Junior Class Election Is Tied; Runoff Today

Tom Dewitt and Charlie Seward today continued their quest for next year's junior class presidency after tying for the office at the polls yesterday.

The junior class offices of vice president, secretary, treasurer, and SGA representative were uncontested. The four candidates for those posts won automatically.

Seward and Dewitt each received 39 of the 78 ballots cast during the election which was scheduled to run from Monday through Wednesday. The election booth was open again from 9-12 this morning to break the deadlock but the final results were received too late to include in this edition.

Voting during the first three days was light but very close. Monday's balloting ended in a 12-12 tie to set the pace for the remainder of the election.

Seward gained a three vote lead Tuesday when he received sixteen votes to Dewitt's thirteen. But the ballots polled yesterday gave Dewitt fourteen votes to Seward's eleven, thus ending in a 39-39 tie.

A tense moment came while the ballots were being counted because of some confusing marks. On one of the ballots, Seward's name had been both underlined and marked through. If the vote was meant for Seward, it would have won him the office.

However, because the name had been heavily marked through, SGA elections committee chairman Micki Mackey declared the vote for Dewitt and pronounced the election a tie.

The deadlock occurred because both candidates were extremely popular on campus and because they both waged intensive campaigns throughout last week.

Despite the active campaigning done, voting was much less than had been anticipated. The 78 students who cast ballots during the first three days of the election represent less than one third of approximately 300 members of the sophomore class.

"It's not at all fair that so few people control these elections," said Micki Mackey after the polls closed yesterday. "Voting during the SGA elections was bad enough," she said, "But for a class not to support two qualified candidates is even worse."

Pat Joyce, a member of the SGA elections committee, said, "It's a shame that not only members of the sophomore class, but members of the student body as a whole, do not realize their responsibility to vote."

Both candidates for the office have been very active in school affairs. Dewitt, a twenty-year-old retailing major from Arlington, was SGA representative during his freshman year. He was also elected president of the sophomore class but resigned from that office early last fall.

Seward, a twenty-year-old business major from Surry, is a transfer student from Duke University. While at Duke, he was elected to (See ELECTION, Page 3)

Students To Give Senior Recital Here Tonight And Saturday

The RPI School of Music will present the seventeenth and eighteenth recitals of the season this weekend, with fourteen left to go.

Tonight at 8:30 in the Shafer street Playhouse, David Moore, Baritone, will give his senior recital. His selections will range from Handel, Mendelssohn, Beethoven and Debussy to lesser-known composers such as Torelli and Respighi.

Saturday, April 27, Janet Smith, soprano, will sing, accompanied by Shirley Hardy. Miss Smith will sing five Purcell pieces, and, with a decided Latin slant, music by Verdi, Debussy, Ravel, Villalobos, De Falla, Granados, Buzzi-Peccia, and others.

Miss Smith's concert will also be at 8:30 in the Playhouse.

Cotillion's Final Dance Saturday

The final Cotillion Club dance for the year will be held on April 27, 8:30-12:30 p. m., at the William Byrd Hotel.

Music will be furnished by the Playboys and the climax of the evening will be a figure executed by the officers of the club and dormitory representatives.

Tickets are $2.00 per couple for non-members wishing to attend the dance. Dance attire is semi-formal.

Variety Show Is Cancelled

The Freshman Class Variety Show has been cancelled. The leaders and directors of the production were informed that the schedule date, April 23, conflicted with various school-sponsored activities surrounding that date.

The class was advised to stop preparations for the show and wait until next year before another attempt is made.

SGA President-Elect

Irving Greenberg Is Man With Ideas

BY BETTY BERYL SCHENK

"Lack of planning and coordination is basically why we don't have as much organized student participation in activities as we should," stated Irv Greenberg, SGA president-elect. "You can't just hand an idea to the administration and expect it to be accepted," he said.

The 22-year-old junior is currently president of 712 dormitory. He was carrying a stack of posters headed, "712 Presents—Dooley's Frolics". "I've been working on this for two months now," he said. "I just don't believe in leaving things until the last minute."

The future SGA leader has already spent considerable time planning projects for next year's SGA. Greenberg explained that he has basic aims concerning improvements around RPI, although his ideas are "still vague."

WANTS NAME BAND

"In the first place, I'd like to see a name band at RPI next year," Greenberg said. "Then maybe we could have two big formal dances and the rest semi-formal."

He feels that RPI should have a student placement bureau for graduating seniors. "There's a lot of potential material around here." He waved an arm vaguely in the direction of the Shop Shop. "If we just had some way to bring it to (See IDEAS, Page 7)

Only 2,000 More To Go

PHILADELPHIA, (AP)—Tellers at the German-town branch of the Western Saving Fund Society won't be troubled with counting nickels deposited by John E. Anderson Jr. any more.

He was arrested by police yesterday and charged with robbing parking meters.

Anderson, 29, turned in $195 in nickels at the saving fund branch last month. He had 2,000 more 5-cent pieces in his room awaiting deposit.

DOOLEY - A Skeleton from the Swamps of Georgia

MR. DOOLEY

Once again the "keeper of the keys to the 'RPI Spirit'" will rise to crusade for more parties, picnics, and play. From his coffin in the basement of 712 he is scheduled to appear April 29 to initiate a week of festivity.

For fifty-two years Dooley has held a prominent position in popularity among the students at Emory University in Atlanta. There Dooley is featured in a week of festivity where he enjoys special privileges not afforded an ordinary student. He is empowered by the dean to dismiss boring classes and extend free "lattes" to the girls. During his brief reign he is guest of honor at a week-end dance and judge of an inter-dorm beauty contest.

The origin of Dooley was quite in keeping with his spirit. In 1905, a series of letters to the editor of the "Emory Wheel," the Emory University weekly newspaper, were published over the name of Dooley. The writer called for more school spirit, a better turn-out at sports events, and more interesting chapel speakers. So persistent were the letters that the Dean sent for Dooley. A check of the registrar's records revealed no student with the name Dooley. Subsequent investigations were unable to disclose the identity of Dooley. He just wasn't there, physically that is. The idea of Dooley was incorporated in the spring dance of that year. The response warranted a repeat theme the following year. In the years that followed Dooley grew in fame and reputation. He appeared on television and even had his picture in the annual. An elaborate coffin was erected in the school's restaurant redecorated in accord with the theme and the name "Dooley's Den" inscribed over the door.

Three years ago Dooley came to RPI where the care-free spirit of the 712 men's dorm reminded him of home. A coffin was fashioned and a storage room in the 712 basement was converted into a tomb. With the arrival of spring—the coffin was moved to the living room. There, before a huge assembled crowd of college officials and students, Dooley arose to usher in the spirit of spring. Dean Johnson gave him the keys to the college and he was off. A tour of the men's dorm was followed by dancing and

TV Cameras Visit Classes

DETROIT, Mich.—(I.P.)—In a new program series, an educational television spectacular, "College Preview," the cameras are currently visiting actual classes in session on the campus of the University of Detroit.

Each week a different class, complete with professor and students, is featured in the "TV Classroom" segment of the daily hour-long "College Preview" program. "College Preview" is seen Monday through Friday, 9:30-10:30 p.m., except Tuesday, when it is telecast in two half-hour segments at 8:30 and 9:30 p.m.

The informal discussion sessions feature Dr. John T. Dempsey of the Political Science department and Pat Cavanaugh of the Physical Education department. Together with Prof. William Kelly-Joyce of the Law School, they are the regulars on the shows. Prof.

Joyce, the marshal of the University, is master of ceremonies.

"College Preview" is designed to provide a rounded picture of college life in and outside of the classroom. In the "Is College for You?" segment seen at 8:30 p.m., Tuesday, three questions vital to the interests of high school students who may go to college were answered.

46% Of School Students Work, Survey Shows

LINCOLN, NEB.—(IP)—A recent survey of 749 of the 879 students on the campus of Nebraska Wesleyan University showed that 52 per cent of the men and 37 per cent of the women, 46 per cent of the students on campus, worked part-time.

Most working students put in about 15 hours a week, although a few work as much as 48 hours. The average wage was slightly under $1 an hour.

On-campus jobs accounted for a sizeable number of the total working students. Slightly over one-fourth of the working students and more than one-third of the coeds are employed by the university.

Miss Kapp Gets Foundation Grant

Miss Mary Kapp, head of RPI's Chemistry Department, has been awarded a National Science Foundation stipend to enable her to participate in the Fourth Chemistry Institute, Rocky Mountain Session, to be held at Montana State College, Bozeman, Montana.

The session is to last five weeks starting July 22. Two hundred and fifty college teachers, some of whom will attend another Institute at the University of North Carolina, will attend the foundation's sessions.

Discussions at both sessions will be concerned with "recent trends and significant advances in various fields of chemistry (organic, analytical, physical, and inorganic).

Our Price To You—$216

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., (AP)—Omar Bacon, public librarian, could afford to be magnanimous about it . . .

The library's copy of "Standard's Lectures" was returned after a "loan" of 36 years.

A friend of the person who borrowed it April 21, 1921, brought it back with the explanation:

"He was too ashamed to return it himself."

Bacon didn't ask for the $216 in overdue charges.

Next, Bacon—Going over a collection bequeathed to the Library—found "The Plays of Euripides." It had been checked out of the Goucher College library in Baltimore in 1928.

Bacon sent it back to Goucher.

Nudist Goes As Map Comes Home With Prize

BY PEGGY WYNDHAM

A costume party highlighted the season recently in a New Jersey nudist camp. One lady with varicose veins won first prize by going to the party as a road map.

When a certain gentleman was informed that he was the father of triplets, he rushed into the hospital and burst into his wife's room. This sudden intrusion without permission made the nurse quite angry.

"You can't come in here covered with germs," she said. "You're not sterile." "You're darned right I'm not!" replied the husband with a sheepish grin.

A teacher at Clive School, Jo Pike, occasionally gives her pupils approximately 30 minutes each day to tell about things which are of interest to them. During "telling time" the other day, a little boy reported: "We just got a new car at our house."

parting with free lates for everyone. Last year the arrival of Dooley was even more spectacular. The original one night dance was expanded to a two-day celebration. Two dances, a picnic, and partying from 712 to Forest Hill climaxed his spectacular return.

Dooley doesn't care for cold weather and during the winter he leaves the students to the fate of the powers that be. Now with the convincing signs of spring, ole Dooley is beginning to stir and will rise to take over. Studying is forbidden, text books outlawed, profs are squares, and it is party—party . . . When Dooley Returns.

A fellow student then commented: "That's nothing. We've had a new car for years now."

Girl answering the telephone for her roommate: "Marie isn't in just now. This is her 110-pound, five-foot-three, blonde, blue-eyed roommate, who isn't doing anything this weekend. Is there any message?"

A lady and her companion, who were taking their first trip in an airplane, met the pilot before the take-off. Turning to him one of the ladies said, "Please don't go faster than sound. My friend and I want to talk."

At Detroit's Redford High School the students have christened one of their drinking fountains "Old Faceful."

During the remodeling of Whittier School in California old test papers were found which belonged to students in the 1890's. The papers provide evidence that the students of yesteryear as well as today gave their teachers headaches.

One of the students had given this geographic report:

"There are five zones. Two temperate, two frigid, one torrid. Archipelago is a group of islands. A lake is a small body of water nearly or wholly sounded by water. A continent is a large body of land sounded by water."

To 712 Dorm

Like The Swallows Dooley Comes Back

By CHARLES THOMAS

Preparations are again under way for the fabulous annual feting of the redoubtable patron saint of the 712 Franklin st. dormitory, D. D. Dooley.

Each year Dooley, who is supposed to be the specter of Spring or something, arises from his sepulcher and gives the boys a chance to kick off the warm weather season with a week-end of partying and carrying on in general.

Friday, May 3, is the date set to start this year's Dooley's Frolics. The opening event is to be an informal dance held at the dorm. At this time the bone rattling Dooley will make his first formal appearance. Goodies will be served.

The following afternoon Dooley and his followers will head for the open country (Forest Hills) for an outing with food and all sorts of jolly recreation in mind.

For those who don't get stiff (muscles that is) a semi-formal dance to the lilting music of Newton Thomas and his renowned orchestra will be held the same night. Free 12:30 lates are to be given to the girls who are lucky enough to go.

Of course, all of this isn't gratis. The whole weekend will cost $2.50, which doesn't seem too bad when you consider cleaning costs on Dooley's uniform.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—Were President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles just making stern sounds or do they mean to do something if anti Communist King Hussein of Jordan is attacked or overthrown?

Yesterday Hussein, pushed from one crisis to another for weeks by pro-Egyptians and pro-Communists in his kingdom, blamed his troubles on "International Communism and its followers."

Judging from what soon followed, his use of these two words—"International Communism"—may have had a special significance. What followed was this:

Eisenhower and Dulles—the former in Augusta, Ga., and the latter in Washington—talked 20 minutes by phone. Presidential Press Secretary James Hagerty told reporters that, among other things, the two men had agreed that they regard Jordan's "Independence and Integrity as Vital."

Hagerty took pains to point out their language was part of the resolution which Congress adopted last March in approving Eisenhower's Middle East program.

That resolution in Section Two, using the very words mentioned by Eisenhower and Dulles and the words "International Communism" employed by Hussein, said:

"The United States regards as vital to the national interest and world peace the preservation of the independence and integrity of the nations of the Middle East.

"To this end, if the President determines the necessity thereof, the United States is prepared to use Armed Forces to assist any such nation or group of such nations requiring assistance against armed aggression from any country controlled by International Communism . . ."

Although Hussein's immediate troubles may be inspired by Communists, he is not now under attack by any country, controlled or not controlled by International Communism.

From the surface evidence, his problem is with revolution in his own country. And there is nothing in the Congressional resolution which authorizes Eisenhower to use American forces to crush a revolution within a single country.

The one nation which could be considered pro-Communist, and from which Jordan might be attacked, is neighbor Syria. But if Syria attacked, Hussein's two pro-Western

Bill Introduced To Aid American College Students

WASHINGTON, D. C. (I.P.)—In a move to meet the need for teachers and scientists, Senator Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) has introduced legislation making loans available to U. S. college students.

Men and women planning careers in teaching, engineering, science, and medicine could borrow up to $750 a year, or $5,000 for an entire college career, under the Magnuson bill.

Loans would come from a $250,000 revolving fund, with students being given 15 years for repayment. The loans would bear the same interest rates as other government obligations.

Before a loan could be made, however, certification would be necessary from the educational institution.

Say Vice President Elect

Criticism of SGA 'Probably Justified'

BY JOHN HUDSON

"Maybe what the country needs is a good five cent cigar, but what R.P.I. needs is a closer relation between the students and administration," according to SGA Vice President-elect Mickie Mackey.

She added that the S.G.A. has been criticized for not doing enough, and said that she thinks the criticism was probably justified. "We were probably a little wishy-washy," Mickie thinks she has the solution. "We should have our meetings in a larger place so more students could attend, and we should publish a bulletin every week to let the students and the administration know exactly what we are doing." Mickie also stated that next year a test on the school constitution would be given to prospective S.G.A. members before they can qualify for a seat on the governing body.

Having clarified the main points of her policy we took a look into Mickie's background. She was born in Philadelphia, but now calls Arlington, Va., home. The reason for the move is that her father is now employed by the ultra-secret National Security Agency. Mickie, who has a top-secret clearance herself, works for the same outfit during the summer. Mrs. Mackey keeps busy by being a housewife and a lawyer.

As a drama major her main likes and dislikes are concerned with music, the theatre, and literature. Her tastes are slightly diversified in the case of literature: running from Max Shulman to Kahil Gibran. Her father has been writing a history book for about 20 years and Mickie includes him among her favorite authors. A definite love in music is Bach, and neighbors, Iraq and Saudi Arabia, might rush to his defense.

Dulles has talked big before and done nothing when the showdown came. Eisenhower has been more restrained. The language the two men used yesterday could mean nothing more than a polite observation unless they wanted it to mean more.

The full story of what has been happening in Jordan is far from known.

theatre favorites are Brando and Brynner.

After leaving R.P.I. Mickie's main goal seems to be to "stick a Roman candle in the tired face of show business" and to remain active in the Poux Club of which she is a charter member.

Britain's New Concept of Defense Could Be Detrimental to War

BY LOUIS MICHAUX

Three weeks ago Great Britain's Minister of Defense, Duncan Sandys, announced to the world Britain's new military policy. This policy which is, essentially, a shift from conventional military tactics to preparation for nuclear warfare could be the initial step toward a new world-wide concept of defense.

According to the British government it is not feasible to continue her present military set-up. Officials say that this new plan will reduce the military budget by $784 million. These experts say that England has reached the stage where it can no longer afford more than four billion dollars for defense in a year.

In addition, advocates of this new plan say that it is the only realistic one which the country can pursue. They state that this plan will ultimately prove a greater defense to the nation than the conventional and perhaps outdated type of defense.

British leaders have expressed the opinion that through this plan the nation will gain respect from both ally and enemy nations. They contend that their proposed steps are the only efficient way to prepare for modern warfare.

The British plan disclosed in the "white paper" leads to two important questions: Will Britain's colonial holdings continue to be adequately defended? How will this new policy affect the North Atlantic Treaty Organization?

The British government says that the colonial possessions will be ably defended by more centralized type of defense as proposed. As for NATO, it is anticipated that the British reductions will not weaken the organization appreciably since Britain intends to supply its remaining forces in the organization with nuclear weapons. On these two points, this plan has endured much criticism and the future will tell whether these criticisms are justified.

The key question to this whole plan is whether it will eventually bring about a new world-wide concept in military defense. Germany has already expressed great interest in the plan and has strongly hinted that she might pursue the same course. Other nations which are finding that their military expenditures are straining the national budgets are also eyeing this policy very closely.

This document issued by England nearly a month ago could therefore prove to be the turning point in world history. It is conceivable that if this plan were adopted on a world-wide scale, the fear of war would be more acute, but its imminence could be reduced. Therefore we could have a peace, not based on love and concern for other men, but based on fear of the destructive power of other nations. This type of peace would at least be better than no peace at all.

VA Sets 14 Sessions As Full-Time Minimum

The number of credit hours for which veterans must be registered in order to be considered as pursuing full-time training is that number which requires at least 14 standard class sessions of attendance per week, or the equivalent in laboratory or field work, research, or other types of prescribed activity.

For example, a veteran pursuing a short summer session requiring attendance at 14 standard class sessions per week will be considered to be in full-time training, although because of the very short duration of the course he may be registered for only 3 credit hours.

Three-quarter time training. Less than 14 standard class sessions of attendance per week or equivalent, but not less than 10.

One-half time training. Less than 10 class sessions of attendance per week, or equivalent, but not less than 7.

Less than one-half time training. Less than 7 class sessions of attendance per week, or the equivalent.

The term "equivalent" in this sense means quarter hours, term hours, or semester hours, as the case may be. Weekly hours in pursuit of laboratory, field work, or research, should be reduced to their equivalent in standard class sessions in measuring full or part-time training for summer school students. For example, three hours of laboratory work is the credit-equivalent of 1 standard class session, the total hours spent in laboratory.

Greenberg has one concrete plan pertaining to the internal welfare of the school. He hopes to promote closer relationship between the various schools and departments which compose RPI.

"I like RPI because it is so diversified," he added. He came here intending to stay only one year. "What really sealed it was that I found all the people so friendly and so receptive. Now I wouldn't go to any other school for money."

Originally from New York, Greenberg moved to Norfolk and then Virginia Beach, where he graduated from Oceana High School. In high school he participated in debating and public speaking meets on both state and national levels. # Turkey Is Best Ally Of U. S., Attache Says

Altunur Kilic, Turkish press attache in Washington, told a Contemporary Affairs class last week that Turkey is the United States' best ally. The two countries, according to Kilic, share common national convictions and their peoples show similar attitudes toward world problems.

Speaking to the evening college group, taught by Mr. Walter W. Regier, Kilic said, "In the fight against communism, we had opposed Russian infiltration for two years before the Truman Doctrine."

Kilic was an Associated Press correspondent in the Turkish capital Ankara, worked for the United Nations as a press officer, and was a lieutenant in the Turkish army in Korea.

He has worked on VATAN, an Istanbul daily and was the publisher and editor of DEVIR, a weekly newsmagazine.

Although the Turkish defense budget is high, ten per cent of the country's income is spent on education. Free education is available for the youth of Turkey through the college level. The Turkish people are proud of their modern hospitals and schools.

The veil and the harem have disappeared, he stated, and Turkey today is a modern, western-looking country which is striving to stay free in the troubled Middle East.

"Democracy is a universal principle; it cannot be imported wholesale," Kilic said. "Each country must strive to find what is best for its own situation."

VA Asks Return Of Life Insurance Protection Money

Servicemen who have applied or will apply for protection of their commercial life insurance policies under the 1942 amendments of the Soldiers and Sailors Civil Relief Act must repay Veterans Administration for the amounts VA disbursed to insurers for such protection.

VA said the 1942 amendments specifically established such VA payments as a debt against the policyholder.

Unless it is repaid, VA is authorized to collect it from any amount due the policyholder by the United States in the form of benefits or as otherwise authorized by law.

Another amendment enacted in 1956 requires that commercial insurance for which guaranty application is made after July 41, 1956, must have been in force at least 180 days before the policyholder entered military service in order qualify. The previous limit was 30 days.

Under the law, Government guaranty of premiums on certain commercial life insurance policies not in excess of $10,000 continues for the period of the policyholders' military service and for two years thereafter. Servicemen must apply to VA for the protection provided by the Act. They may file their applications through the Armed Forces or directly with VA.

This letter is written just as I first conceived it, three years ago. To the Editor:

Your magazine is the trashiest thing on the market. If I had known when I took your magazine for my son three years ago, that it was filled with pictures of half-nude girls, I assure you it would never have been seen in my mail box. No wonder Johnny can't read.

Here is a letter which was written for, but never mailed to, a writer of historical fiction.

Dear Sir:

I enjoyed very much your book on George Washington and Frank Merriweather in the city of sin. However, as a student of history I am sure you will permit me say that Washington was not the tenth president of the United States, but was actually the first. In one part of your book you had Washington and Merriweather in the palace of the Llama of Tibet; this is of course impossible since Tibet wasn't discovered until 1952 by Lowell Thomas. These minor errors do not at all detract from your wonderful book.

This is one letter to an editor which should have been mailed.

To the Editor:

I first subscribed to your Magazine, "The Rover Boys," in 1887. I have been a faithful reader of the magazine ever since. However, I have not received "The Rover Boys" from you since the winter of 1909. If you plan to discontinue publication please inform me as soon as possible.

Lose Second, 10-0

RPI, Lynchburg Split Twin-Bill, Devils Win 7-3

AFTER WINNING THE FIRST GAME OF THE DOUBLEHEADER AGAINST LYNCHBURG COLLEGE TUESDAY, 7-3, RPI FELL COMPLETELY APART IN THE SECOND CONTEST, LOSING 10-0.

Both games were shortened to seven innings.

In the second game, the Devils had two men on base in the first inning but failed to score. Then the roof fell in. Starting pitcher Bob Soffee permitted the first six men to face him to get on base before retiring the seventh batter on an infield fly. After leadoff batter Dek Burnette walked, rightfielder Gail Davis lifted a long fly which cleared the rightfield wall for a two-run homer. After giving up two more hits and three walks, Soffee was relieved by Les Bostic.

The Hornets added four more in the second on a double, a walk, and four RPI errors.

HOMERS DO IT

In the first game, it was a different story. After allowing Lynchburg to score single runs in the first and second, RPI came back to score two each in the fourth, fifth, and sixth innings and one in the final frame.

Home runs told the story of the Green Devil win. Devil batters put four circuit clouts over the cozy right-centerfield fence. Bobo Padgett led off the slugfest by sending one out of the park in the fourth after Kelly Bazemore had walked. In the fifth, shortstop Ralph Pritchard and winning hurler Bobby Hatchett sent consecutive blasts out of the park.

GRAVETT HITS ONE

Gravett got on base as a result of walking. Bill Gravett ended the homer parade with a clout over the top of the rightfield fence, after fouling off two pitches farther than his home run.

Lynchburg starter George Grekos had a perfect game going into the fourth inning. His assortment had RPI batters completely fooled. He had allowed only one batter to reach first base, that on an error by the right fielder in the second inning on a fly ball hit by Don Thompson.

HATCHETT HURLS WELL

Green Devil hurler Bob Hatchett had one of his better days, allowing six scattered hits, one a homer by Gail Davis in the final inning, the first of two such blows for the day for Davis. Hatchett struck out three batsmen and gave up only two walks.

Bostic pitched a very creditable game after relieving Soffee in the first inning of the second tilt. He came in with one out and retired the side. Lynchburg scored four unearned runs off him in the second on four Green Devil errors. During the remainder of the game Bostic spread out three hits and three walks. He struck out one batter.

RM, 14-5

It was a case of good hitting, but poor fielding and horrible pitching last Thursday as RPI was humiliated by Randolph-Macon's baseball team, 14-5, at Ashland. 6-5. Of the 13 RPI hits, only six figured in the scoring column. The other seven were wasted as the Green Devils left 14 men on base.

Coach Ed Allen used six pitchers in a vain effort to stop the onslaught, but to no avail. Soffee started, but was relieved by Les Bostic in the third. In turn followed Bob Hatchett, Lou Lanham, Henry Talton, and finally Kelly Bazemore, who turned off the scoring in the eighth, pitching to one batter and getting him to ground into a fielder's choice.

Walter Barr was the winning pitcher for the Yellow Jackets, relieving Bill Cox in the fourth and going the rest of the way. Barr allowed six scattered and three runs and did not walk a man. Barr is a freshman lefthander from Berryville and according to Macon coach Hugh Stevens shows great promise.

Soffee was credited with the loss, the Devils' second of the season.

ONE ON A THIRD FLOOR

The natural impulse about this time is not to write a baseball column, but to forget all about the whole thing and make for Byrd Park. But, baseball is the necessary item right now. So.

There are reminders of baseball all around. One has only to look for them. For instance, the rooftop of Founders Hall. There are all kinds of curves over there. There are plenty of screwballs and spitballs in the cafeteria, not to mention the fouls we are fed every other day on our (home) plates. You can buy all the peanuts and popcorn you want right here in the neighborhood. Who said RPI isn't baseball minded?

QUESTION AND ANSWER TIME

IT WOULD APPEAR to anyone who read the article in last week's PROSCRIPT sports section that the three questions asked were answered rather conclusively in the Randolph-Macon baseball game Thursday. The Green Devils played more like little angels in laying down before the onslaught of the Yellow Jackets.

It appeared to this observer before the game, during infield warm-up, that this was going to be a rough day for RPI baseball enthusiasts. It was! After threatening to make a go of things for three innings, the Devils blew sky high.

It's too bad that the 20 RPI faithfuls who made the 16 mile jaunt to Ashland were subjected to such pitiful display of the game. It is hoped that those 20 odd fans won't forget about the team because of a bad day, though. Things CAN'T be that bad all the time.

FAMOUS LAST WORDS

BEFORE THE DOUBLEHEADER with Lynchburg College on Tuesday, RPI first baseman Don Thompson was lecturing on the art of hitting and averages, etc., when someone mentioned that a doubleheader was a good chance to fatten up that old batting average.

"Yeah," said Thompson, "but you can fall down a heck of a lot, too."

Going into the twin-bill, Thompson had nine hits in 17 times at bat for a .529 average. We went hitless in seven times at the plate in both games. His average is now .375, a drop of 154 points.

SWIMMING THE BASES

FOR AWHILE TUESDAY, it looked as if RPI was going to establish its first swimming team in history right on the Lynchburg College baseball field.

After threatening for a couple of hours, the rains came in the second inning of the second game. Everyone scattered, going literally in every direction. The spectators watching from the third base side of the field got into cars, walked into dormitories or climbed into some kind of protection. Those RPI players who weren't in the game at the time scattered under the protection of some trees behind the player bench on the first base side.

The players, themselves? They kept on playing the game, despite the monsoon. They seemed to love it. Hearty fellows, these ballplayers!
