

Contributors

CHARLES C. IRBY was the editor of NAES Publications until his death in June of 1987 and was the former chair of the Ethnic and Women's Studies Department at California State Polytechnic University.

LILLIAN H. JONES is the acting chair of the Ethnic and Women's Studies Department at California State Polytechnic University where she teaches courses in racism and sexism.

SUSAN MAE PAULY is a PhD candidate in American Culture at Bowling Green State University where she is a Teaching Fellow in the Department of Ethnic Studies. She is a published poet and author of short fiction and has produced two documentaries on cultural diversity in education.

ROBERT L. PERRY is chair of the Department of Ethnic Studies at Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, Ohio. He has published articles on black studies and general ethnic studies.

OTIS L. SCOTT, professor of Ethnic Studies and Government at California State University, Sacramento, is the Coordinator of the Ethnic Studies Center on campus.

JESSE M. VAZQUEZ is an associate professor in the Graduate Counselor Education Program at Queens College/CUNY and director of the Puerto Rican Studies Program.