Irene Siegle Will Reign Over May Dance
She was Elected by Student Votes at Registration

Second Beauty Award Given to Irene Siegle

Harvest Queen Irene Siegle has adapted to the changing season and has been elected May Queen.

The blue-eyed brunette received a majority of the votes cast during registration last week. She will reign at the May Dance sponsored by the Freshman class May 16.

Shirley Critzer, a Business Education major from Waynesboro, has been named maid of honor. Shirley received the second largest number of votes in the balloting.

Other contestants were Louise Timberlake, Richmond, Business Education major; Jo Ann Chia-vetta, Pugh, Pa., Occupational Therapy major; Mary Woolford, Richmond, Business major; Sandra Johnston, Holland, Music major, and Barbara Ernst, Dover, Pa., Sociology major.

To become a contestant Senior girls had to obtain a petition from the student personnel office and get signatures of 25 students who would support her. The petitions were then approved on the basis of grade qualifications. Each candidate was required to have a "C" average.

Members of the May Court over which Irene will reign will be

SGA to Build Booth

A group of SGA students, led by George Bliley, are planning to build a student ticket-selling booth. The project was approved by a House of Representatives vote of 30-1 in September.

The booth, to be placed in the Rotunda, will be used by all student groups selling tickets to school functions. No groups will be allowed to sell tickets except at the booth.

No materials have been purchased and no starting date has been set for construction of the booth.

selected in early spring. Each class will nominate two girls for the court. They will be judged by a special committee at a tea given in their honor. The may queen, maid of honor and may court will preside at the May Dance festivities.

The dance will be held from 9-12 in the ball room of the Mosque. Free 1:30 lates will be given to dormitory students who attend.

Alberta Lindsey Represents RPI On Mademoiselle College Board

Alberta Lindsey, a 22-year-old senior in Journalism, has been named to the national college board of Mademoiselle magazine.

The red-haired, green-eyed coed will report news from Richmond Professional Institute to the women's fashion magazine.

Alberta, who is managing editor of the Proscript, was chosen on the basis of her entry, which was required to show talent in either art, writing, fashion, merchandising, promotion or advertising. Alberta submitted "The Stay-at-Home Collegian," an essay on living at home and commuting to college. She travels to RPI from Henrico county for classes.

As a college board member, Alberta is eligible to compete for one of 20 guest editorships. She must submit a second entry to show a specific aptitude for magazine work. Winners will be announced in May.

For her second entry, Alberta plans an essay on "Traditions at RPI."

An editorship would mean a trip to New York City for the month of June to help to write, illustrate

4,531 Enroll This Semester

Incomplete registration figures released this week show that 4,531 day, part-time and night students have registered for the fall semester.

There are 2,498 students registered in the day college, according to the registrar's office. Of this figure, 2,206 are full-time students and 292 are part-time. Two thousand and thirty-three students have enrolled for the Evening College, said Melvin E. Fuller, director.

Tuition Fees May Increase For Next Year

"There will have to be a slight raise in tuition fees next year if the General Assembly approves the Governor's proposed faculty pay plan," Dr. Oliver said this week.

Dr. Oliver did not speculate on the amount tuition would be increased or when the Board of Visitors would be asked to take action. He also declined to say whether charges on room, board and other fees would be increased.

Governor Harrison's plan, outlined last Wednesday in his budget message to the General Assembly, would provide two million dollars from state funds to help raise college faculty salaries in Virginia toward the national average.

The state funds would not be sufficient to raise all faculty salaries to the national average, he said. Individual colleges would have to raise an amount equal to their share by increasing fees, tuition and charges.

The Governor's plan, approved by the State Council of College Presidents, does not guarantee pay raises for all faculty members but rather leaves this authority to college presidents and governing bodies.

RPI Officials Tell of Needs Before Hearing

Del. Junie Bradshaw, a former student and instructor here, told members of the joint Senate Finance and House Appropriations committee of his experiences in teaching a law class here, using attics and woodworking shops as classrooms.

The appearance of the RPI Evening College faculty member was part of a 20-minute try on RPI's part for additional capital outlay funds in the new biennial budget.

It was the last day of a series of public hearings where state agencies and institutions sought to restore more than 19 million dollars to the state's budget for 1964-66. Some of those may be recalled for individual hearings the chairman said. In about two weeks he will name a subcommittee of senior appropriations members to complete a budget suggestion for consideration by the full committee.

Chairman Howard H. Adams said he hoped to have the budget bill reported out of committee and onto the floor of the House for voting by February 20.

When the bill leaves committee, changes in it are very rare. The General Assembly usually accepts the committee's version as final.

Robert A. Wilson, a member of the Board of Visitors, assured the General Assembly budget committee hearing that RPI was sympathetic with the problems of the committee, because RPI had been struggling with stretching money for a long time.

In its presentation request for addition funds to "buy the basic tools to get the job done," the college made no request for additional operating funds for the 1964-66 budget. Officials did suggest that the school be allowed $1,450,000 more in capital outlay than the Governor's original recommendation of $979,250.

This figure is still $1,965,050 less than the request made by the President, Dr. Oliver.

Listed as critical needs by Board of Visitors member Webster Rhoads who appeared before the joint committee hearing Monday were the west wing of the Science Building, a cafeteria and classroom for development of a master site plan for long range development.

Costs of these projects, partially covered by reappropriations and the Governor's recommendations, would require an additional $1,450,000.

Appropriation requests ranged in this figure from $15,000 for the master site plan to $750,000 for a new classroom building.

One of the requests was a revision of an original entry. Plans had to be rearranged to include a cafeteria in another building since

Mid-Winters Dance Features Ring Figure

A ring figure will highlight the Mid-winters formal dance to be presented by the Junior class from 9-12 p.m. February 15 in the Mosque Ballroom.

The figure—a formalized promenade of juniors and seniors who have received their rings—will be composed of upperclassmen who have replied to the invitations issued by the figure committee. Replies are due today in the student personnel office.

Music for the dance will be provided by the Duke University Ambassadors. Tickets for the dance will be on sale next week in the Rotunda. Junior class members will also sell them.

On sale with the tickets will be corsages and Dance club cards. The flowers will be available in different sizes and types, furnished by a local florist. They will be delivered the day of the dance.

Dance club cards, which will admit the purchaser to Mid-winters, the Journeymen concert, and the May Dance, can be obtained at the ticket desk for $5 excluding class dues.

"We would like to stress the type of attire to be worn to the dance," stated Judy Hewitt Clayton, president of the Junior class. Formal wear is required for those participating in the ring figure only. Men must wear a tuxedo and girls a floor-length formal dress. Others may wear anything they wish in keeping with the formal nature of the dance.

Free lates will be issued to dormitory students attending the dance.

RPI Rings for Sale

RPI rings will be on sale February 17-21 in the Rotunda.

Men's yellow gold rings will cost $55 and women's $32. White gold rings cost $5 more.

Alumni may also purchase rings at this time. They have been mailed a four-color post card picturing the ring.

The rings will be delivered in May.

Juniors and seniors who have already received rings may participate in the ring figure at the Mid-winters Dance February 15.

Yoo-Hoo! SGA?

Where is the Student Government Association? Is it on sabbatical leave? No. It's busy.

While budget appropriation controversy was on every lip in Richmond and RPI had such a brief time to beg for restoration of fund requests in the budget, the SGA appointed a committee to build a ticket booth in the Rotunda.

While RPI's fortune hung in the balance and students milled about the campus begging for something to do for the school, where was the SGA? An excited group of 200 students found them on their regular meeting night in Hibbs 303.

The SGA can be located in its offices at 930 Park ave., too.

But where is the SGA really?

The organization represents the entire student body of this college, but it was conspicuously absent in the most recent of vital concerns affecting the campus—the Governor's budget suggestions. The final budget allotments to this school will last for two years. This was an important issue, and it was necessary to bring RPI's importance to the attention of the legislators who vote on the budget. The Board of Visitors and the administration worked vigorously and well. The newspapers in the city did an exceptional job of interpreting our story to the public.

Students wanted to do something, but whatever was to be done had to be done with dignity and grace. The campus gathered hopefully at an SGA meeting.

The watchword for the campaign was caution, said Dr. Oliver. The SGA exercised such extreme caution that they seemed to have forgotten the situation. A small group of energetic students organized and begged the SGA to do something. The silence from the halls of student legislators was not golden. Finally the four classes elected representatives so that the students could be spoken for by some authorized group.

This committee circulated a petition and presented it with 800 signatures to Governor Harrison. The silence of the SGA was heard everywhere.

In the crucial week of the budget hearing presentation the SGA held a meeting and passed a resolution asking the student personnel office to send a notice to all instructors and request them to post a notice of their class schedules on the door.

Whipped.

Crime Stoppers

RPI's answers to the hounds of Baskerville are absolutely tireless it seems.

The clerks in the library, obviously not able to find enough to do in the way of cataloguing, shelving and repairing books, would rather have their ears pinched than be accused of idleness.

So they continue to distrust the principles of the Honor Code and go on checking briefcases and personal effects.

Even faculty members are subjected to the insulting examination.

If we entrust our minds to these men and women, isn't it fair also to trust them with our library books?

Possibly there would be some justification for the checking system if we see it from the library's point of view. It is preventive medicine. Persons who might accidentally walk out with unchecked books now have the opportunity to return and sign them out. The library claims it loses a tremendous number of books per year because students leave the building without signing for the books.

If this is true, there must have been a staggering number of "arrests" by now, and honor council must surely have been busy.

But no students have been charged with trying to transport books illegally out of the library. Hmmm.

Nobody will be able to find an honor council soon, for no soul professes to subscribe to the honor code in these modern times. Aesthetics are impractical.

Sometimes, library, it is better to be sorry than to be safe.

Judy Farnsworth Is Selected Apple Blossom Representative

Red-haired Judy Farnsworth has been named RPI representative to the 37th annual Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival to take place April 30 through May 2 in Winchester.

Judy, a Falls Church Distribution major in her Senior year, will serve as princess in the court of Queen Shenandoah XXXVII and will participate in the Festival's parade through the streets of the famed northern Virginia apple city.

She was selected by a special committee composed of the student personnel deans and the president and vice president of the Student Government Association Wednesday afternoon.

Five other coeds were finalists for the title, including: Rose Marie Shields, Senior, Business Education from Hampton; Mary K. Burton, Senior Music major from Mathews; Dee Dee Knox, Senior Interior Design major whose parents are stationed in Paris; Vickie Goodman, Junior Fashion Design major from Roanoke, and Nancy McGready, Junior Occupational Therapy major from Morristown, Pa. These five were selected by the SGA House of Representatives from a list of 10 eligible upper-class coeds nominated by the SGA Senate.

The four semi-finalists were Betty Nestor, Junior Distribution major from Alexandria; Louise Timberlake, Senior Richmond Business major; Beverly Hill, Junior Psychology major from Alexandria, and Gloria Pollard, Junior Music major from Glen Allen.

Representatives to the Festival from colleges in Virginia will be entertained and chaperoned by the Festival committee Thursday, April 30, through Saturday, May 2.

Student Body Gives Petition To Governor

Petitions bearing the signatures of approximately 800 RPI students, requesting a larger budget appropriation for the college, have been presented to Governor Harrison by members of the student body.

The Governor granted the representatives a personal interview.

The petitions were circulated around the campus and in the dormitories for over a week. They were collected and mounted on a white canvas board with an introductory page before being presented to the Governor.

Members of the committee, a group of interested students operating with the sanction of the four student class organizations are George Bliley, senior, Applied Science; Nat Floyd, freshman, Distribution; Carol Jacobs, sophomore, Art; Michael Havens, junior, Business and Ginny Hamilton, junior, Recreational Leadership.

The committee members who talked with Governor Harrison said that he received them cordially and went into detail about RPI's situation. They said the Governor expressed interest in the college.

Readers Discuss Image Magazine

We would like to commend you on the fine editorial commenting on the quality of the first issue of the school's literary magazine, the Image (January 10).

We feel that due credit was given where justly deserved, although unaccepted as such. The constructive criticism, so hopefully offered, has been rejected in a somewhat euphonistic manner.

The quality of the arts represented in the Image was below the standards that have been set at RPI by a truly creative atmosphere; perhaps the problem is too much imitative ostentation in the audible and visual arts.

There are too many fine minds controlling too much exceptional talent to allow another Image such as the last to be representative of the arts as found at RPI. We eagerly await a new Image of which we can be proud.

Sincerely,

CONNIE BLANKENBUHLER,
PAT WATSON.

Alma Mater Is Sought By March 2 Deadline

Competition for words and music for an original alma mater has been reopened and March 2 set as the deadline for entries.

The decision to reopen the contest was made by the Alma Mater Competition committee which organized the competition and drew up the rules for last year's contest. That contest proved unsuccessful after a five-member judging committee representing students, alumni and faculty rejected all entries as unsuitable.

The competition committee, headed by L. Wayne Batty, chairman of the School of Music, was established by President Oliver to plan and organize a means of providing a school song. Other committee members are Dr. E. Allan Brown, head of the English department; Richard E. MacDougall, acting dean of students, and Sandra Beale, a Junior Journalism major. An editorial in the Proscript on Nov. 9, 1962, and efforts of Mr. Batty resulted in the organization of the committee.

As prizes, a $50 savings bond for words and a $50 savings bond for music again will be offered.

The competition is for words and/or music. It is possible for one person to win both bonds. It is also possible that words could win the competition and not the music and vice versa. In this case, it would be necessary to obtain a suitable counterpart from the pen of another person.

All entries are to be submitted to the chairman of the competition committee, Mr. Batty. His office is located on the first floor of the Music School Building, 900 Park ave.

The following rules were set up by the committee:

(1) The competition is open to any enrolled student of RPI, its alumni and its faculty.

(2) All entries, words and music, must be original. Words and/or music may be submitted for judging.

(3) Entries should not exceed 20 lines of poetry.

(4) The music must be of such range that it is singable by all persons. It must be suitable for harmonization for all combinations of voices. It must have the properties that will make it adaptable for band and orchestra arrangement.

(5) The music and/or the poetry must be submitted on paper not larger than 8½ x 11". Words must be typewritten. Music must be written with black ink.

(6) Manuscripts will be accompanied by a sealed envelope which

Journeymen Folk Trio Is Signed

Preliminary contracts for the Journeymen concert were signed this week with International Talent Associates for an appearance at 8 p.m. March 21 in the gymnasium.

John Phillips, arranger and guitar player; Dick Weissman, musical writer and banjoist, and Scott McKenzie, tenor and guitarist, compose the musical threesome.

The three folk entertainers will present a two-hour program being offered by the Student Government Association Dance club as an added feature to Dance club members and all students.

Admission to the concert will be free to Dance club members. A nominal fee will be charged to non-members.

"Tickets will go on sale within the next two weeks in the Rotunda," announced Russ Thompson, SGA president. "We urge all students to buy their tickets and/or Dance club memberships early. The Dance club card will admit students to Mid-winters, the Journeymen concert and the May Dance."

Jaycees Plug RPI

The Richmond Junior Chamber of Commerce has adopted a resolution which has been sent to the General Assembly urging that Richmond, Henrico and Chesterfield representatives do all they can to persuade the legislators to give RPI more favorable appropriations than those recommended in the Governor's budget.

The resolution was adopted January 30 by the board of the Richmond Junior Chamber of Commerce. A spokesman said they felt it was one constructive thing that they could do for the college.

Club Plans Meeting

Alpha Delta Rho, the Distribution fraternity, will hold a combination business meeting, dinner and dance next Thursday at the Mark Monroe Motor hotel.

The business meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m., the dinner at 7 p.m. and the dance at 9 p.m.

Music for the dance will be supplied by members of the fraternity. The major order of business will be the adoption of a new constitution.

Traitors Hold Slim Game Lead As League Teams Continue

By Karlis Graubics

With a glance at the semester just finished we may sigh in relief that it's over and can start afresh, but such is not the case in men's intramural basketball where the records carry over, good or bad.

The Traitors still lead the league, but by only one game. The SOTS, Hasbeens and Varsity club are deadlocked for second place, knocking each other off in a careful manner as if plotting a raid on the front-running Traitors. The Hasbeens have done their share and now must protect themselves against the SOTS and the Varsity club. Meanwhile, they hope that one of the two clubs will upend the front runners.

Monday the Traitors played the 712 Dormitory team and the Hasbeens entertained the Gremlins in the only scheduled games of the week.

Howard Clabough of the Varsity club still continues to lead the scorers with a respectable 19.3 average per game. Nick Orsi of the Hasbeens is second with a 17.3 average, while George Stone of the Traitors has a 17.1 average. Fourth place belongs to Jim Antonick of the German club as he sports a 14.4 average. Emerging for the first time in the top five scorers for this year is last year's leader, Ed Coffman of the Traitors, who at present is averaging 13.8 points per game and is good enough for 5th spot.

Others in the scoring race are Bernie Mann of the Traitors, 13.6; Verlan Phillips of the Gremlins, 13.5; Ken Magill of Hasbeens, 12.6; Stan Sweeney of the Traitors, 12.4; and Rick Fry of the German club 12.3. All have played six or more games.

To be considered eligible for the play-offs March 16-18 a team must be in the top four at the end of the regular season. At present the standings are as follows and anyone who desires to make predictions as to which team will say "Wait until next year," may allow himself the pleasure.

	Won	Lost
Traitors	7	1
Hasbeens	6	2
Sots	6	2
Varsity club	6	2
German club	3	5
Gremlins	2	6

SMOKING IS A LEAD PIPE CINCH to Freshman Psychology major Vicki Zevgolits of Chester, Va. or at least a wooden pipe cinch. She has been smoking a pipe for about three weeks. ## RPI Puts Up Fight Against Frederick Lions

By Sam Shield

RPI "fought" with Frederick College Monday night for the third time this season and once again went down in defeat, 89-70.

The second half turned into a wild scrambling affair with a flurry of fights among the players. The loss ended a two game winning streak for the Rams.

Pete Watkins of the Lions broke a 4-4 deadlock with 17:55 remaining in the first half on a three-point-play. George Shaheen followed with a jump shot to make the count 7-6, in Frederick's favor. The Lions were never touched after that as they outscored the Rams 15-2 in a six-minute period to break the game open.

With the score 53-31 at half-time, the Lions proceeded to increase the lead, 73-43, midway in the second half before RPI could recover from poor shooting.

The Rams made only 23 shots in 80 attempts for a 28.8 per cent while Frederick hit 40.6 per cent on 39 buckets in 96 attempts.

The Lions, getting good defensive work, grabbed 71 rebounds to RPI's 34 and held C. G. Winston and Shaheen, the state's fourth and fifth leading scorers, to 20 and 19 points respectively.

Tip-off time will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow night for the game with Bridgewater here. A half-time show of tumbling will be presented by the Richmond Boys' club.

New Vice President

John Keys, a Distribution major from Greenville, S. C., has been elected vice president of the Sophomore class.

The sophomores have decided to hold a girl-skip-boy dance February 29 in the gymnasium.

New Tennis Team

Miss Nancy Alexander, women's Physical Education advisor, has announced she hopes to start a junior varsity tennis team for women this spring.

Interested persons should contact Miss Alexander in Room H of the gymnasium before next Friday.

Teacher Interviews Set

Miss Ruth V. Dudderar, assistant superintendent of elementary education for the board of education of Anne Arundel county, Annapolis, Md., will be here next Tuesday to interview seniors interested in teaching in the Anne Arundel county schools.

Interviews will be held from 1-4 p.m. Seniors interested in talking with Miss Dudderar should contact Miss Sara Stephens in the admissions office for an appointment.

Mat Men Will Play Minus Captain

The Rams have three wrestling meets scheduled in the next five days.

The Rams face Old Dominion College at 7:30 p.m. tonight at Old Dominion. Tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. they will meet Hampden-Sydney at Hampton-Sydney. The team returns home for another meeting with Hampden-Sydney at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

The wrestlers, now in their first year as an organized team, go into tonight's match with a 1-6 record.

The team's captain, Ronnie Reynolds, suffered an arm injury in a match before term examinations and Coach Dave Magill said he was not certain when Reynolds would return.

THE INNER MAN

College is fun and frolic and fulfillment—except for one melancholy omission: we don't get to enjoy Mom's home cooking. (In my own undergraduate days, curiously enough, I did not undergo this deprivation; my mother, a noted cross-country runner, was never home long enough to cook a meal until her legs gave out last Arbor Day.)

But most of us arrive at college with fond gastric memories of Mom's nourishing delicacies, and we are inclined now and then to heave great racking sighs as we contemplate the steam tables in the campus cafeteria. Take, for an extreme example, the case of Finster Sigafos.

Finster, a freshman at one of our great Eastern universities (Oregon State) came to college accustomed to home cooking of a kind and quantity enjoyed by very few. Until entering college, Finster had lived all his life in Europe, where his father was an eminent fugitive from justice. Finster's mother, a natural born cook, was mistress of the haute cuisine of a dozen countries, and Finster grew up living and eating in the Continental manner.

He arose each morning at ten and breakfasted lightly on figs,

My mother was a noted cross country runner

hot chocolate, and brioche. (It is interesting to note, incidentally, that brioche was named after its inventor, perhaps the greatest of all French bakers, Jean-Claude Brioche (1634-1921). M. Brioche, as we all know, also invented croissants, French toast, and—in a curious departure—the electric razor. Other immortal names in the history of breadstuffs are the German, Otto Pumpernickel (1509-1848) who invented pumpernickel and thus became known to posterity as The Iron Chancellor; the two Americans, William Cullen Raisin (1066-1812) and Walter Rye (1931-1932) who collaborated on the invention of raisin rye; and, of course, Hans Christian Andersen (1805-1875) who invented Danish pastry.)

But I digress. Finster, I say, breakfasted lightly at ten a.m. At eleven a.m. his Mom brought him his elevenses. At twelve she brought him his twelves. At 1:30 she served his lunch: first a clear broth; then a fish course (porgy and bass); then an omelette; then the main course—either a saddle of lamb, an eye of sirloin, or a glass of chicken fat; then a salad of escarole; and finally a lemon soufflé.

At three p.m. Mom served Finster low tea, at five p.m. high tea, and at ten p.m. dinner—first a bowl of petite marmite (she trapped the marmites herself); then a fish course (wounded trout); then an omelette of turtle eggs; then the main course—either duck with orange or a basin of farina; then a salad of unborn chicory; and finally a caramel mousse.

And then Finster went off to college, which reminds me of Marlboro Cigarettes. (Actually it doesn't remind me of Marlboro Cigarettes at all, but the makers of Marlboro pay me to write this column and they are inclined to get surly if I fail to mention their product. Mind you, I don't object to mentioning their product—no sir, not one bit. Marlboro's flavor is flavorful, the filter filters, the soft pack is soft, the Flip-Top box flips, and the tattoo is optional. Marlbors are available wherever cigarettes are sold in all fifty states of the Union. Next time you're in the U.S.A., try a pack.)

But I digress. We were speaking of Finster Sigafos who went from Continental dining to dormitory feeding. So whenever you feel sorry for yourself, think of Finster, for it always lifts the heart to know somebody is worse off than you are.

© 1964 Max Shulman

We, the makers of Marlboro, can't say whether European food beats ours, but this we believe: America's cigarettes lead the whole world. And this we further believe: among America's cigarettes, Marlbors are the finest.

RPI Officials Discuss Needs

the first classroom building in which it was to be included was denied funds. The new cafeteria, which would feed 600 instead of the 300 capacity of the present one in Founders, would be located in a proposed extension of the Hibbs Building.

Rhoads said that of the 101 classrooms now open, 31 are substantially substandard. He said that only 33 of the 101 had been originally designed as classrooms.

He cited the lack of a campus student center, auditorium, playing fields, and adequate physical education facilities. He said the library was overcrowded and was once a carriage house.

Wilson said that RPI had the smallest four-year campus in Virginia, 6.2 acres, and the third largest enrollment of any institution of higher learning in the state.

Three legislators, members of the joint committee which has been conducting hearings on the budget, issued a joint statement early this week saying that they thought RPI had made a better case for more capital funds than any group to appear in budget hearings.

The statement was prompted by the claim of a Richmond Forward candidate for City Council, James C. Wheat Jr., that RF had discovered RPI as an asset. The three legislators say the interest in RPI is "due solely to the outstanding board which Governor Harrison appointed when RPI was separated from the College of William and Mary by an act of the General Assembly two years ago. We hope that the candidates for Council will not make inadvertently make a political football out of RPI."

These statements could mean that if Richmond Forward or Republicans claim credit for RPI, the appropriations chances of the school might not fare so well in the Democratic-controlled legislature.

School of Social Work Receives $11,950 Aid

The School of Social Work has been awarded an $11,950 federal grant to improve education work with disabled persons. RPI is the only school in the country to receive such a grant.

The grant, awarded by the United States Vocational Rehabilitation Administration, is for the remainder of the school year and will be continued in future years, according to Dr. George T. Kalif, director of the School of Social Work here.

The funds will be used to support expansion of the RPI field work programs at the Medical College of Virginia and other hospitals and clinical facilities where students receive experience working with persons requiring rehabilitation.

Four Positions Are Now Filled In Male Dorms

Four new men's dormitory managers have been named to fill vacancies caused by the resignation of the first semester managers. Conflict of responsibilities was given as the reason for the withdrawals.

James Canaday, Junior Applied Science major from Fredericksburg, will serve as manager of 808 West Franklin Street Dormitory replacing Chester Henderson. Henderson, a Junior from Roanoke Rapids, N. C., majoring in Business, became the manager of 712 West Franklin Street Dormitory filling the position vacated by Woody Eney, a graduate Drama student from Alexandria. Ed Coffman, a Junior Business major from West Point, will continue to serve as the second manager.

Ed Bradshaw and David Alexick are the new managers of 312 North Shafer Street Dormitory. Bradshaw, a Senior Art major from Franklin, replaces Bill Ward, a Senior Distribution major from Cape Charles. Alexick, a Senior from Lynchburg majoring in Art, filled the position of Richard Cofer, a graduate Psychology student from Norfolk.
