sentative, with a total of 116 votes.

A total of 125 votes were cast, and two discrepancies were noted, but Pat Payne, chairman of the board of elections said, "Inasmuch as final tabulations show that there is no question as to the simply minority, the election is declared valid."

The Sophomore elections were held Thursday and Friday May 3 and 4. The incoming sophomore officers will assume their respective duties with the 1951 Fall term.

Junior Class Dues Needed, Feaster Says

All juniors are urged to pay their class dues immediately in order to help finance the junior-senior dance, Ronald Feaster, junior class president has announced.

The dance is scheduled for May 26. Notices will be placed on bulletin boards in the administration building and in the dormitories for people to sign if they plan to go to the dance.

This is being done so that an idea may be gotten as to how many people plan to go, Feaster said.

May 28 Date For Distribution Of '51 Wigwams

Delivery of the 1951 yearbook is expected on May 28, according to Jack Roach, Wigwam editor.

One week has been set aside for the distribution of the books. They will be given out alphabetically in the office adjoining Dr. Johnson's, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Roach said.

Posters announcing the arrival of the Wigwams will be placed on the bulletin boards.

Distribution was planned for the week of May 21 but an unavoidable printing delay forced postponement of the date, Roach added.

The issuing of the yearbook will continue through exam week.

Discipline Committee Formed By New SGA To Handle Misconduct

The first effort of the new administration in SGA is underway now in the form of a Student Disciplinary board, provided for in the constitution, but never established until now.

Under the direction of the SGA council, a Student Disciplinary board has been established to supplement the workings of the honor council and dormitory house councils.

This board will have the authority and right to conduct investigations of any infraction of the college rules other than those handled by the two present disciplinary councils.

According to Drury Lyle, new SGA president, the board will act in such cases as one where student conduct might be unbecoming enough to cast ill light on the school or student body. It will handle all disciplinary problems—misconduct, or misdemeanors—of a student at any time when the character or name of the school is in jeopardy.

Seven voting members will make up the board. The new president of SGA, Drury Lyle, will serve as the board's chairman while the SGA vice-president, Vivian Trestman, will be the secretary.

FIVE MEMBERS NAMED
The remaining five members, chosen from the student body at large by the executive committee, with approval of the SGA council, are: Ann Huffman, Jo Verner, Eleanor Zehmer, Phil Pafford, and Leonard Maiden. The Dean of Students will serve as advisor to the board.

The resolution concerning the activation of the Student Disciplinary board reads as follows:

"Whereas, under the existing authority of the Student Government Association constitution, Article VI, (departmental organizations) Section I, setting forth the possible existence of a Disciplinary board, and;

"Whereas, it is jointly considered necessary and beneficial by the college administration and the executive committee of the student council that a disciplinary board be activated by this council, and;

"Whereas, it is an obligation of this council to act in the best interest of the student body, therefore be it;

Carlyn Director Of Six Groups

The Art Students League appointed Dick Carlyn director of this group at a meeting held May 15. He will take office next September.

Other officers appointed were, Joan Faw, assistant director; Ann Graves, secretary; Jo Dearing, treasurer; and Kitty Cupp, SGA representative.

The league is composed of members of the drama school, fine art, commercial art, fashion illustration, and interior decoration departments. Each group in the league submits a list of students they consider worthy of office. From this list, this year's officers appoints next year's leaders.

May Day Spirit

In spite of inclement weather which upset many plans made for May Day weekend at RPI, the May Day exercises were proclaimed a success and a social function of which RPI can be justly proud.

After much careful planning and hard work, the SGA was forced to call off its street dance on Friday night due to rainy weather. The decision was regrettable but unavoidable. Immediately the SGA got busy and began to revamp their May Day schedule.

After considering the weather on Saturday, it was decided to cancel the plans for the coronation exercises set for Saturday afternoon in Monroe Park and transfer them to the Mosque at the formal dance that night. Students who witnessed the exercises at the dance stated that the crowning of Queen Gerry Wensing after the freshman class figure was most impressive and just as effective, if not more so, than if the exercises had been held in Monroe Park.

The SGA, the freshman class, and all the various departments which cooperated during the week with the May Day committee of the SGA, deserve much credit for the success of this year's May Day. The cooperation of the entire student body in accepting the new plans and entering into the spirit of the events is evidence enough that there is still some school spirit left at RPI.

Note This Time

Cooperation in practice and cooperation in theory are two different things which the students of RPI seem to have found difficult to distinguish.

About a month ago the German club instigated the idea that a new school song was needed for RPI. Students were enthusiastic about the idea, and for a while everyone cheered the suggestion.

The club set up poles to have the students vote on whether or not they wanted a new song. Enough ballots were printed in the PROSCRIPT for everyone.

After two weeks of voting, the total number of votes counted was 244. There are approximately 1400 students that attend RPI. The lack of spirit shown is not to be commended.

If the student body wants an alma mater of its own, it should say so. The poles were set up for that reason, and the German club has worked hard to push the idea through. They are giving awards in the form of a gold cup, and cash. The club is doing it for the student body, and the students in turn should show their cooperation.

Voting has been started again. Now as before, the SGA office will be open to take in the votes. Here is the opportunity to express individual opinions. There is no other way to find out if a new alma mater is wanted.

Every student is urged to go to the poles and vote as soon as possible.

Letter to the Editor:

Pafford Suggests Cooperation

Dear Student body:

As I near the completion of my college career, and having spent my senior year in the service of the Senior class, I wish to leave for you a bit of advice that all members of the graduating class will heartily endorse.

We who are about to graduate salute you! This year at RPI has marked a high mark with the growth of student interest and school spirit. Led and inspired by the energetic class of 1954, enthusiasm and initiative have been most prominent, and promises bigger and better things for the future years at RPI - if you who remain behind so will and declare it.

Many and varied have been the replies from students approached for class dues, committee work, or help in student activities; a great many of which were declinations of these requests. Why bother, you ask - there is not, and never will be, any school spirit at RPI. School spirit, may I impress upon you all, is not born, but made! Your school spirit is present when you put it there. Spirit like life, is what you make it.

So we urge you all from experience to pay your class dues, attend your class meetings, work with your organization and contribute to your school. Your small contributions multiplied by the hundreds of students enrolled, will give impetus to a growing and inspired progress to a bigger and better school. In this way you and RPI, your school and ours, will mature and grow together.

New Courses To Be Given In Business

RPI will initiate an accelerated course in secretarial science next fall, according to Mrs. Donna Hanna, director of the Department of Secretarial Science.

The course, which will consist of skill subjects only, permits high school graduates to prepare for stenographic positions by the end of the school year.

Students having completed the one-year course and desire to pursue the two-year certificate or the four-year degree course, may apply the credits earned in this accelerated course towards that work.

Students who desire may hold part-time secretarial positions while completing the certificate or degree requirements. This is often desirable not only from a financial standpoint, but also because of the valuable experience acquired, Mrs. Hanna said. "These jobs will enable students to earn extra money also," she added.

Mr. Turner attended Randolph Macon college and is now a senior at Virginia Polytechnic Institute where he will receive his degree in engineering in June.

"It amazed us that there were no guns, cells, guards, or fences," Geraldine Wensing and Marigene Geary said after said after returning from the State Farm for Women at Goochland.

The students visited the farm for two weeks ending March 9, as part of their field work in their Penology class.

Miss Wensing said, "It was valuable in that we put the theory that we learned in the classroom into practice."

The superintendent of the farm met the students in Richmond and took them to the farm. While there they were free to tour the grounds and ask questions. They were also allowed to talk freely with the inmates.

Fines Imposed For Absences By German Club

German club members who are absent from three successive meetings will be fined two dollars, according to a constitutional amendment, club president, Phil Pafford, said.

The fine will also be imposed if a total of five meetings are missed during the semester. Payment of the fine must be made before the member will be admitted to club social events, Pafford said.

"Valid and reasonable" excuses presented to the club's Executive committee will allow the member to "cut" that meeting, Pafford added.

While effective immediately, the amendment will not be enforced until the beginning of the 1951-52 school year, Pafford said.

Edwin Schwabe, a special OT student from Ohio, and Joan Cousins, an advanced standing student, will be the first trainees to go. They will work at the institutions during the 1951-52 academic year.

Three Sculpture Pieces Cited In Museum Show

Three sculpture pieces by Virginia Artists exhibit previously. Twice before they have pieces recommended for purchase, in 1943 and 1947.

Artists whose work was cited then was one of Mr. Behl's in 1947 and a piece by one student in 1943, Douglas Deniston.

This year's exhibit represents the largest participation by RPI sculptors. The largest number to enter works in past years was in 1943 when four RPI'ites entered pieces. In the initial year of the exhibition — 1936 — RPI entered one piece.

The current exhibition represents the largest sculpture section ever shown at any Virginia Artist's Biannual. The largest representations in the past exhibits were in 1941 when eight sculptors entered — one from RPI. In 1943, four of the entering twelve sculptors were from RPI, and in 1947 four of seven sculptors were from RPI.

The sculpture department has shown a fast growth since Mr. Behl joined the faculty in 1945. Since that time he has rearranged the department into two sections, one beginning and one advanced. In the past three years, two graduate students have completed their masters thesis in sculpture.

Works for the museum were selected by a jury. The big museum show includes several categories of artistic work. Oil paintings, water colors, prints and drawings, crafts and sculpture are the classifications of work.

In all, 38 of the 111 artists represented, are students, teachers of former students of RPI's School of Art.

Pieces recommended for purchase by the museum are Mr. Abrams "Bird," Mr. Davis' "Snail," and Mr. Behl's "Sardigna."

Cross-City Nines Defeat Devils Twice By 7-3 and 3-2 Margins

Sports Go 'Round

By Charlie Decker

It seems that when our Green Devils gets good pitching, their batting power tends to fail and vice-versa. We are hoping the two will get together in the remaining few games.

Boasting a 3 won, 8 lost record to date, the Devils, nevertheless, have looked impressive in several of their games. Jim Fisher for the second straight year is experiencing a successful batting season. In the pitching department, Bill Hatchett and Butch Sadler have pitched several commendable games. Charlie Robbins, who has been nursing an ailing wing may pitch his first start shortly.

Since the very inception of baseball until the present day, the game has become a scientific series of strategies, and the caliber of players of today must possess a capacity for playing baseball never dreamed of in the early days.

A typical professional baseball player at that time probably had no more than a grammar school education. A college graduate performer was indeed unusual.

A look at the average major league player of today reveals that he has at least one year of college.

A few of the many college graduates in the majors today include Alvin Dark of the New York Giants, a graduate of LSU. Bobby Brown, utility infielder for the New York Yankees has an M.D. degree from Tulane. Jim Konstanty, ace reliever for the Philadelphia Phillies, once was a teaching professor at Syracuse.

University of Richmond Frosh, Medical College of Virginia Nine Are Victors Over Green Devils

The Green Devils were caught in the middle the past week by two cross-city rivals. On May 10 they lost to the University of Richmond Freshman nine and on the 12th the Medical College of Virginia diamond team downed the locals. The Devils had won over both teams earlier in the season.

On Thursday, May 10, the University of Richmond Frosh unleashed a six-run eighth inning rally against the Devils at Parker Field which literally tore apart a beautiful piece of mound work by RPI's Butch Sadler.

Going into the top-half of the eighth Sadler had faced only 23 Richmond batters—two over par—for the first seven innings, but a trio of free tickets, a Devil infield miscue, and a three-run triple by the Frosh proved to be his and the Devils undoing.

George Hogg, Richmond hurler, was far from lient with base hits limiting six Devils to a single hit apiece. Hogg walked five and fanned eight Devil batters in claiming his first victory of the season.

Ronnie Holmes, Spider key-stone man, led the day's hitters with a pair of singles and a triple for four times at bat. It was Holmes' triple in the eighth that put the game on ice for the Richmond nine scoring the winning run along with two more.

RPI's Bill Stacia and Richmond's Rus Blankenship homered. Stacia's came in the third followed by Blankenship's in the fourth stanza.

The Devils were credited with three twin-killings for the day. A pair by Bob Tester, Bill Smith, and Paul Mergler, and one by Sadler, Smith and Mergler.

The game's final score was Richmond 7 and RPI 3.

MCV DOWNS DEVILS 3 TO 2
With only one day's rest,

the Devils tangled with the Medical College of Virginia on the Shockoe diamond and came out on the small end of a 3 to 2 final score.

The Medicos jumped the Devils for two runs in the opening inning on a double, triple, single and a Devil miscue. The victors scored again in the seventh to assure starter Bob Anderson of his first victory of the season.

The Devils narrowed the margin in the eighth frame scoring two runs on a MCV error, a single and Bill Stacia's double to center field. Anderson had limited the Devils to three singles in the first seven innings.

Jim Fisher went the route for the Devils giving up eight hits, two walks and fanned three MCV stickmen.

The Devils were credited with a pair of double plays. One by Bill Smith and Ed McCauley and one by Bob Tester, Wesley Waters, and McCauley.

The big hitter of the day was Babe Deputy who accounted for three of the Medicos' eight hits. Deputy had a pair of singles and a triple for four trips to the plate.

Annual Play Day To Be May 22 At Williamsburg

William and Mary, Norfolk division and RPI will participate in the annual Play Day scheduled for next Tuesday on the Williamsburg campus.

William and Mary college will act as hostess to the two divisions.

Tennis, archery and softball are to be the main events. The principle purpose of the Play Day is "just to get the divisions to know each other better," said Miss Frances Chapman, RPI teacher of physical education.

RPI's regular tennis team will meet the other colleges in matches.

Archery players, to represent RPI at the event, will be the three highest scorers in current archery intramurals.

Since RPI has no regular softball team, a group of players will be composed to take part in the Play Day.

Swim Meet To Wind Up Intramurals

To wind up the '50-'51 intramurals at RPI, a swim meet will be held at the YWCA pool next Wednesday, May 23.

The one-hour event is scheduled to begin at 4:30, according to Miss Frances Chapman, teacher in physical education.

Girl's dorm and day students' teams will meet in two relays --the 60-yard medley and the 80-yard freestyle.

Individual team representative may participate in the 20-yard freestyle, back stroke or breast stroke events.

Diving may be included in the intramural meet if possible.

The winning team will be the one accumulating the most points in relays.

Individual winners will also be ranked according to points.

WAA TO HANDLE BOOKS

The Women's Athletic association will sell second-hand books next fall.

A ten percent charge will be set for selling books for students.

An office in the gym building on the first floor will be available for the selling.
