

Contributors

Linda M.C. Abbott is Dean for Student Affairs and Director of Development and Minority Affairs at the California School of Professional Psychology, Fresno.

Linda Jean Carpenter is Professor of Physical Education at Brooklyn College, City University of New York.

Ernest Champion is Assistant Professor of Ethnic Studies at Bowling Green State University, Ohio.

Tony Cortese is Assistant Professor of Sociology at Colorado State University, Fort Collins.

Cecilia E. Dawkins is Associate Professor of Public Health Nursing in the College of Nursing at the University of Illinois at Chicago.

Alice Deck is Assistant Professor of English and Afroamerican Studies at the University of Illinois at Urbana.

Richard Herrnstadt is Professor of English at Iowa State University, Ames.

Kirstin Herzog is an independent scholar in Durham, N.C. She is the author of Women, Ethnics, and Exotics (Knoxville: University of Tennessee Press, 1983).

Linda Buck Myers is a doctoral candidate at the University of Iowa. She is teaching English at Hamline University in St. Paul, Minnesota, and writing a dissertation on Toni Morrison and Alice Walker.

Neil Nakadate is Associate Professor of English at Iowa State University, Ames.

Marco A. Portales is Associate Professor of Literature and Humanities at the University of Houston, Clear Lake, Texas.

Karl J. Reinhardt is Professor of Spanish and Other Languages at the University of Houston, Central Campus, Texas.