

$900 Raised As Drive Nears End

Scholarship Drive contributions totaling $918.02 had been turned in to the Student Government Association Tuesday.

This total—released with only two drive activities still scheduled—is a little more than half of the $1,700 goal set for the drive. Scheduled deadline for contributions is Wednesday.

Dick Whitehead, SGA treasurer and drive co-ordinator, expressed hope that the goal would be met, however. "All clubs will be held to their pledges," he said.

Whitehead explained that pledges of the 27 clubs total $1,325 and that eight clubs had exceeded their pledges by $349.54. This would assure a total of almost $1,675.

Whitehead said that several clubs which have held their drive activities but without marked financial success have assured him they will meet the goals, nevertheless.

13 Meet Pledges

Thirteen organizations had met their pledges to the drive when Whitehead released his treasurer's report Tuesday. Of the 13, nine had exceeded their pledges.

Two more activities are scheduled for the drive. The Day Students League will hold a dance Saturday night, and the Freshman class will hold a Magic Show the fourth week of this month.

Whitehead said that contributions to the drive have been slower coming in this year than in the past.

"We had so many activities this year that they had to be spread over a long period of time," he said. "This has made the drive appear to be slower getting off the ground than in past years.

Because contributions have been slow coming in, several proposals which would change the drive plans for next year are being studied, Whitehead said. He declined to elaborate at this time.

R. Hill Fleet, Ex-Head Of Evening College, Dies

R. Hill Fleet, 70, former director of the RPI Evening College, died January 1 at a Richmond hospital.

Mr. Fleet, a member of the Virginia legislature for three terms, was born in Brington. He attended the University of Richmond, the University of Virginia and the College of William and Mary.

In June, 1950, at the age of 59, Mr. Fleet received a degree in Distributive Education at RPI. He then joined the RPI teaching staff in the Department of Business Administration. He became the first full-time director of the evening college from 1950 to 1958.

When Melvin Fuller became director of the evening college that year, Mr. Fleet became an administrative assistant to Dr. Hibbs, then Provost.

Kennedy Girls Katy Heinz (left) and Frances Graham Will Attend the Inauguration The Coeds Received Invitations This Week Because of Their Campaign Work

Backed Kennedy

Three Students Invited to Inaugural

By Pat Hensley

Three RPI students have received invitations to the inauguration of President-elect John F. Kennedy.

Katy Heinz, 19-year-old Journalism major; Frances Graham, 21-year-old Fashion Illustration major and Marvin Alder, 19-year-old Accounting major, received invitations Tuesday in recognition of their help in the local campaigning for Kennedy.

Katy, a sophomore from Manassas, headed a brigade of Kennedy-Johnson girls on campus. She assembled a number of coeds, ranging from three to 30 at a time, to help carry out the activities of the Democratic party in Richmond. The Kennedy girls dressed alike in red, white and blue dresses and performed tasks as menial as distributing campaign buttons, and as important as being hostesses for Democratic banquets.

Frances, a senior from Fayetteville, N.C., was one of the hardest working Kennedy girls. She participated in almost every activity in which the Kennedy girls took part—at the opening of campaign headquarters and distributing bumper-stickers on street corners.

Alder, a sophomore from Blackstone, is a member of the Richmond division of the Young Democrats; and, he also worked hard to make the Kennedy-Johnson campaign a success in this area.

The students will attend four of the nine inaugural events.

Two activities, a reception honoring the Vice President-elect and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson at the Statler-Hilton hotel and the Young Democrats' reception and dance at the Mayflower hotel, are scheduled on Wednesday, January 18. The three plan to drive to Washington for these two events and return to Richmond that night.

The Young Democrats of Richmond are chartering a bus to take their members and sponsors to the Inaugural parade Friday, January 20. Katy, Frances and Marvin will take the bus Friday morning and attend the parade and the Inaugural Ball.

The ball will be held that night from 9 until 2.

The two girls have decided that their expenditures for the inauguration will be almost $40 (tickets for the ball are $25 per person). Neither plans to buy a new formal or to attend the Democratic Gala, which costs $100 a ticket.

The two coeds are, of course, excited about the inauguration. "I'm going to put the invitation in a black frame and hang it on the wall in my room," said Katy.

Set Designs Complicated For 'Angel' Production

Sets for "Look Homeward, Angel" are the most complicated Thomas Holloway, technical director for the Drama department, can remember constructing. "But they are also the most fun," Holloway said. So much so that he calls his scene shop "Happytime." "Angel" which opens at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Shafer Street Playhouse, will run through Friday night.

A new revolving stage on which two bedroom scenes are constructed is ready for use in the production. The stage will change scenes automatically. A front porch set is adjoined to the revolving stage, and simulated stone angels and headstones are being prepared for the scene in Will Gant's stone-cutting yard.

Another innovation in this set is a screen that stretches the length

SGA Studies Plan to Start New Activity

Student Council has postponed action on a proposal to start a wrestling team at RPI.

Executive Council presented the proposal at Student Council's pre-Christmas meeting. Dick Whitehead, Student Government Association treasurer, spoke for Executive Council.

The wrestling team, which would begin next year on a junior varsity basis and eventually work up to varsity, would be supported by the activities fee enacted last May by Council. Cost of a wrestling team was estimated at $300 for the first year,—including equipment, trips, and referees—and $150 for the years thereafter.

Two proposals for financing a wrestling team were advanced. They are to add the activities fee to the tuition and raise the fee 10 cents per student or to leave the activities fee voluntary and raise the price 35 cents per student.

A final decision on the team cannot be made until Council decides whether it wants the activities fee to be compulsory or voluntary next year, Dean O'Connell said. If compulsory, Council must make a recommendation through the Administration to the Board of Visitors for the Colleges of William and Mary.

Allen Backs Idea

Coach Ed Allen and three RPI students were invited to the meeting to explain the principles and benefits of wrestling to SGA representatives.

"As a body conditioner," Coach Allen said, "wrestling is tremendous. For building school spirit, I don't know if you can beat it."

Bill Overman, who is a senior and an assistant coach at the Richmond YMCA, explained several wrestling holds, demonstrated by Don Blankenship and Ervin Dehn. Blankenship is a sophomore Fashion Design major.

Resolution

January 1 is the time for saying what you will never repeat December 31. It is the time for sitting quietly at home, whether by choice or because you are immobile—and thinking. This is known as making New Year's resolutions. The practice received its name because it is done only on New Year's Day.

Making New Year's resolutions is a disease afflicting only mankind. On this one special day man sits down and lists what has been wrong with last year.

This tradition has become an obsession.

We tear ourselves apart. What we could have done, we didn't; what we should have done, we didn't. The question is—will we?

Last Chance

The reaction of the student body to the hiring of the Maynard Ferguson band to play for the Mid-Winters dance will be interesting to watch in the next month.

There seemed to be little enthusiasm around campus when Student Council first announced that it was negotiating a contract with Ferguson's agents. However, following the announcement that he had been hired, an increase in student interest became apparent.

This increase interest is justified; the Maynard Ferguson band is one of the top touring bands in the nation. It plays at the large schools—from the Ivy League to the Midwestern colleges; and it played at the Newport Jazz Festival in 1958. It is considered a better band than the Billy Butterfield group, which played for the May dance here last year, and it may be superior to any of the five bands SGA tried to get for the May dance.

Another reason interest is justified is that there will be more than just a dance this year. Ferguson will play for a late afternoon concert, too, making the dance a two-part program. The concert cost the SGA $250, and since this feature was not provided for under the activities fee, an admission fee of one dollar per person will be charged.

This arrangement is, it seems to us, weak. Will the students say, "Well, if the same band is playing for the dance, I am not going to pay an extra dollar to see the concert"? Or will they welcome the chance for a "big college" week end?

Students should realize that this is their chance for something really "big." And although there has been no official announcement, this may be the students' last chance. The SGA worked hard and spent a great deal of money. The students should take advantage of this opportunity.

Three One-Act Plays Planned For January 19

Three one-act productions will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 19 in the Dramatic Arts Building on West Franklin st. The program will be given in two locations—Studio Theater and Room 100. The audience will meet in Studio Theater for Marc Connelly's "The Traveler" and Mary Emery Hall's "The Third Plate." Between these two performances, senior Wilbur Key will direct James Barrie's "A Well Remembered Voice" in Room 100.

Francis Dutton will direct the three—member cast of "The Traveler." Actors Al Biddle, Marshall Murdaugh and Robert Drewery will find themselves in a men's smoking compartment of a train and in a very comical situation.

The second play, to be done in the round, will feature Woody Eney, Sharon Godsey, Dick White, Don Hayes, Lillian Hutchinson, Susan Shewmaket, and Bill Cass. Throughout the play, the principle character in "A Well Remembered Voice" is never seen.

Carey Lee King will direct "The Third Plate" with John Wilson, Marie Gable, Robert Roane, Richard Askev, Chris Fayle, Richard Cadieux and Pat Story. Also a comedy, the play retells the events of a couple's first anniversary.

16 Students Will Attend Convention

Sixteen students in the School of Distribution will attend the National Retail Merchants Association convention at New York Sunday through Friday.

The group will attend convention sessions in the Statler-Hilton Hotel on personnel, training, merchandising, store operations and sales promotion.

They will also visit Vogue magazine; a millinery showroom operation; Saks Fifth Avenue; the American Viscose Corporation's musical revue, "Fantasy in Fibers;" the New York Stock Exchange; and attend "The Sound of Music" and the televised "Ed Sullivan Show."

The 11 senior Retailing majors are Edward Benning, Gerald Bradshaw, Miles King Jr., Margaret Klugman, Sue Carol Lassiter, Frances Mann, Floyd Mills, Susan Rich, Melvin Sandlin, Jimmy Seacore and Judith Teaford. Representing the Distributive Education department are Sharon MacFarlane, John D. Martin Jr., William Smith, Mary Turner and Lynne Rhudy.

Dr. Ralph Rush, head of the School of Distributive Education, and Mrs. Dorothy Fierst, an associate professor in Retailing, will chaperone the trip.

Loose Ends

Mountain Relative Writes Note

By Nolan Kegley

I am from the mountains of Virginia and occasionally I get letters from my relatives who are fortunate enough to still be living there. Below is a letter that I recently received from my Uncle Leon.

Dear Melvin, (He sometimes gets me mixed up with my cousin George.)

I come to see you at school, but when I got there I asked this young feller if he knewed where you was at. He said he didn't know you, but probably you was at Jim's and I should go with him to Jim's.

I don't know who this Jim feller is, but he must be powerful popular. When we got within a half a block of his place there was droves of people swarming into his house. It was a panic, like moonshiners leaving a still when the revenuers come.

Well Eldon, (He sometimes confuses me with another cousin, Theodore) they just swept me right along with them, right up to the door and when I got there a feller says to me, "Have you got a ticket to get in?" And I says right back to him, "No, sir, I ain't got a ticket to get in. I don't want a ticket to get in, but if you got any tickets to get out, I'll take one."

Before he could say anything else the folks behind me pushed me right inside the most bodacious livingroom I ever seen. Why that living room must of been a hundred feet long and might nigh as wide. The chairs was all lined up on both sides and the way they was piled up it looked like a chicken roost. I jumped up there like a banty rooster and grabbed me a chair.

No sooner did I get set than a dozen long, lanky, skinny boys run into the living room in their underwear! The girls was mortified and commenced to screaming. Everybody just whooped and hollered and I had to hide my eyes—for a minute.

Pretty soon another dozen fellers in their underwear run in from the other end and there was more whooping and hollering.

Then two fellers in the loudest smoking jackets I ever seen came in and called two fellers, one from each bunch. They must of had a powerful secret because when they got through talking they shook hands to seal the deal.

After that a guy in a smoking jacket brought out a hog bladder. Then about a dozen of them guys got to grabbing and bouncing and throwing that bladder around. What they was trying to do was to hang the bladder up in a seine. They couldn't do it cause the seine was old as the hills and didn't have no bottom in it. Ever time they throwed the bladder in it, it just fell right through.

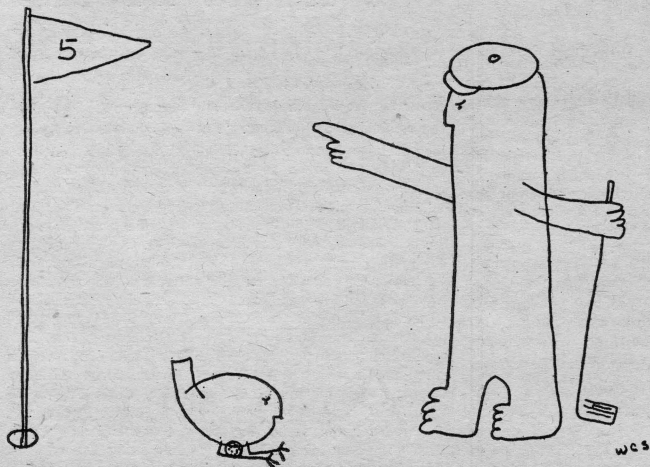

It seems to me that they'd of seen it wouldn't work and get some new fish nets, but they didn't. They tried for the longest kind of time and then they quit.

Everybody got up and left and I was setting in there by myself. Finally I figured I wasn't going to see you, so I left.

Your uncle, Leon.

RPI Wins Tourney With Combination Of Balance, Defense

By Bill Jamerson

RPI's Green Devils used balanced scoring combined with all-around teamwork to win the first annual Bridgewater Invitational Basketball tourney December 18-20. The Devils capped a five game winning streak, Wednesday, December 20, by upsetting tourney favorite Western Maryland by a count of 77 to 68.

Five RPI players hit double figures in the championship game. The Devils moved ahead for good with nine minutes left on a driving layup by Doug Loughridge.

The Green Devils led by 37-33 at the half, but the Green Terrors from Western Maryland caught up and the lead see-sawed back and forth until Loughridge hit on his layup.

Steve Peebles was high scorer for RPI with 18 points. He was followed by George Shaheen with 17, Gene Bourne with 16, and Loughridge and Marshall Vaughan with 10 each.

The Green Devils moved into the finals by defeating Hampden-Sydney, 63-57, and Bridgewater, 71-61, in their first two games.

Hampden-Sydney

The victory over Hampden-Sydney in the opener marked the first time RPI had beaten the Tigers in either basketball or baseball.

RPI, trailing 38-22 at half-time, gradually cut the Tigers' lead until George Shaheen dunked in a hook shot to put the Devils ahead for good, 51-50, with 8 minutes and 43 seconds left.

Shaheen led the scoring with 23 points, while Jimmy Jones collected 13. Gene Bourne also hit double figures with 11 points.

Bridgewater

The Green Devils put four men in double figures as they defeated Bridgewater's Eagles for the second time this season. There was never any doubt about the outcome of this game as the Green Devils jumped off to an early lead and were never headed. The Devils ran up a 36-25 half-time lead, and the cold-shooting Eagles never got closer than six points after intermission.

Jimmy Jones led all scorers with 21 points, while Gene Bourne tallied 15 and played a good floor game. Steve Peebles and Doug Loughridge added 11 and 10 points for the balanced Devils.

In addition, the tough Green Devil defense restricted the Eagle's high scoring Jim Reedy to 15 points.

First Crown

This was the first tourney crown the Green Devils had ever won. The five-game winning streak is the longest that RPI has ever had.

RPI Coach Ed Allen attributed the tourney victory to balanced scoring and good defense. He said, "We dropped back real quick on defense so they couldn't run against us. Then we kept mixing a zone with the man-for-man. They didn't know what to expect."

Coach Allen figures that a heart-breaking 63-61 loss to Newport News Apprentice school had the most to do with starting the win streak. The Devils, 20 points down against the Apprentice school with only 11 minutes left, had battled back to a 61-61 tie before losing. Coach Allen said, "The boys found out they could play ball."

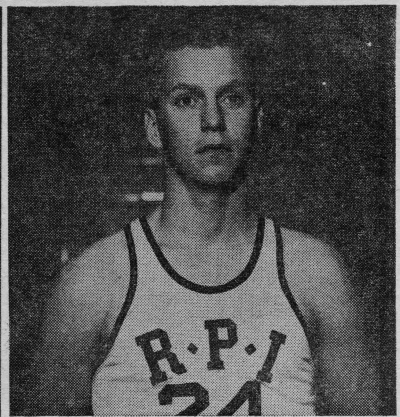

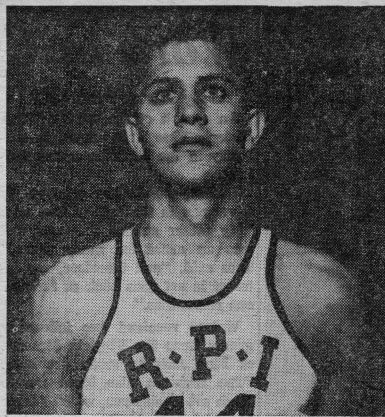

Four RPI players averaged in double figures during the tourney. George Shaheen scored 47 points in the tourney, while Gene Bourne, Jimmy Jones and Steve Peebles had 42, 40 and 37 points, respectively.

A winning season would be only the second for the Green Devils. The only winning season they ever had was in 1956-57, when they compiled a 13-9 record.

The Green Devils travel to Bridgewater tomorrow night.

Wednesday they play Hampden-Sydney there, and then on to Roanoke Thursday to seek revenge against a team that beat them by 28 points earlier in the season.

The next home game will be played against Newport News Apprentice School on January 16.

4-Team Race Is in Prospect In Intramural Basketball Play

The Monogram club, the defending champion, has jumped out in front in the men's intramural basketball league with a 2-0 record. Close on their heels with 1-0 marks are the Rocking Rebels, Hastings Has-Beens, Engineers and the Crackers.

Action before Christmas saw the Rocking Rebels trounce the Vets, 61-21; Hastings Has-Beens defeated Draftsmen, 58-32; Monogram bested the Dormitory 312, 61-21; and the Crackers overwhelmed the German club, 64-28. The Engineers also won in a forfeit over the Distributors club.

The pre-season favorites, Hastings Has-Beens and the Crackers, have won all their games handily. However, there is talk around the league that the Rocking Rebels and the Monogram club will present stiff challenges. The Monogram club has posted two victories while the Rocking Rebels won by a 40-point spread in their only routing to date.

The first big test of the young season for Hastings' Has-Beens and the Rocking Rebels will come Monday when they play each other. The Engineers and the Draftsmen will play in the opener.

On Wednesday the Monogram club will play the Distributors; Vets vs. Lafayette; and the Engineers vs. Crackers.

Coach Timberlake said that he was well pleased with participation and the excellent competition. Jack Pack of the Hastings' Has-

Beens scored 22 points against the Draftsmen which is the individual high this season. The Monogram

Four dormitories have entered teams in the league, and probably three more will enter before Tuesday, Timberlake said.

Competition for women is set for Tuesday and Thursday at 6 p.m. Play will continue until the March 28.

club's 68 points against Dorm 712 is the high team game total this year.

Women's Intramural basketball will start Tuesday, Coach Timberlake announced.

Devils Win Two Games

RPI's Green Devils won their second and third games of the season by upsetting Bridgewater, 91-83, and Southeastern, 72-70, on December 13 and December 15.

Although Bridgewater's high scoring Jim Reedy poured in 36 points, RPI beat favored Bridgewater by placing five men in double figures.

Jimmy Jones led the Devils' scoring with 18 points, while George Shaheen and Steve Peebles tallied 17 and 15 points, respectively. Marshall Vaughan and Doug Loughridge each added 13.

Jimmy Jones sank a 10-foot jump shot at the final buzzer to enable the Devils to defeat Southeastern in a real thriller.

RPI once again placed five men in double figures. Marshall Vaughan had 16; George Shaheen, 13; Gene Bourne, 11; Jones, 10, and Doug Loughridge, 10.

Veteran Painter Shows Work in Gym Gallery

By Larry Prentice

An exhibit of the work of Tom Waters, Fine Arts major, is currently in the Franklin Street Gallery.

Waters, a February graduate, is a veteran in the field of fine arts. "My father studied fine arts and was an artist for many years," Tom said, "and therefore, my interest in art goes back as far as I can remember."

Waters received two fellowship grants from the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts to study art here. "The museum also hired me to teach art to children, which I have been doing for two years," Waters continued.

Waters also taught mosaics classes at the YMCA in 1957. "I'm not sure about teaching in the future," he said, "but I do plan to begin work on a master's degree in September."

In 1957, Waters won third place in the State Hallmark Painting Contest. His work was exhibited at Ohio State University in 1958, and the following year one of his paintings was recommended for award or purchase at the Valentine Museum.

He was invited to exhibit his work with the Richmond Artist Association early this year. His work has been exhibited in such places as Miller & Rhoads in Richmond, and in Newport News, Roanoke and Lynchburg.

"I sold one of my paintings to a boy bound for New York," he said. "When the boy got there, he hung the painting in an exhibit and more than 50 persons tried to buy it. The owner of the exhibit hall even asked me to come up and put on a one-man exhibit."

Waters is married to a RPI Drama graduate, Marian Kinzie. "We were in a play together, 'Thy Kingdom Come,' in Salem, Va., last year," he said. "But I prefer art to acting."

Fee Cards

There are still 311 activities fee cards that have not been picked up. The cards may be obtained from the Student Government Association office at 824 Park ave. or at the ticket stand during basketball games.
