

Scholarship Established By Alumnus

By Fred Bonavita

A scholarship of $200 per year has been made available to RPI by a graduate of the class of 1959.

At the same time, details of other scholarship and loan programs were announced this week by Dean of Students William R. O'Connell.

The new scholarship, valued at $100 per semester, will be known as the Jayne H. and Daniel W. Seward Scholarship. It was donated in honor of his parents by Charles H. Seward, who was graduated from the school of business in February, 1959.

Dean O'Connell said the grant would be available to any senior in any school at RPI on the basis of need and scholastic ability. He said this last requirement was "flexible" but said an average of 1.5 or better was desirable.

Deadline May 27

Deadline for juniors to apply for the Seward Scholarship is May 27, the dean continued. Full details and applications may be obtained from his office.

The dean said that additional financial aid was available to students from both state and federal sources.

Some $180,000 was appropriated in the last General Assembly session for general undergraduate scholarships and loans, for "Virginia residents attending state-supported institutions of higher learning . . ."

Government loans, under terms of the National Defense Student Loan Act, are also available. Deadline for applying for both of these services is May 20, the dean said.

The Virginia program provides that scholarships and loans up to $350 may be granted on the basis of legal residence in Virginia, a record of good personal character and citizenship, be accepted for admission to the school, possesses "good scholastic ability," need, and be a regular, full-time student in a program leading to a degree.

Per Cent Interest

The applicant must also qualify for and execute a loan for the same amount as the scholarship, to be paid back on the basis of four per cent per annum within five years from the date of graduation.

The federal government program provides for direct loans for scholarship purposes which are re-

Margaret Zeigler, 18, served as the secretary for the freshman activities committee in the fall.

Barbara Jenks, 18, was co-chairman of the May Dance decorations committee and is the freshman representative to her dormitory's house council.

Kelsey, 20-years-old from Culpeper, was a member of Rat Court and belongs to the German Club.

DeeDee Bishop, 18-year-old Georgia native, is the freshman class sweetheart and was Queen Rat on Rat Court.

Candidates for sophomore class officers must have maintained at least a C average for the two past semesters.

DuPriest Wins; Senior Class Vote Is Scanty

By Virginia Gibson

Frank DuPriest, Beth Massey, Frances Graham, Mary Ann Belton and Billy Ayers will be next year's senior class officers.

Out of a class of approximately 280, 58 juniors went to the polls last Monday, Tuesday and Thursday to vote for the seven candidates.

DuPriest, commercial art major, was elected president of his class for the second time. He was last year's sophomore class president and is presently serving as the junior class SGA representative. He defeated Ann Kane, fashion major.

Beth Massey, a 20-year-old art education major, was chosen vice president. A last year's transfer from William and Mary, she is secretary of Cotillion Club, secretary of Founder's Hall dormitory and a Junior Marshal. Lois Weintraub, fashion design major and president of Hillel Organization, was also a candidate for vice president.

Campaigners for the offices of secretary, treasurer and SGA representative were unopposed.

Frances Graham, 21-year-old fashion illustration major, was voted next year's senior class secretary. She is currently serving as secretary of Ritter-Hickok dormitory.

Treasurer of her class for the past two years, Mary Ann Belton was elected to the office for a third time. An art education major, she is the Sweetheart of RPI and a Junior Marshal.

Ayers, this year's president of the Junior class, will serve as the senior class SGA representative. Ayers, who is a social work major, was a recent candidate for SGA president.

Cobblestone Changes Size

The size of the 1959-60 Cobblestone will be changed, it was announced Tuesday by Dean O'Connell.

According to O'Connell, this year's book will be 8½ inches tall and 11½ inches wide. Last year, the book was 12 inches in height and 9 inches wide.

This idea was suggested by the Cobblestone's printer, and it was adopted by the Cobblestone staff because of mechanical difficulties incurred last year, the Dean said.

The Dean also noted that the yearbook would have fewer pages this year, consisting of about 140 pages.

O'Connell said that this year's Cobblestone will probably be better than in preceding years. "The book will be much more lively and interesting than in past years. I think it will appeal to a greater variety of people than ever before," he said.

Winston Marshall, a junior art major from McLean, did the cover design for the 1959-60 Cobblestone, which is edited by Marian Kenzie.

Band to Present Concert Sunday

The lawn in front of the Hibbs Building will be the scene of a pops concert to be presented by the RPI band at 3:30 p.m. Sunday.

The band will play a variety of concert band music, including marches, folk songs and popular show tunes.

There will be two solos, one on cornet by Mike Skvarlo, and one on trumpet by Charles Ellis.

Activities Fee

SGA Distributes Pledge Cards

A special SGA-appointed committee has composed and distributed activities fee pledge cards this week.

By Wednesday afternoon, approximately 100 students had returned their endorsed pledge cards, and SGA President Jerry Bradshaw expressed hope that the goal of 800 pledges would be reached by June 1.

Appointed at last week's council meeting by Bradshaw, the six-member committee finished drafting the pledge last Friday, and gave each advisor the form on Monday. The appointment was made immediately following the passage of the optional fee plan drafted by Proscript editor Bob Boswell.

Members of the special pledge committee are: Betsy Harmon, chairman and next year's SGA vice president; Bob Nitchie, SGA treasurer; Dick Whitehead, next year's SGA treasurer; Bill Greenlaw, FBILA representative to council; Joan Perry, Westminster Fellowship representative; and Eleanor Phifer, Cotillion club representative.

The advisors are responsible for distribution of the cards within their departments, and according to Bradshaw, the cards should be included with pre-registration forms, if possible.

Different Democracy

As has become his custom lately, Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro last week again denounced the United States' "aggressive" foreign policy.

In his May day address to the Cuban people, Castro, the bearded ruler who took over as his country's top executive after booting out Fulgenico Batista, said his government recently learned that the United States was preparing aggression against Cuba.

According to Castro, the United States would act through the American embassy in Guatemala, a country with which Cuba has been quarreling.

Later in his speech, Castro described the United States as a pseudo-democracy or, in simple terms, a fake. Elaborating on this, Castro said that in a true democracy arms are freely given to laborers, students, the poor, the Negroes and women. He continued, "What would happen if arms were given to the Negroes in the South of the United States who have been so frequently lynched?"

True, some Negroes have been lynched in the South, but not with any degree of frequency. Doesn't Castro realize that most of the lynchers in this country have been punished?

As for the United States being a pseudo-democracy, one must wonder if Castro considers his country more democratic than the United States. Also in his speech, he asserted that democracy is where the majority governs, but he has announced that he would not allow elections—perhaps man's most democratic process—in Cuba.

Castro, whose policies have often been linked with communistic theories, must realize the absurdity of his words. But the real question is whether Castro, a shrewd propagandist, is trying to protect and defend his country, or whether he is seeking to set himself up in the eyes of all of Latin America as some sort of giant-killer. We are inclined to the latter view, and it gives rise to the question of how far Fidel Castro's ambitions extend.—D.B.

Individualism Lost

The idea that America is a country of rugged individualists is a myth in a leaky bucket, and no amount of patching can keep it from coming out.

The mental climate of the country, if Richmond is to be used as a slide rule, is fast deteriorating. There are very few of Nietzsche's lions left—only his camels—content to carry whatever burden is put upon them without question or qualm.

We expected too much of the young intellectuals. We heard them rebel in dark corners and expected them to grow claws, and come out into the light to lead a creative reawakening. They let us down. They're still in their corners growing fat on beer, and their souls are fat, too, from rehashing the old concepts until each of them knows where he is expected to stand on every issue by heart—but none of them knows yet what the issues mean.

They prefer to play it safe. They dress alike, talk alike and think alike, and there we are right back where we started from. We've just got another herd of camels.—C.B.

Music School Sets Recitals

Two recitals will be presented during the coming week by students in the School of Music.

The first recital, scheduled for 8:30 tonight, will feature Keith Eddins at the piano in room 203 of the Hibbs Building. This will be a junior recital, in partial fulfillment of Eddins' degree. Eddins, a student of Mr. Volney Shepard, is majoring in piano. He has performed in several recitals and is a member of the RPI Choral Group.

Eddins will be assisted by John Winn, oboist and Fred Clements, pianist.

The third in a series of senior organ recitals will be held at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Grace Covenant Presbyterian Church. Robert Jackson will be at the organ. He is organist-choir director at St. James Methodist Church. He has appeared from time to time in recital for the school and has been an accompanist on many occasions.

The first organ recital in the series was presented by Fred Clements on May 3 at St. Stephen's Church. The second recital, also at Grace Covenant Church, was presented last Friday by Shirley Beasley.

Gertrude S. Bunzel, Modern Dance Teacher
She Teaches Three Classes Here

Bunzel Likes Ballet

Cha Cha Not Chic

By Sandra Turner

"Everybody loves to cha cha cha." Not necessarily so, according to Mrs. Gertrude Godwyn Bunzel, RPI's modern dance instructor.

Mrs. Bunzel prefers the ballet. She has been dancing since she was four years old back home in Vienna, Austria.

Stage movement and Modern Dance I and II classes have risen since Mrs. Bunzel arrived on the RPI scene. She has been teaching part time for the past three years.

She and her husband, Dr. Joseph H. Bunzel, of RPI's school of social work, have been in Richmond since September of 1956.

Before coming to RPI, Mrs. Bunzel was assistant professor of modern dance and stagemovement for 12 years at the Carnegie Institute of Technology in Pittsburgh, Pa. She has also instructed at the YWCA in Richmond, the Community Playhouse in Pittsburgh, the Conservatory in Vienna and in Baltimore, Md.

A former student of Mrs. Bunzel at C.I.T. is director of "The Tempest" in the Shakespearean Festival held at Stratford, Conn. Another of her students organized the Community Playhouse in Pittsburgh.

In Europe until 1939, Mrs. Bunzel has toured France, Italy and Germany alone and with her own dancing group. Once, in Italy, she appeared in a movie house before the show. "It was sort of like the Rockettes, except I was the only one!" she said.

Mrs. Bunzel studied at the Vienna State Academy for Music and Dramatic Arts, majoring in dancing and minoring in music, and at the State Teachers' College in Vienna.

In March of 1959, Mrs. Bunzel was choreography director of the Ballet Impromptu, Richmond's regional ballet company. She explained dance therapy to the Jane Addams Conference of the American Association of Social Psychiatry. Mrs. Bunzel directed "On The Beach," RPI's contribution to the College Dance Festival of Virginia at the Virginia Museum Theatre this year. A critic there said RPI's display was "one of the most lively—one of the best."

VIPA Meet Begins Here

Today and tomorrow the annual Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association will be held here, President Bob Boswell announced this week.

Speakers will include Mr. Fred Frechette, editor of the Reynolds Review, company magazine of Reynolds Metals. Mr. Frechette will also speak at the banquet tomorrow night.

Others speaking to VIPA members will be Mr. Ed Grimsley, reporter for the Richmond Times-Dispatch and instructor in RPI's Journalism department, and Mr. Larry Gould, assistant city editor of the Richmond News Leader.

Mrs. Pat Bryant, assistant women's editor of the Times-Dispatch; and Mr. Scott Dine, photographer for Richmond Newspapers, will also lecture.

The convention will begin this afternoon and end with a banquet in the Richmond Room of the Hotel Richmond tomorrow night.

Proscript Probe

Question: What do you think of the activities fee recently passed by the SGA?

Annette Ferguson, Sociology—"Sounds good. I think it will help school spirit."

David Wilborn, Drama—"The fee will be an aid to class unity. It may be a step forward in developing a more closely united school. I would buy it, but I don't think it will get the support needed."

Travers Berry, Advertising—"I think the fee is the best thing that's happened to RPI."

Bob Buchanan, Drama—"It's something we've needed for years. Other schools have a higher activities fee which works very well. I like the idea of everyone getting his picture in the annual and more money for the production of the annual."

Jerry Tingle, Secretarial Science—"You get a lot for the money you pay."

Bry Hovey, Commercial Art—"I think the activities fee as proposed by the Proscript would be a fine thing, if supported, but I don't think you can get the support needed."

Sue Stattner, Occupational Therapy—"I think it's a good idea. I hope it gets the support needed."

Phi Beta Lambda Is Official Now

Phi Beta Lambda was officially accepted as part of the state-wide organization of business clubs bearing that name last week end at a convention in Roanoke.

The club was formerly called the Future Business Leaders of America Club. It was accepted after a few minor revisions in its constitution.

Represented at the convention besides RPI were Longwood, VPI, Radford and Madison colleges.

Three members, President Bill McQuail, Vice-President Betty Whitenack and Secretary Ray Carmine, represented RPI. The theme of the convention was "Machines and Modern Business."

The RPI chapter was in charge of the bulletin board and exhibits placed in the lobby of the hotel.

Proscript Gets Award

Proscript last week was awarded an All-American rating by the Associated Collegiate Press in its 62nd annual critical service for collegiate newspapers.

Only seven college newspapers received as high a rating in the classification for weekly papers from schools with an enrollment of 1,251 to 2,000 students. The rating was based on the first semester issues, and Mr. G. C. Woolan, member of Modern Medicine Publications' public relation staff, was judge of this class.

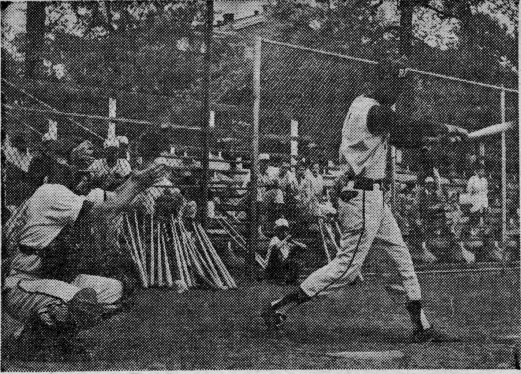

The award was based on such criteria as news stories, features, sports coverage, page make-up and headline writing. In some of these classifications, Proscript received a total of 205 points out of a possible 200, which is the equivalent to a superior rating.

In winning the award, Proscript received a total of 3,535 points out of a possible 4,000. The minimum number of points required for an All-American rating is 3,500.

Green Devils Drop Slugfest to Hornets

Playing with a patched lineup, RPI's Green Devils put up a good battle before finally bowing 16-9 to Lynchburg's Hornets last Saturday at Byrd Park.

RPI's lineup, at various times in the game, consisted of a pitcher playing third base, a third baseman playing shortstop, a catcher playing right field, a pitcher playing left field, and a scorekeeper pinchhitting. These changes in the lineup were necessary because of injuries and various other reasons.

Hampton Homers

Lynchburg led off the game by scoring two quick runs on a base on ball and two singles. RPI tied the game up in the bottom of the first on Wayne Davis' single and Buddy Hampton's home run.

The Hornets scored five runs in the top of the second to take a 7-2 lead. RPI scored one run in the third on a walk, Davis' double and a single by Bill Graham.

The Green Devils broke loose in the third to tally six runs in the third and take a 9-7 lead. Lew Lanham led the inning off with a walk, which was followed by consecutive singles by third baseman Steve Peebles, second baseman Sam Bowlin and leftfielder Bill Woodson.

After Davis struck out, Hampton walked and Warren Burke drove in two more runs with a single before the Lynchburg pitcher, Jim Patterson struck out Graham and Marvin Russell to end the inning.

The lead was shortlived however, because after Hornet leftfielder, Pete Gowin hit a solo homer in the fourth against Devil pitcher, Lew Lanham, the Hornets exploded for a pair of runs in the sixth and four runs in the seventh. The Hornets added two more runs in the ninth to make the final score 16-9.

Hayes Fans

A highlight for the RPI fans was added when former scorekeeper Donald Hayes was sent up to pinch hit in the ninth for leftfielder Bill Woodson. Hayes struck out on four pitches.

Softball Team Loses Championship Game 8-3

By Bill Jamerson

RPI's softball team breezed through three games last Saturday at Byrd Park before bowing to a Virginia Tech powerhouse 8-3 in the championship game of the ninth annual Virginia Amateur Softball Tournament.

The Green Devils led by the great pitching of Buddy Franck defeated George Washington, Virginia Military Institute and Lynchburg College to get into the finals against VPI.

Franck, striking out nine, gave up only two hits and one unearned run as RPI defeated the Colonials 4-1. RPI scored its four runs in the third inning on a hit batsman, a walk, a single and two doubles.

In the second game, the Devils jumped off to a quick 4-0 lead as they tallied a pair of runs in the first and second innings. Manager Jimmy Craven relieved Franck with Bob Soffee in order to give the star righthander a rest. Soffee coasted the rest of the game allowing but four hits and one run. RPI scored three insurance runs in the sixth inning to win the game 7-1.

Devils Win

In the third game the Devils squeezed past Lynchburg's Hornets 3-2 in the closest game of the tournament. Franck again pitched the entire game, scattering eight hits and striking out 13.

The Hornets started the scoring in the first inning with hits by Bob Rothgob and Harry Knowles, plus a fielders choice. RPI tied the game in the bottom of the first on hits by Jimmy Jones and Don Lee and a sacrifice fly by Bob Soffee. The Devils took the lead in the fourth inning on consecutive doubles by Aubrey Fletcher and Jimmy Craven plus singles by Ralph Pettit and Barry Frazee. This made the score 3-1. The Hornets added another run in the fifth, but Franck got out of the inning by fanning Charles Suthorland with two men on base.

Franck Tires

In the championship game Franck, who showed signs of tiring, gave up two runs in the first and third innings to make the score 4-0 in favor of the Gobblers. RPI scored single runs in the third, fifth and sixth innings to close the gap to 4-3.

In the top of the seventh, VPI scored four unearned runs to put the game out of reach. Tech pitcher J. C. Black had no trouble disposing of the Devils in the last inning.

Bob Soffee won a pair of tennis shoes for scoring the most runs for RPI. Don Lee, who had six hits for fourteen at bats, won a shirt for being the outstanding hitter for RPI. Jimmy Jones, Buddy Franck and manager Jimmy Craven all won prizes for outstanding contributions for the team.

"There is also the possibility of a limited number of other scholarships and loans being available," the dean said.

"In addition to this, next year we are making student job placement part of the student aid program."

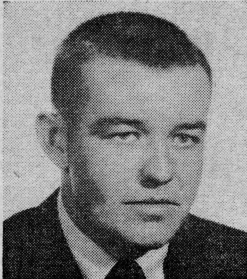

Dean O'Connell continued that under terms of the Virginia loan program, one-fifth of the balance per year up to five years is cancelable to students who teach in public schools.

Seward, who made the scholarship available to help "seniors over that last big financial hump," is currently employed by the investment banking firm of Johnson, Lane, Space & Co., Inc., of Savannah, Ga. He is married to the former Miss Martha Lawn, an RPI alumna; the couple has one child.
