First Performance In Concert Series Set Tonight in Gym

By Rick Harrison

The Four Seasons Consort, a group of four instrumentalists, will perform at 8:30 tonight in the Gymnasium.

The Consort specializes in music for the solo and trios literature of the Baroque and instrumental music of the Medieval and Renaissance periods.

Comment Is Declined On Editorial

Members of the Honor Court declined this week to comment on the Proscript's November 16 editorial proposing that the Honor System be junked and a new one established.

It was later learned that the Honor Court met Monday night but members declined to discuss their considerations.

Asked Tuesday of the proceedings at Monday night's meeting, Dean Johnston, Honor Court advisor, replied that he had not attended the meeting but that he knew that the Honor Court decided then not to give a statement to the Proscript at the present.

"It is my understanding that they (the Honor Court) have no statement to make to the Proscript at this time. I have no comment, either," Dean Johnston said.

Bob Hill, chairman of the Honor Court and president of the Student Government Association said, "We discussed the article and editorial concerning the Honor Court at Monday night's meeting. We have no comment to make."

Band Concert To Be Given December 9

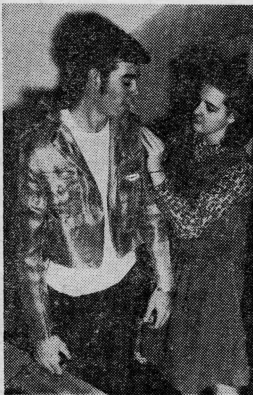

The RPI Concert Band will present its traditional Christmas concert at 3:30 p.m., Sunday, December 9 in the Gymnasium.

Although the band is composed of 40 students drawn from various departments, the bulk of the membership are students in the school of Music.

Mr. Edwin Mirr, head of the Music school, will direct the band. Mr. Mirr, a conductor and trumpet player, has formerly played with the Indianapolis, Louisville and Baltimore Symphony Orchestras and was a member of the Metropolitan Opera Orchestra. He also directs the Richmond Regional High School band.

The concert will begin with a twelve part brass ensemble piece "Symphony From the Fairy Queen" by Henry Purcell. This will be followed by a double brass choir piece, Canzon Septimi Tone No. 2, by Giovanni Gabrieli. The band will play a Chorale Prelude, "O God, Thou Holy God" by Brahms; Finale of the First Symphony in E flat Major by Saint-Saens, Fanfare and Allegro by Clifton Williams, Sea Portrait by Homer LaGasse, The Nutmeggers by Eric Osterling, Serenata and Sleigh Ride by Leroy Anderson.

The program will conclude with Christmas carols with audience participation.

'Birdie' To Open Wednesday

By Alberta Lindsey

Lots of exaggeration is going into the creation of costumes and sets for "Bye-Bye Birdie," which will open Wednesday night at 8:30 in the Shafer Street Playhouse.

Miss Agnes G. David and Mr. Richard A. Higgins, both instructors in the Department of Dramatic Art, are designing the costumes and sets.

Miss David is patterning costumes after everyday dress but on an exaggerated basis. For example, Conrad Birdie will wear army uniforms made from a bright shiny green fabric, patterned in the style of a regular army uniform.

Wagon Stages

Because scenes are so exaggerated and have to be changed so frequently, Mr. Higgins is using wagon stages. These are sets built on platforms that can be rolled on and off stage quickly.

SGA Sets $1500 Scholarship Goal For 1962-63

By Sandra Turner

The Student Government has set a goal of $1,500 for the 1962 Scholarship Drive which will be held December 7-15.

This year's goal is $500 less than the $2,000 goal of last year. Pledges of all campus organizations total $1,170, with an estimated marginal $330 expected from prosperous activities and donations.

Letters asking for donations will be sent to the parents of 2,000 full-time day students, with third class mail rates paid for by the college.

The drive will last one week this year. Last year the drive was extended to one month for the first time since the project was established in 1956.

A complete list of activities planned by the clubs for Scholarship Week was not immediately available. Mary K. Burton, SGA treasurer and chairman of the drive, assembled a list of the pledges from figures in a last year's Proscript because 1961 pledge sheets were not available.

A list of Scholarship Drive pledges follows: Accidental Club, $10; American Institute of Decorators, $15; Baptist Student Union, $30; Canterbury Club, $15; Distributors' Club, $60; Fashion Club, $35 and Fine Arts Club, $10.

Also, German Club, $30; Grace Hospital, $25; Hillel Foundation, $15; Newman Club, $15; Occupational Therapy, $20; Phi Beta Lambda, $100 and Psi Chi, $30.

Dormitories include 712 Dorm, $10; 312 Dorm, $10; Meredith House, $20; 828 Park ave., $15; Lee House, $10; 928 Park ave., $10; Scherer Hall, $20; 913 W. Franklin, $10; Founders' Hall, $20; Ritter-Hickok, $20 and 922 W. Franklin, $15.

The Senior class has pledged $180. The Junior, Sophomore, and Freshmen classes each have pledged $100.

Senior Plans For Graduation Are Contested

The Senior class last week heard the administration's objections to holding commencement exercises at Dogwood Dell, the amphitheater in Byrd Park.

The motion to have the exercises there was made in a previous class meeting by Bill Martin, a Business major. Commencement and the baccalaureate sermon are usually held in the Mosque and at a local church.

Mr. Raymond Hodges, head of the Drama department, spoke to the class as Dr. Oliver's representative. Everett Jenkins, president of the class, spoke earlier with Dr. Oliver about changing the place of the exercises. A final decision has not been made.

3 Objections

Mr. Hodges presented three main objections to holding commencement in the park. He said that (1) the Mosque was engaged last year for this year's graduation ceremonies and a deposit of $310 has been paid, (2) in case of rain, the Mosque would have to be kept on a stand-by basis and (3) Dogwood Dell, built as a children's theater for short productions, would probably be uncomfortable for a great length of time. He also cited the distance of the park from the school.

Martin said that he had spoken with a local high school which agreed to lend folding chairs so that persons attending the exercises would not have to sit on the

Sweetheart Night Wednesday

Twenty-three candidates are currently vying for RPI's basketball sweetheart.

The crowning moment will come Wednesday night when President George J. Oliver places the crown upon the head of the candidate who has received the largest number of votes.

Voting began last Monday and will continue through Tuesday. Booths are in Rotunda and at the Green Devils first two home games—last night with the Medical College of Virginia and tomorrow night against Hampden-Sydney.

A flood of last-minute entries swelled the number of candidates by nine. Nine entries were received last Friday which was announced as the deadline for entering by the Varsity Club, which is sponsoring the contest.

Candidates were introduced last night at the Green Devils' season opening contest with MCV.

The cobblestone campus virtually will come alive with the sound of music between now and Christmas. Besides the caroling, dormitory Christmas parties will furnish opportunities for everyone to vocalize.

For those who like more polished notes, the Four Seasons Consort, which will perform tonight in the Gymnasium, will offer an unusual listening experience. This 16th century group parallels the Music department's Madrigalists for they are both concerned with Elizabethan music. Those of us who have enjoyed the Madrigalist's singing possibly will find similar enjoyment in tonight's performance.

On December 9, the RPI Concert Band will give its annual Christmas concert. In addition to selections from Brahms, Purcell and Gabrieli, the band will offer traditional Christmas carols, and the audience will be invited to participate.

Students who work or shop downtown and who are tired of hearing a different Christmas carol blasted at them from every corner simultaneously, can well take advantage of the opportunity to sit down in a less hectic atmosphere and listen to the Concert Band.

Assistance Given To Symposium Is Appreciated

To the Editor:

The Association for Early Childhood Education wishes to express its appreciation to Richmond Professional Institute for making available the facilities in the gymnasium for the symposium November 17, the book store for supplying books for the autograph party, the housekeeping department for assisting in the luncheon, and the department of education and the evening college for handling our publicity.

To Dr. George Oliver goes our thanks for his direction and support given to our program and our guests. (Signed)

J. Rhodes Mitchell

Rector Optimistic About RPI

By Dave Burton

As rector of RPI's board of visitors, John Rhodes Mitchell is facing a job without precedent.

Never before in its 45-year history has the college been controlled by its own governing body. Mitchell was elected to preside over the school's first board after the General Assembly cut RPI loose from the colleges of William and Mary.

This situation doesn't make Mitchell feel out of place. The 50-year-old vice president of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia is even optimistic.

"I think we have a lot to look forward to," he says. "I have much confidence for the future of the school."

His attitude is reflected in his feelings toward his colleagues on the 14-member board of visitors.

Dedicated Interest

"Each and every member of the board has a dedicated interest in the school," the rector notes. "Each board meeting has lasted well into the dinner hour without anyone being eager to leave."

This isn't the only reason he voices for his being a 'believer' in the school's future. Others:

- (1) the educational advantages the school affords citizens of Richmond and nearby communities;
- (2) the specialized courses offered in several departments of the school.

Mitchell feels there are at least two important ways in which RPI serves Richmond. Not only does the college fill an educational gap, but the rector also feels the school serves the community in providing skilled people in many fields.

Speaking of the specialized courses, Mitchell says RPI is serving the needs of the nation as well as the state in some of its offerings.

RPI's Function

He feels it is of primary importance that the city and state be acquainted with the functions of RPI, and he cites the General Assembly's recognition of this in its cleavage of the ties that bound RPI to the W&M system as evidence that the school's accomplishments and potential are recognized.

Thus far, Mitchell says much of the board's time has been occupied with procedural matters and getting acquainted with its new role. It is gradually coming to more important matters.

"The question as I see it now is of analyzing more urgent needs and deciding which should be undertaken first on a priority basis," Mitchell says.

Mitchell holds a degree in electrical engineering from Georgia Tech, although he has never practiced as a professional engineer.

"But that's not to say I haven't used the engineering background throughout my life," he notes. He says he took engineering because "I knew what I wanted to do." His father was a telephone company employee, and Mitchell says he always planned to stay in the business.

Following his graduation from Georgia Tech in 1932, Mitchell worked for a short time as a salesman and then went with Western Electric, the manufacturing end of the Bell Telephone System, in 1936.

He was transferred to the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Washington (1940) and dur-the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. (1950), and he came to Richmond to head the Virginia C&P in 1951.

Extremely active in community affairs, Mitchell has served in some capacity in at least 27 civic projects. These include the Richmond Rotary Club, the Richmond and Virginia State Chambers of Commerce, the Richmond Memorial Hospital, the United Givers Fund and the Valentine Museum, and First Baptist Church.

Almost unbelievably, he still has spare time and pursues at least three hobbies—golf, photography and reading. He shoots a fair golf game (usually 90 to 95).

He enjoys biographies, some fiction, books about the Civil War and various economic and business periodicals.

He and his wife, who live at 6435 Roselawn rd. in the far West End, have two children, Alan and Kathy. Alan is a graduate of Georgia Tech, and Kathy is a sophomore at Women's College of the University of North Carolina.

Devils Meet Hampden-Sydney, Lynchburg at Home This Week

"We're ready to go," said Coach Ed Allen as the Green Devil basketball team which is billed as potentially the finest team ever to represent RPI prepares for its upcoming contests with three of the Little Eight's top teams—Hampden-Sydney, Roanoke and Lynchburg.

The Green Devils opened their season last night by hosting the Medical College of Virginia. (Results in next week's Proscript).

Coach Allen has been saying all along that the Green Devils' first three Little Eight engagements will provide an important clue as to what can be expected of the team this year.

Tomorrow night's important clash with Hampden-Sydney will pit the state's two leading scorers of last season, Bobby Muse and Bill Har-we have the problem licked now," added the Coach. Muse, playmaker Jimmy Jones and forward George Shaheen played together on the same team two seasons ago. However, the other nine members of the 12-man squad are, with the exception of Mike Price and Stan Barrack, having their first fling at college ball.

Teaming with the above mentioned three on the starting five will be Tommy Walsh and either Marty Robertson or Mike McDonough.

Guards Bobby Lehman, Jim Nienaber and Mike Price and front court men Stan Barrack, Jerry Harding and Jerry Hubbard will provide the bench strength.

RPI has accepted an invitation to appear in the Christmas Holiday Basketball Tournament at Norfolk—December 27-29.

The tourney, which is being sponsored by the Norfolk Atlantic Fleet Submarine Force, will start at 2 p.m. Thursday, the 27th. In the eight-team tourney besides RPI and the Naval Submarine team are: Old Dominion, Frederick, Pembroke, Western Maryland and Elon College, and the Generals from Washington and Lee University.

din against each other. Muse wound up with a 22.7 average last year, while finishing second to Hardin in the scoring race.

The Green Devils' visit to Roanoke Monday, in all probability, will be one of their toughest engagements of the year. The Maroons gave the Green Devils a thorough trouncing last year and have always played extremely well at home.

Wednesday night is "sweetheart night" when the Green Devils entertain Lynchburg. During halftime, a sweetheart will be crowned from amongst 24 candidates. (see story page one)

Basketball Tryouts For Women Begin

Coach Jeannette Talbot greeted 13 candidates last Tuesday as women's varsity basketball practice officially began.

At the turnout were four players who saw considerable action for the Devilettes last season, and who are expected to form the nucleus of this year's team. The returnees are: Dee Dee Dvorak, Jean Hebert, Marsha Rice and Linda Holloway.

Practice will continue on Mondays and Wednesdays from 7 to 9 p.m. The Devilettes will not start their regular season schedule until after the Christmas holidays.

Dinner Meeting Planned By International Club

A dinner meeting of the International Club will be held at the home of Miss Shiela Fling, December 1 at 6 p.m. New officers will be elected and reports will be given by various members on their countries.

Hasbeens, S.O.T.S. Tangle In Intramural Feature Monday

The S.O.T.S., the men's intramural basketball league's only unbeaten team, will face its stiffest test of the year Monday when the team meets the once-beaten Hasbeens.

The Hasbeens have won five of six, losing only to fourth-ranked 712 #1 in overtime. The S.O.T.S. have a well-balanced scoring machine, while the Hasbeens have two outstanding scorers in Bill Gowen and Gary West.

The Varsity Club, which is in second place with a 6-1 record, is idle until December 10 when the team tangles with the S.O.T.S.

In action last week, the S.O.T.S. ran their streak to six with a 67-52 romp over Phi Alpha Chi, and 712 #1 routed 712 #2 by 62-48.

Club standings: S.O.T.S. (6-0);

Varsity Club (6-1); Hasbeens (5-1); 712 #1 (4-2); 712 #2 (3-3); CA's (2-5); Phi Alpha Chi (1-5); 312 (1-5); German Club (0-6).

First round action ends December 1-4 and second round play begins two days later.

'Birdie' Begins On Wednesday

In addition to the two faculty members there are two students from outside the Drama department who are working on the production. They are Charles Ellis, a senior Music major, and Leona Ruth Silver, a sophomore Applied Social Science major.

Ellis is in charge of the musical direction for "Birdie." He will direct the 18-piece orchestra which will lead the singers and dancers through the happy musical. Leona is serving as choreographer for the show.

Mr. Thomas R. Long, assistant professor of Dramatic Art, directs the production. His job is to coordinate the work done by Miss David, Mr. Higgins, Ellis and Leona.

Although the Saturday night performance of the Broadway musical is sold out, tickets are available for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

SAM to Give Tour To Business Men

A student organization has planned to invite local business and professional men to tour the RPI campus in an effort to acquaint them with the school's physical plant and program of instruction.

The University Chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management (SAM) will invite business leaders to lunch followed by a tour of the campus conducted by members of the organization, said William O. Edwards the chapter's faculty advisor.

"Stagecoach," starring John Wayne, will be shown by the RPI Film Society tonight instead of the regularly scheduled "Panic in the Streets."

The cancellation, second in the Film Society's program, was made because the film was unavailable since it could not be reserved in time for the RPI showing.

"Thunder Over Mexico," originally scheduled for November 16, will be presented at a later date.

Rotunda May Close

The Rotunda has been open on Saturdays for a month with a hiatus in charge in the evenings.

ground. He said he has measured the bleacher seats at the amphitheater and believes that two rows of chairs can be placed on one tread.

Martin also said that a church in the neighborhood of Byrd park agreed to change the time of its regular worship services so that its sanctuary could be used for the commencement and baccalaureate services in case of rain.

In connection with this, Mr. Hodges said that the administration wants the school to have its own baccalaureate service separate from any church, to create a feeling of unity.

Jenkins said that the class executive board has reaffirmed the desire to hold the exercises at Dogwood Dell, but that the class is willing to meet the administration halfway.

In other action, the class elected a nominee for the Varsity Club's Basketball Queen, voted on changes in the constitution and discussed Scholarship Week.

Ann Turner, a Business Education major from South Mill, N. C., was chosen from three other nominees to represent the class in the basketball title contest.

The constitution of the Class of 1963 has been lost by the SGA. The Senior class revised its 1959 constitution and voted unanimously to accept the changes concerning the official name of the class, its purpose, membership, duties, authorities, dues and order of business.

Jim Bradley, a Commercial Art major, asked for volunteers to work with him on the Activities committee to choose a function to raise money for Scholarship Week. The class pledged $180.
