarded his B.M. and M.M. degrees.

The director likes rats though, even if he can't put himself in their caps.

Freshman Vote On Constitution

The freshman class constitution has been drawn up and is being voted on by petition vote, according to Stan Bregman, sponsor of the class.

Ratification of the petition will be held on October 19, at which time a deadline will be set for the nomination of class officers. The election of officers is set for three weeks following the date of the nomination deadline.

Obie Overton was named chairman of the committee drawing up the constitution.

Four years ago the first World War II Veteran enrolled at RPI.

New Chemistry Course Added To Curriculum

A practical course in industrial chemistry has been added to the curriculum at RPI.

The course, being taught by Mr. John E. Gordan, is designed to prepare chemistry and business majors for jobs in the chemical industry. Chemistry majors will be prepared for jobs as chemists in plants manufacturing chemicals in large quantities. Business majors will view the course from the management end of the industry.

The classes are operated on a seminar basis and are supplemented by a series of seven field trips to chemical plants in and around the city.

School Disbands Soccer Due To Budget Cut

SPORTS

The Sports Go Round

By Jim Fisher

Soccer's Short Short Story

The Green Devils' third soccer try got as far as having the team picture made when the club was informed that RPI had marked soccer off the 1950 athletic agenda.

The booters, dressed to the hilt for photographers, were engaged in shop talk and good natured ribbing only a couple of minutes before being jolted by Coach Allen's announcement that a budget cut had made it impossible to continue the sport.

Allen's brief announcement needed no elaboration. It was an unavoidable letdown for 20 teammates who had worked hard for three weeks and were all hopped-up over this week's opening contests against Duke and UNC.

How they would have fared against Duke, UNC, and the overall season's play will go unanswered. Chances are favorable, that despite a back-breaking schedule, they would have brought RPI its first soccer triumph since the latter stages of the '48 season.

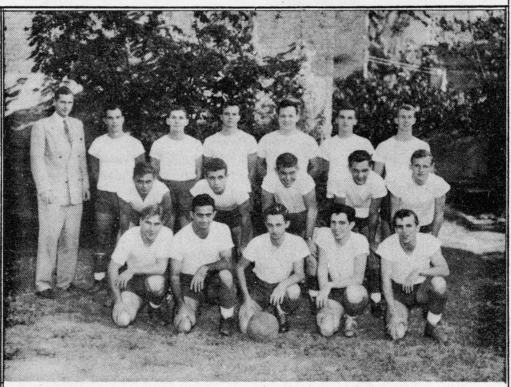

Allen was confident that they could hold their own against the schedule, regardless of the overwhelming experience edge in favor of their opponents.

Thirteen members of the team were playing for the first time. The other seven had two seasons or less experience under their belts. The squad was under par in experience but they had the makings of a good ball club. They were overstocked with athletic's most valuable qualities: confidence, spirit, determination, and sportsmanship.

From the won and lost viewpoint, the basketball and baseball versions of the Green Devils have outdone soccer but it will be profitable for them to remember the qualities of the shortlived Soccermen of '50

RPI's first Pep Rally of 1950 had one of the largest turnouts that there has ever been on the Devil campus.

The sendoff given the Soccer team for its two day visit into North Carolina was quite impressive.

Second Row: Gip Richardson, Joe Gehris, Avery Thomas, Leo Novak and Jimmy Dillon.

To The Students Old Dominion Grid Review

On October 13, the Athletic Council announced that the 1950 RPI soccer schedule was cancelled. There are several reasons for this action which was taken after long debate and serious consideration.

The total enrollment at RPI has gone down compared with last year. Because of this, the Athletic budget (as well as other departmental budgets) had to be reduced. This necessitated cutting down on intercollegiate events scheduled for men. The Council decided to eliminate soccer entirely because of the few people (players and spectators) involved in this sport.

Basketball and baseball schedules also were cut, but not eliminated because the majority of school spectator interest lies in these two sports.

We, of the Athletic Council sincerely hope that the students of RPI will understand why this action was taken and that they will give their full support to the other intercollegiate athletic events.

Team Informed of Decision Six Days Before Opener

RPI's infant athletic program took a hurting blow last Friday when the Athletic Council announced that a cut in the school's athletic budget would make it impossible to field a soccer team for the 1950 season.

Coach Edward Allen informed the squad of the action only several minutes after they had posed for team pictures. Allen made the statement with regret but in face of the budget cut the decision was unavoidable.

The Athletic Council and Administration had thoroughly studied the problem, trying vainly to cut corners and keep soccer on the program. The team was scheduled to embark on its opening games of the season this week against Duke and UNC.

Coach Allen explained that because student interest is centered mainly on basketball and baseball the council had no choice but to curb spending on soccer in order to stay within budget limitations.

This season would have marked the third season in collegiate soccer for RPI. Starting from scratch in 1948 the Green Devils compiled a 2-4 record. Still in the early stages of building, the '49 contingent went winless but they gained invaluable experience from playing a schedule anchored by the top ranking soccer elevens in the south.

Team Will Play
According to a late announcement squadmates of the 1950 soccer team have decided to play out the seven game schedule as originally planned.
The team met Friday night with SGA officials and it was decided for the team to operate as an independent club. The Athletic Council has given permission for the team to use school equipment.
The team was scheduled to open the season this week against Duke and UNC.

Revision Of Point System Proposed By Women' Athletic Association

Femme Sports Feature

By Jay Howeth

Grant can take a back seat, the Richmond Colonels have won again. Well, a hockey game at any rate! RPI was defeated Saturday by a score of 8 to 1. The 1 being contributed by Gwenn Ginn.

But chin-up! The latest word from Miss Chapman is that our girls really looked like a hockey team Saturday. They had the spirit, pep, and the know-how. Keep it up girls. It takes more than a winning team to make a good team. Congratulations to "Ginny" Smith the new Hockey Captain. Hope you and the team have the best of luck.

FEMME FEATURETTE—Let's go behind the curtain (and it's not iron) for a glimpse of some hard working gals in the sports field. Today the spot light is on Connie Grumbles (she should, but she doesn't), the hockey manager.

First of all, that honorary title involves a lot of work and responsibility. Connie is in charge of all of the equipment, she has to arrange the hockey games, get the umpires for the game, and have a smiling face as she plays hostess to the visiting teams.

Connie is a junior and from Richmond. Her major is Phys. Ed. She is a very willing and likeable worker. After graduation she hopes to teach school somewhere in Richmond.

In the meantime, she continues to lead the fort down as a "one woman" cheering section. As a matter of fact (and I blush to mention this) she was the only person there to cheer RPI on to greater heights at that Saturday game.

With that happy note we leave our featurette for the week.

The typewriter just won't co-operate so I'd better quit while I'm ahead. Have a happy week-end. Oh yes, hope the boys Soccer team is established once more. Happy hunting fellows!

Virginia Smith Elected Captain Of Hockey Team

Virginia Cabaniss Smith of 1840 West Grace street has been chosen as the captain of the 1950 hockey squad which opened its season the past Saturday.

She is a sophomore majoring in Business and played hockey with the '49 RPI hockey squad. "Virginia has promising talent as a hockey star," remarked Miss Chapman, "and I believe she is going to go a long way in the sport."

Dance Students To Represent RPI In Carnival

The advanced modern dancing class and some students from the folkdance class will dance in an annual carnival to be held at Maury Elementary school, Friday at 8 p.m.

The folkdance group will do three dances. An exhibition ballroom dance will be done by Pat Davenport and Caroline Ganzert from the advanced modern dance class.

Eleanor Roberts, Marilyn Comess, Hazel Reed, Caroline Ganzert, Winnie Edness, Betty Steger, Louise Fulton and Richard Carlyon will do a modern dance number.

A revision of the point system for awarding varsity and intramural letters was proposed by the Woman's Athletic Association council at a meeting Thursday night, October 12.

The present part of the constitution requires a sum of 150 points for each varsity activity to entitle a participant to an award. The revision would change the total number of points for each varsity activity.

To be eligible for a hockey award the player would have to obtain 150 points. Because more games are played in basketball, the total number of points would be changed to 200. In tennis 75 points would be required for an award; however, these tennis points may be changed according to the number of games played.

The total sum of 300 points would be changed to 200 points in three intramural activities to entitle the player to an intramural award. These points may be carried over from one year to another. After the first 200 points have been obtained, the participant would receive an additional award for the next 150 points.

Managers for intramural teams are: Carol Welcher, basketball; Mary Anne Mead, basketball; Jo Anne Verner, badminton; Pat Kestler, ping pong; Alice Nelson, archery; and Nancy McCracken, swimming, if the Mosque pool is available

The Indians are not their usual strong self, what with their plague of injuries and lack of reserves, but the Techmen are still destined for their fourth straight 1950 loss.

W&L to crush Davidson

This is just a warm up for the Generals in preparation for their important battle with powerful Tennessee at Knoxville on Oct. 28.

Virginia to roll over VM

Another Cavalier victory. The Keydets are still smarting from that 52 to 0 pasting inflicted upon them by Texas A&M.

Duke to swamp Richmond

No contest. The Spiders just "ain't got it no more."

Newmans Open Season Of Fellowship

The Newman Club's executive committee has issued an invitation to all Catholic students to attend its meetings. The club meets on the fourth floor of the library building at 8 P.M. every other Wednesday night.

President John Keran has announced the club's activities for the coming year. These include a Saint Patrick's dance, four communion breakfast services, and several discussions pertaining to the Catholic Church and its view on current topics.

The president also reminded all members, both new and prospective, that "while much is accomplished at these meetings they are usually quite brief, so plan to attend and bring a friend."

German Club Plans Meeting

An open meeting of the German Club will be held Monday at 7:30 P.M. in the rear library, Brooks Traweck, club president announced.

"All men interested in joining the club should attend this meeting," Traweck said. He added that "the membership drive will be open until November 6."

Letters, Cigarettes Head List of RPI Treasures

By Mindy Chovitz

FORTUNE and GALLUP have neglected the most important poll of them all: To wit: WHAT DO YOU THINK OF TO SAVE WHEN YOU FIND YOURSELF IN THE MIDDLE OF A FIRE?

This sort of poll was recognized by a reporter when a fire demolished the back stage of the RPI gym.

An alarm was sounded and the women's dormitories surrounding the gym were immediately emptied of their occupants. As I watched these girls I noticed that precious objects were clutched to their

(if you'll pardon the expression) bosoms. Curiosity getting the best of me, I went around asking what these objects were.

Several of the girls had taken stuffed animals given to them by their boyfriends, parents, friends, etc. Some had saved cigarettes, clothes, fur coats, wallets and money.

But the objects that headed the list of valuables were pictures of boyfriends, and letters to and from same (boy friends that is.)

The classical statement of the night, however, was made by one of the freshmen. I asked her what she had thought to save and she said:

"A letter I've just written to my boyfriend and I'm afraid if I leave it in the dorm it will just add fuel to the fire"
