Senate Accepts 2 Amendments To Constitution

Two amendments to the Student Government Association constitution were formally adopted by the Senate Monday night to clarify the functions of the Dance club.

Amended in the constitution were Article X, Section 1, Item 1 to read "The President (of the SGA) shall appoint the chairman of the Executive Committee of the Dance club."

The other constitutional change was in By-Laws, Article III, Section 3, Item 1 and 2. This establishes an Executive Committee for the Dance club, to govern all activities of the club.

Magazine Set For Release

The "Image," the journal of creative ideas, is expected to be ready for distribution in January, according to Ruth K. Meyer, managing editor.

The staff has been reading proofs for the publisher in the first of two planned editions for the school year. The other date of publication has not been announced.

Included in the first edition will be essays on jazz, the modern theater audience and the works of Garcia Lorca, translation of a three-act play, 13 poems, art and photography.

The journal is expected to be its usual length of 48 pages and will be published in a square shape. The front cover design has not been chosen but will reflect the literary material inside.

Distribution of the "Image" will be done in the Rotunda. Identification cards will not be necessary to obtain a copy. Copies for non-students will sell for one dollar.

It will be the duty of the Dance Club Executive Committee to make a tentative budget for the ensuing year, to be responsible for the contracting of bands for the three major dances—after the sponsoring class has chosen the band it prefers—and contracting any other Dance club entertainment.

The Executive Committee is also responsible for co-ordinating, with the sponsoring class, the sale of tickets to the three major dances and for all other Dance club activities.

Mike Boblitz, Sophomore, Occupational Therapy, Baltimore, Md., has been named chairman of the Dance club. He represents the Occupational Therapy club in the SGA House of Representatives.

Bucky Wise, Senior, Art, Murfreesboro, N. C., was named vice chairman of the Dance Club Executive Committee. Wise represents the German club in the House.

Representing Senate

The Dance club was organized for the purpose of sponsoring the three major dances — Openings, Mid-Winters and May Dance—and other major entertainment activities.

Pre-Planning Ends Friday

The two-week pre-registration planning and counseling period will end Friday.

Students are urged to meet with their advisors concerning schedule preparation for the coming semester.

The pre-planning program takes the place of a pre-registration plan used here in past years.

Mystery Play Ends Saturday

The final performances of "Suspect," the Drama Department's second production, will be presented tonight and tomorrow night at 8:30 in Shafer Street Playhouse.

The mystery, written by Britishers Edward Percy and Reginald Denham, is directed by Raymond Hodges, head of the Department of Dramatic Arts and Speech.

The play centers around the dilemma of Margaret Smith, a widow whose past deeds threaten to upset the wedding plans of her only child, Robert.

As the curtain goes up, Mrs. Smith plans to entertain the bride, Janet Rendle, and several members of her family, including Sir Hugo Const, the godfather, whose curiosity as a reporter leads him to dig into Mrs. Smith's past.

The rest of the play is made by the widow's wily attempts to prove

Dance Club to Give Folk Sing Tonight

The Dance club will present a free folk concert just before tonight's basketball game, 6:30-7:30 p.m. in the gymnasium.

The Hi-Landers, a group that does folk, jazz and modern harmony, will provide the entertainment.

The group comes from a recent engagement at the Playboy Lounge in Flint, Michigan. They will be on their way to the Copa Club in

New York City after making stops here, the University of Richmond, Mary Washington College and the University of Virginia.

"The concert tonight is an effort to get more activities started here next semester," Mike Boblitz, chairman of the Dance club said.

Other activities planned by the Dance club—in addition to Mid-Winters and May Dance—include a folk concert in April featuring Ian and Sylvia, two New York folk-singers.

The Hi-Landers, consisting of two guitarists, bass, sax and drums, has performed at many places in the country including the Playboy Lounge, the Blue Grass Room in Louisville, the Martique in Chicago and currently at Richmond's 3200 Club.

In January the group will release its first records—"Mariah," "Black Cat" and "The Touch of Your Hand." They will also appear on Johnny Carson's "Tonight" show.

Write Their Own Songs

The Hi-Landers write most of their own songs. Dick Runyon, bass player and part-time lead singer, writes and arranges the group's original numbers.

Joe Hiatt, the Hi-Landers' lead singer in most numbers, plays the sax and acts as master of ceremonies. George Noval also sings and plays the banjo and guitar. Terry Brads, guitarist, and Bobby Newton, drums, complete the group.

Lighting Ceremony Will Be Sunday

Dr. George J. Oliver will light the college's annual Christmas tree, Sunday, 10 p.m. at Shafer court.

Each organization on campus will provide two ornaments to decorate the tree.

Mike Brady, Senior, Music, Prince George, will direct the Brass and Woodwind ensemble to accompany singing.

The Chorus will present two selections, and will lead carolling around the tree. Songsheets will be distributed to those at the lighting.

Hot chocolate will be served by the Student Government Association.

Tucker Will Present Petition to Dr. Oliver

By Bob Lindsey

A three-point petition protesting the administration's alleged refusal to purchase two pool tables for the Student Center is being circulated and is expected to be submitted to Dr. Oliver early next week.

Wayne Tucker, self-appointed circulator of the petition and a Senior Applied Social Science major from Richmond, contends Dr. Oliver canceled an order for the tables.

Dr. Oliver declined comment and referred a Proscript reporter to Dean of Students Russell A. Johnston, who is in charge of the center.

Dean Johnston was out of town and could not be reached for comment at the beginning of the week. However, he said in October that the tables would be installed.

A check with the business office showed that no order for the tables has been made.

Tucker said his goal was to have 1,000 signatures before presenting the petition to Dr. Oliver, probably Monday or Tuesday. More than 640 students had signed the petition Monday, with roughly 50 per cent being women students who enjoy the game or want to learn, Tucker said.

One faculty member signed and several others were in sympathy with the petition, according to Tucker, who refused to release the name of the faculty member.

"We so often accept a decision of 'no' without finding out why," Tucker said in explaining why he took it upon himself to compile the petition.

"I plan to present it to Dr. Oliver with the request that if it is out of his hands to refer it to a higher authority, mainly the Board of Visitors," he said.

Tucker plans to man the ticket booth in the Rotunda from 11 a.m.-12 noon and from 1-2 p.m. today for the purpose of obtaining additional names.

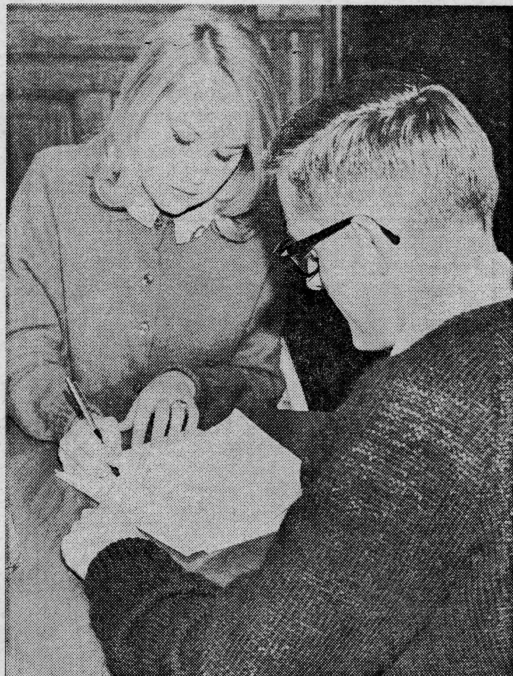

The petition is addressed from "the student body of Richmond Professional Institute to George J. Oliver, president". It reads:

"We believe the acquisition of billiard tables would serve a three-fold purpose."

- "Billiard tables would serve as a means of recreation for both male and female students."

- "The acquisition of billiard tables would encourage the use of the Student Center for a larger number of students, thereby making it the center of student activities on campus."

- "The acquisition and use of billiard tables would foster a growing school spirit and encourage student participation in campus activities other than recreational."

PHT, PST, PDT?

The Student Government Association has a new brainchild—the PHT (Putting Hubby Thru).

This proposed award would be presented to working wives of graduating students who have helped their husbands complete their college education.

Speaker of the House Wayne Tucker (who has a working wife) urged acceptance of the plan when he introduced the motion to the Senate Monday night. The idea was discussed and tabled until the next meeting.

Tucker said the plan is being used in several colleges across the country. He told the Senate that Dean Johnston had approved of the idea and that he plans to contact the sponsoring colleges for information.

Definite methods of administering the proposed award here have not been determined, Tucker said.

He suggested that the award be printed in degree form and presented to the wives at graduation both as an honor to the wives and as a means of "lightening" graduation exercises. "The husbands could pay for having the degrees printed," Tucker said.

We think that it is very nice of Mr. Tucker to want to honor his wife, but we believe that it could be done without involving his fellow graduates. He is only one of many male graduates who have working wives. With approximately 500 students involved in graduation exercises, the PHT degrees would be more a means of lengthening than lightening.

Mr. Tucker also suggested that names of PHT recipients be printed in the graduation program. Additional mention might be made at the Honors Convocation in the spring.

We agree that recognition could be made of these working wives, but exactly how much recognition do they merit. Are they to be honored with every student who has worked for four years or more to receive his degree?

Acceptance of the PHT would in turn justify a PST (Putting Sonny Thru) or a PDT (Putting Daughter Thru). Why should parents not be included in the honors. Of course the program may become involved with honoring any number of banks and similar sources of financial aid to college students.

The entire matter could become extremely complicated with bound graduation programs and graduation on a shift basis to accommodate all honorees in the Mosque.

All us to suggest an appropriate inscription for your proposed award, Mr. Tucker.

'Twas brillig, and the slithy toves

Did gyre and gimble in the wabe;

All mimsy were the borogoves,

And the mome raths outgrabe.

Lin Turner Organizes Majorettes

By Mary Matthews

Lin Turner, a Senior Retailing major from Hagerstown, Md., has an unusual hobby. She has formed a majorette group known as the "Confederate Commanders."

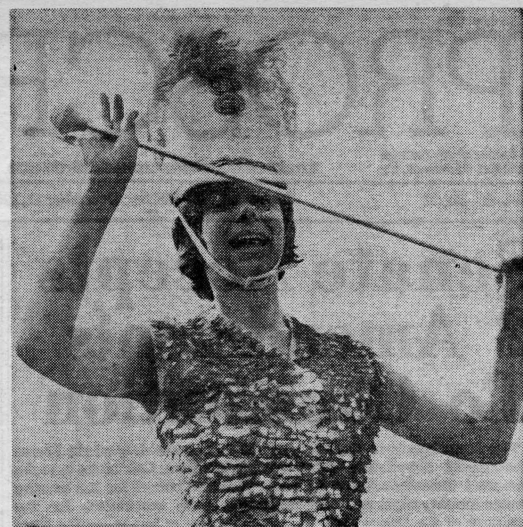

Lin has been twirling since she was a seventh grader. "I enjoyed twirling so much that I was marching with five groups at one time," she said. It was when she was 12, that Lin decided she would have a corps of her own some day.

YWCA Instructor

Her opportunity came during her Sophomore year, when an opening for a baton instructor at the YWCA was announced. Lin took the job and has been at it ever since.

When Lin started teaching at the YWCA, the course was offered for six weeks.

"So many of the girls thought that at the end of six weeks they would be accomplished twirlers," she said, "but it takes much longer to really become good." The course was lengthened to 15 weeks.

 She Once Twirled With Five Groups at One Time

When asked why the name "Confederate Commanders" was selected for the corps, Lin said she wanted a name that would fit in with the Confederate atmosphere of the Richmond area. The name "Rebels" was chosen first, but had to be discarded when the Richmond football team selected the same name.

The uniforms which the girls, who are all Richmond area residents, will carry out the Confederate theme. They will be red, white, and blue with flag tops, and each girl will wear a confederate hat.

Letter to the Editor

Reader Defends Directory

Editor, the Proscript:

I must object to the December 4 editorial entitled "Yellow-Covered Pages;" and if Phi Beta Lambda is to be attacked, I hope you will permit me to counterattack. The following paragraph designations refer to your editorial.

Paragraph 1: "... the Student Directory appears to be extraordinarily human." Neither the Directory nor its publishers have ever considered the little booklet to be human. The people who worked on it are very human and quite competent.

Paragraph 3: "Misspellings, which are evidently the printer's mistake..." Sorry the printer nor the proofreaders will accept full blame. Much of the responsibility for error rests with those RPI students whose writing on registration cards cannot be deciphered.

Paragraph 4: Addresses are subject to error because students move from time to time. Their very nearly illegible writing is a contributing factor to error here, too. I don't know how to account for Virginia's adoption of the young lady from Colorado, but congratulations to her any way. If she can make the adoption stick, she will find her tuition to be less expensive, too!

Paragraph 6: "Some Freshmen are discovering that their majors are not what they had thought them to be..." Phi Beta Lambda took their word for it. Incidentally, some freshmen are turning out much the same way.

Paragraph 7: "... some unfortunate souls did not have the honor of making the Directory list." If the Directory is so bad as your editorial writers think it is, why are these people unfortunate not to "So far as the booklet is concerned, these students do not exist." We are not aware that the poor little inanimate booklet feels any concern at all. Those people who prepared it are very much concerned indeed.

Paragraphs 8 and 9: Information was obtained from records supplied by administrative offices. These records do contain some errors. Many of these errors can be attributed to students, some of whom appear not to know their majors or their addresses. The administration and faculty are constantly checking and rechecking records. The facetious comment that these records may be of "some minor importance in the future" should be considered by students who fill in forms in a careless and indifferent manner.

Paragraph 11: Phi Beta Lambda does, in fact, charge 50 cents for the directories because the cost of publication to local chapter was 45 cents each. Phi Beta Lambda stands to net $50 profit on the sale of directories if the entire edition of 1000 copies is sold.

Finally, if "... to forgive is divine," Phi Beta Lambda will muster as much divinity as it can with regard to the following items in the December 4 Proscript:

1. "During the two-week period, December 7-14, each student is to meet with his advisor..." How time does fly!

2. "The projected six-year program... would cover the next three bienna..." Well, after all, Latin is a dead language; but the plural of biennium can be found in English dictionaries.

3. On the front page, column 4, I find "Dance club" and Dance Club." To capitalize or not to capitalize?

4. On page 2, I find that the card room in the Student Center is equipped with "Formica tables with a checker and chess board inlaid on top and 32 chairs." Now there is a galloping approach to syntax!

Phi Beta Lambda meant only to provide a service to students, faculty, and administration. D. P. had every right to express her personal opinion in a letter to the editor, but I consider the editorial attack to be unwarranted; and, any way, people who live in glass houses, etc.

Ramblings

By Sam Shield

Tonight RPI does battle with an old rival, Old Dominion College, in a Little Eight Conference game in the Franklin Street Gymnasium. The stage is set and the actors have been cast in what would be a director's dream; but, all is not well with the Rams.

The early season schedule has Coach Ed Allen doing a double take and moaning, "Our trouble is that we play only two of our first seven games at home."

If you're wondering why the crying towel is out so soon for an undefeated team, the Rams last season were 2-10 on the road. They did not win a conference game on an opponent's court last year.

Long Road Trip

If the Rams expect to have any kind of winning season at all they must win road games. The longest road trip of the campaign comes during the next two weeks. The Rams play Hampden-Sydney College tomorrow, Frederick College Monday and Bridgewater College Wednesday in away games. Then its off to New Bedford, Mass., December 28 and 29 for the annual North-South Holiday Season Seafood Fiesta Tournament which the team has never won—but Coach Allen is thinking this year in terms of a belated Christmas present for RPI.

The two opponents the Rams will face in the holiday tournament have not been named, but you can't blame Coach Allen if he looks ahead to the trip to Yankeeeland. Winning the Seafood Fiesta crown could give the Rams the confidence they need to display a winning ledger which has been done only twice in the past 15 years.

Solution to a Winning Season

The solution to a winning season also lies in the ability to get the team "up" for each game it plays. Tonight the Blue and Gray will try for its first Little Eight Conference victory of the season and also try to keep intact a home court victory string which dates back to last season. Besides, the Rams are undefeated and the squad would just as soon keep it that way.

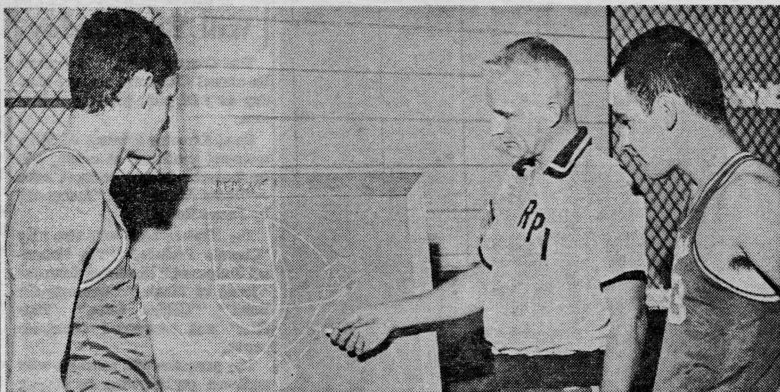

So the spotlight is on for a two night stand this week end and the curtain time tonight is 8 o'clock sharp. The dress rehearsals have been great up 'til now, but to quote an ardent basketball fan, Shakespeare, "... the play's the thing."

Big Game Against Frederick

A real test of the Ram ball club will be Tuesday night at Frederick. Coach Allen has called Frederick, "... out of our class."

If the Rams do lose Tuesday, will the team be able to bounce back? Or if the squad wins will they become too cocky for the Holiday tournament?

TIME OUT—The story is told around basketball circles that one night several years ago Bill Sharman, the shootingest backcourt man in the National Basketball Association, found himself in an unaccustomed position under his own basket. He promptly uncorked a 78-foot pass to teammate Bob Cousy, standing under the offensive basket. To the amazement of the crowd the ball went through the hoop. After the game Cousy commented, "That Sharm isn't much of a play maker."

Tough Hawks Defeated

The Rams put forth a team effort in a come-from-behind victory in the last five minutes to rip Southeastern University, 73-66, in a basketball thriller Saturday night.

Coach Ed Allen found his team down by as many as 11 points midway in the first half before rallying to cut the deficit to four, 38-34, at intermission. The Rams were guilty of losing the ball 11 times in the first 20 minutes of play and shot for a poor 36.6 per cent from the floor.

In the second half the Rams managed to tie the score on five occasions. With 5:37 remaining in the game RPI took the lead, which it never relinquished, on a spectacular play by the Blue and Gray co-captains.

Allen Blackburn cleared the board for the Rams under the Southeastern basket and threw up court to Bubba Crone. The throw was a bit too high, but Crone managed to get a hand on the ball and flipped it to C. G. Winston who scored over the outstretched arm of 6'9" Dan O'Leary to make the score 62-61, RPI.

Blackburn and Crone connected on fast breaks and Winston tossed in two of four free throws to mount the lead to 68-61 before O'Leary broke the ice for the Hawks.

The Rams ended the game with a 52.0 average from the floor and limited the Hawks to a mere eight baskets in the second half.

"It was one of the greatest team efforts I've seen by a ball club," Coach Allen said.

Wrestlers To Host Pirates Thursday

The varsity wrestling team will host Southern Conference power East Carolina College Thursday night. The first match will begin at 8 o'clock.

The Rams are looking for their first victory of the season and ailing captain Charlie Hall is expected to see action in the heavy-weight division.

South American Artist Lectures at Playhouse

Mario Cravo, Brazilian artist and professor of Fine Arts at the University of Bahia in Brazil, visited classrooms and gave two lectures here last week.

Lectures were heard by art students in Shafer Street Playhouse on Friday and by the graduate art seminar.

Cravo expressed interest in RPI and made several suggestions for expanding the art programs. His idea of exchanging student art shows from RPI and Bahia could possibly extend to an exchange of students and faculty members, he said.

Cravo was an artist-in-residence in Berlin last year as a part of the Ford Foundation's art program.

Both the Institute of Contemporary Arts and the Brazilian-American Cultural Institute in Washington, D. C. are now featuring shows by Cravo.
