Openings Scheduled Tomorrow

Two co-eds from each of three classes have been elected princesses for Openings dance tomorrow night.

The Freshman class did not elect representatives because it was notified too late.

Seniors elected Diane Abbott, ID Newport News, and Elizabeth Kuchar, Soc Hardy.

Junior princesses will be Mary Brownlee, ID Secane, Pa., and Renee Johnson, ID West Point.

Sophomores chose Diane Manley, Fash Arlington, and Sandra Nash, Ret Rockwell, N. C.

The girls will make up the court of the queen of the dance, Carla Cooper, Miss RPI.

The dance tomorrow night will be the only Sophomore-Dance club-sponsored activity of the week end; the Kingsmen will provide the music and entertainment.

Anderson House Dormitory (913 West Franklin st.) is sponsoring an open house tonight with dancing and refreshments. T.P. and the Wig-Wams, a local band, will play. There is no admission charge for the dance, 8 p.m. to midnight.

Dress for openings tomorrow night will be "informal" semi-formal. Dance committee members request no corsages be worn to "keep it (Openings) from getting too formal."

Theme for the dance to be held from 8 p.m. to midnight in the Mosque ballroom will be "A Night in the Valley."

Construction Will Begin Next Spring

By Brent Webber

RPI's first big step in developing the plant of a modern urban college begins with the construction of a 19-story dormitory to be located at Laurel and Franklin sts. Financed by a 25-year, $2.8 million bond issue, the dormitory will house approximately 700 co-eds.

According to Dr. Charles M. Renneisen, dean of students, demolition of the present 712 West Franklin st. dormitory is to begin in January, and work on the new structure is to start in early spring. The dormitory will be ready for occupancy in September, 1967.

The dormitory is designed to harmonize with Monroe Terrace and Prestwold Apartments. Because of lower ceilings, the tower of the dorm will not be much higher than Monroe Terrace, although the building will have seven more floors.

First Floor

The first floor will have suites for the hostesses, mail boxes for all students, an office and a guest lounge. The 19th floor will be left vacant for storage space and equipment. Eventually, when the college has the money, a penthouse will be constructed on the roof. A small parking lot is to be located in the rear for guests and visitors.

A three-story wing will house co-ed residents on the upper two floors. The ground level will hold several multi-purpose rooms which can be used for study lounges, displays, lectures, movies, dances and socials. These partitioned compartments can be made into one large room. An outdoor patio also will accommodate students.

Most of the dormitory units will be double rooms; there will be a few singles and some triples.

The new dormitory will make use of the "house" system now in effect at many metropolitan universities. This means there will

Convocation Is Set For Thursday at 11

Eight Junior class marshals have been selected by the Senior class to assist in co-ordinating Thursday's convocation—the second of four planned for the school year.

Juniors are named each year to aid faculty marshals in forming the student-faculty procession.

Sidewalk Art Sale To Be Held Sunday In Shafer Court

The annual fall Sidewalk Art Sale will be held from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Sunday in Shafer Street Court. Students from the fine arts and commercial art departments will use the sale to raise money for their supplies and the Student Government Association scholarship fund.

In previous years the sale has been devoted entirely to the sale of any art works, but last year a student selection committee was formed to choose quality work that students here are capable of producing because "in the past the art works varied and sometimes were not up to good standards."

which will assemble when classes are dismissed at 10:30 a.m. Convocation will begin at 11 a.m.

Student marshals are Robert Borden, Ret3 Thoms Brook; Dennis Carey, Adv3 Richmond; Thomas Bucher, Dised3 Winchester; Edward Hawpe, Dised3 Waynesboro; Marena Grant, ID3 Hampton; Rebecca Schwab, Dis3 Arlington; Dayna Parker, OT3 Jackson, Tenn.; and Andrea Respass, Ret3 Richmond.

Speaker for the convocation is Dr. Alden G. Bigelow, associate professor of social science. Dr. Bigelow will give a brief sketch of the development of the history program with emphasis on the school's offering of a BA degree in history.

Dr. Bigelow announced this week he plans to include anecdotes about George Washington and Gen. Robert E. Lee in his talk.

A native of Albemarle county, Dr. Bigelow earned his bachelor and master degrees from the University of Virginia. He also received his doctorate at the university.

Two other convocations will be held this year.

Final Performances Of Streetcar Scheduled

The final performances of Tennessee Williams "A Streetcar Named Desire" will be given to night and tomorrow night at 8:30 in the Shafer Street Playhouse.

Class Ring Delivery Set For January

This year's order of 362 class rings is scheduled to be delivered in January, according to Andrea Respass, Ret3 Richmond, chairman of the Ring Committee.

Women's ring orders totaled 149 and men's rings, 213.

"The most popular style for men's rings was the dark aqua stone in yellow gold, and the black onyx signet ring in yellow gold was the girls' favorite," Andrea said.

The committee plans to sell rings again in the spring when they hope to have a ring for women who receive a two-year associate in science certificate as well as a two-year ring for men.

Everyone who purchased a ring this fall will be eligible to participate in the ring figure at the Mid-Winters dance scheduled for February.

Dr. Oliver Approves $33,524 Budget

The $33,524.30 Student Activities Committee (SAC) budget with no changes in proposed allotments has received blanket approval from President Oliver.

The student yearbook, Cobblestone, will be given the largest part of this year's budget, which is an increase of $6,135 over last year's. The Cobblestone has been allotted $13,666.

Also stipulated in the budget is a $500 grant to a new literary magazine which will be published next semester.

Representatives of the new magazine—inspired by a collection of short stories published last month—had asked the SAC originally for $2,300. Image, the established literary magazine, requested $5,300; its request was trimmed to $4,300.

Other SAC allotments approved by Dr. Oliver include the Spring Arts Festival, $1,000; Film Society, $200; Film Festival, $400; Concert-Lecture series, $4,000; and Richmond Symphony, $450.

Also the athletic fund, $2,500; drama fund, $1,250; Student Government Association, $1,400; the Dance club, $4,000; and Orientation, $350.

Lecture Series To Present Poet Richard Murphy

Richard Murphy, an Irish poet, will give a lecture on readings of narrative and lyric poems, 2 p.m., Friday in the Hibbs building, room 303.

At present Mr. Murphy is writer-in-residence at the University of Virginia. He won the AE Memorial Award for his poetry in 1951 and the Guinness Prize in 1962.

Mr. Murphy's lecture will be open to all students. The lecture is presented by the University Center of Virginia lecture series.

Carolyn Ruziak Wins $100 Club Scholarship

Carolyn Ruziak, OT3 Richmond, has been awarded a scholarship by the Battery Court Woman's club of Richmond.

The club each year gives a $100 scholarship to a student studying in a Virginia college in a health-related field.

Guest Editorial

Ed. Note: Honor Court Chairman Milt Woody explains in a guest editorial his feelings about tradition and honor at the college.

This year in RPI's history marks a period of transition, development and growth. Already many changes have taken place within the student body and the Administration. This is the year for inaugurating lasting traditions by which Richmond Professional Institute should and ought to function.

During Orientation Week the other members I and of the Honor Court had the pleasure of addressing the new students. In my address I stated they would be the steppingstone upon which new traditional and honorable values would be achieved.

But addressing the Freshman class is only one-fourth of our task. Now we must ask you, the upperclassmen, for your cooperation and endorsement of the honor system. Our goal is to make the honor system an integral part of our lives. To incorporate honor as a deeply cherished moral code of personal integrity is what we advocate.

This is your college, and after you graduate it will remain your college for as long as you live. Therefore in a sense RPI is your future. Anything—and I stress this point—that harms the college in any way at any time harms your future.

Someday this institution will have expanded beyond your dreams, and you will and should be proud of it. This is a priceless heritage which you now possess, don't sell it cheaply. We wish for those following us to cherish our honor system; consequently it will grow and develop through the years.

When, in the coming years, someone speaks to you of our college's position in the community and the state—about its contributions, merits and honorable traditions—look proudly at him and say you had a part in the making and building of those traditions.

Milt Woody
Honor Court Chairman

Campus News Briefs

The Registrar's Office announced this week applications for bachelor and associate degrees should be filed in that office by November 15 and mid-term reports should be mailed out before students arrive home for Thanksgiving vacation.

A representative from the graduate school of business administration of the University of Virginia will be here at 9 a.m., November 15, to answer questions and give information about the school.

Interested students should contact the Office of Development, Ad 21, for more information.

At 5:45 p.m. Wednesday the Baptist Student Union will present a movie and a discussion in the Baptist Student Center. The movie is "The Eye of the Beholder."

The center is located at 915 Park ave. and everyone is invited to attend.

William Hill will speak at the Phi Beta Lambda meeting, 5:30 p.m., Tuesday in Hibbs 303, on "What the Business World Expects of a College Graduate."

Mr. Hill is executive vice president of Pargas Inc., one of the world's largest distributors of liquid petroleum.

Letter to the Editor

Reader Says Critics Think Along Lines of Rockwell

Editor, the Proscript:

Allow me to congratulate you on your last issue of the Proscript. It is certainly the most informative and stimulating issue which has appeared during my sojourn at RPI. It also marks the first time that someone has pilloried me in a letter and has had the honesty to sign his name. Heretofore my critics have been satisfied with sending me pungent and scurrilous letters which were unsigned.

Although my critic seems to abhor the dialectic of the Birch Society almost as much as the dialectic of the pacifist, he has used the former group's method of labeling a dissenter with that redolent word, "left." I would have preferred to have been denounced as a Communist, because the word "Communist," when applied to an individual without proof, reads so much more effectively in a suit for libel.

"My Critic Alleges"

My critic alleges that I equated "our military leaders" with Adolf Eichman (sic) and our President with Adolph (sic) Hitler.

In truth I only drew an analogy, an analogy which might be drawn by anyone who reads the following statements:

"We see in communism, more now than before, the incarnation of human destructive forces . . . We therefore oppose any attempt at spreading communism wherever it may take place . . . We shall always and everywhere champion peace and freedom against aggression."

"It is victory or defeat . . . We will never retreat . . . No human power can force us to do so . . . But we seek no wider war." These statements echo our foreign policy in Viet Nam, but they were not made by our President at a recent press conference; they were made by one Adolph Hitler in speeches in February 1938 and November 1939.

Paraphrases Speech

In his letter, my critic paraphrased a recent speech he heard: "As individuals we can't fight for freedom; as a nation we can."

Does M. D. Auman [my critic] really think that we as a nation brought about the Civil Rights Law, that we as a nation helped to rebuild the bombed-out churches in Mississippi and that we as a nation can help the college student to gain the right to freely exercise his full rights as a citizen? If this is the type of reasoning that grows out of the American dream, it would behoove us to dismiss the American dream as a "TV dinner" nightmare.

M. D. Auman, as a self-appointed spokesman for "most of the student body," extended to me the invitation, "If you don't like our way of life, please leave." This might indicate that my critic thinks along the same lines as another all-American, George Lincoln Rockwell, when he states on page six of the "Rockwell for Governor" brochure: "We believe that it would be of mutual benefit to both the state and dissatisfied citizens to make mutually agreeable arrangements for the . . . re-location of dissatisfied citizens. Therefore, we advocate a State Re-location Board to consider worthy cases of citizens desiring to leave Virginia . . ."

In his sophomoric attempt at character assassination, my critic has implied that Americans have no right to dissent. Allow me to point out that this is the situation of the people living under a totalitarian government, i.e., in a totalitarian state, the people are free to express themselves in agreement with the government.

Those of us in America who are not fettered by the "TV dinner conscience" of our times are free to voice our opinions regardless of whether we agree or disagree with our government's policies. I wonder if my critic feels that Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) has "prostituted his right to disagree?"

Whether dissent is a mark of intelligence or not is a moot question. But before M. D. Auman publicly birches another dissenter, he should investigate the reasons that our state has for venerating dissenters by making shrines out of their homes and by erecting statues in their honor on Monument ave.

Lack of Height a Big Problem Of Experienced Basketball Team

By Larry Evans
Proscript Sports Editor
 Coach Ed Allen narrowed the Rams basketball team to 13 players last week but is undecided whether or not it will be his final cut.

All but four of the men have played collegiate ball before, but the team is plagued by a lack of size. The average Ram is 6'1" in height and weighs 174 lbs.

Leading the returnees are C. G. Winston, co-captain of last year's squad. Winston averaged 16.6 points per game last season and received the Slater Award for best defensive player of the year. Two years ago the 6'2", 175 lb. junior finished fourth in the state collegiate scoring race with a 22.4 average. Winston holds the school record for single game scoring with a 47-point output in his freshman year. Winston scored 40 of the points in one half.

Minor Injuries Plague Wrestlers

With its first match little more than a month-away, the Rams wrestling team is plagued with minor injuries as it works busily to get itself into shape.

The only serious injury has been Dick Overton's shoulder separation, which will probably sideline him for the season.

Bob Nero received a cut over his right eye which required four stitches, and Lynn Gibson aggravated an old arm injury, but both are expected to be in good shape when the season begins.

Lyn Creech, a 6'2" forward, led all Virginia collegiate scorers last season with a 24.0 average. Creech was a member of the Little Eight Conference All-Star team last year and was voted recipient of the Slater Award for most valuable player on the Ram's squad. He holds the school scoring record with 529 points scored in a single season.

Mel Dunnivant
 Mel Dunnivant was the third Ram to finish in double figures last year. The 6'4" center averaged 13.5 points per game and was one of the leading rebounders on the squad.

Bob Canaday, a 6'2" forward, was a reserve on last year's team. A junior, Canaday transferred from Potomac State College (W. Va.) last year where he lettered in basketball.

The tallest of the Rams is Bob Griffin, a 6'5" sophomore. Griffin played behind Dunnivant at center last year, improving each game until he started at the end of the year against Pembroke N. C. State College. Griffin received the Slater Award for sportsmanship last season.

Marvin Bradshaw
 Marvin Bradshaw, a 6'0" sophomore, was a reserve on last year's team. The 175-lb. guard played three years for Richmond's George Wythe-High School with Ram teammates Mel Dunnivant and Lyn Creech.

Returning to the Rams after one year's absence is Bill Bourne. The 5'10" guard was a starter on the 1963-64 team. Bourne, a junior, made the Cavalier-Tarheel Junior College Conference All-Star team while playing for Danville Technical Institute three years ago.

Bill Donlon brings two years of collegiate basketball experience to the Rams. The 6'1" junior played two years for Chreston (Iowa) Junior College where he carried a 16-point average over a two-year period.

Another addition with two years of experience is Jim Polk. Playing for Shenandoah (Va.) Junior College the past two seasons, Polk carried a 13-point average. At 5'10", 165 lbs., Polk will play guard for the Rams.

Ron Wooddy, a 5'9" sophomore, will be playing his first year for the Rams. Wooddy played three years for Mechanicsville's Lee-Davis High School and carried an 18-point average his senior year.

There are three freshman on this year's squad.

Bob Alford, a 6'3", 190-lb. center, played three years for Turner Ashby High School in Dayton. Alford carried a 17.5 average his senior year and was voted all-district and honorable mention all-state.

Barry Winslow played three years for Yorktown's York High School. The 5'11" guard averaged 10 points a game his senior year.

Playing for Alexandria's St. Stephen's High School, Jim Worden was an All-Prep League selection for two years.

Intramural Loop Starts Next Week

Intramural basketball play gets under way Monday afternoon with a two-league system being inaugurated this year.

There will be a Gray and a Blue League with the former containing eleven teams and the latter having 9.

The Gray League will play two games a day, Monday through Thursday at 4 and 5:30 p.m. The Blue League will play on Wednesday and Thursday nights at 7 and 8:30.

Teams in the Gray League are Sots, Bangers, Fighting 5, German club, Springers, Super Boys, Transfers, Kelps, 928 Park, Woolmacks and Alpha Sigma Sigma.

The Blue League includes: Pressmen, Yankees, Sam's Shams, Slip Sticks, 808 Franklin, Ball Hawks, Circle K, Engineers and Lafayette.

Each team will play every other team in its league once during the season. A post-season tournament will be held for each league. Intramural Director Buck Jones has not decided whether there will be an inter-league tournament.

The following is a schedule of next week's games:

MONDAY—4 p.m., 928 Park vs. Woolmacks; 5:30 p.m., German club vs. Springers.

TUESDAY—4 p.m., Kelps vs. Bangers; 5:30 p.m., Alpha Sigma Sigma vs. Fighting 5.

WEDNESDAY—4 p.m., Transfers vs. Sots; 5:30 p.m., Super Boys vs. Woolmacks; 7 p.m., Pressmen vs. Circle K; 8:30 p.m., 808 Franklin vs. Lafayette.

THURSDAY—4 p.m., 928 Park vs. Bangers; 5:30 p.m., German club vs. Fighting 5; 7 p.m., Yankees vs. Slip Sticks; 8:30 p.m., Engineers vs. Ballhawks.

To Be Ready by 1967

Construction of Dormitory First Step in Development

be a counselor on every floor and an assistant who will be an upper-class or graduate student. Each floor will elect its own slate of officers from a total of 40 girls who will live on that floor.

Each floor will have a telephone, laundry and centrally located bath; every other floor will contain a lounge for recreation and study purposes. There will be no cafeteria or kitchenettes although the lounges will probably be equipped with hot plates for snacks.

The basement will be reserved for student art displays, typing rooms and activities equipment.

Three high-speed, self-service elevators will be installed. Air-conditioning ducts will be built in so that the dorm may be air-conditioned later.

Construction will get under way soon on another project for which the college received funds from the last General Assembly. The extension of the Hibbs building, to begin in December, will utilize extra-strong steel materials so that the structure may later be expanded to eight stories. It is not certain whether this building will be ready for classes by next September. Plans call for a 600-seat cafeteria to be on the ground floor and a book store in the basement.

Capital Outlay

The college has asked the state for $5,452,000 for capital outlay and plant improvements in the 1966-68 biennium. A tentative six-year proposal calls for requests of about $7,900,000 for 1968-70, and $5,700,000 for 1970-72. This is a total of $19,000,000 over a six-year span.

This amount would be necessary, according to the Administration, if RPI plans to accommodate 17,500 students by 1975, or possibly 23,000 by 1980.

The $5,452,000 requested for the coming biennium would, if appropriated, be spent for the following purposes: $927,000 for land acquisitions; $932,000 for a new Physical Education Building; $1,360,000 for a new library and equipment; $1,905,000 for a new classroom building; and renovation of the Administration Building, $240,000.

The Administration hopes that the Physical Education Building, high among priority requests, can be erected between the present gymnasium and Monroe Terrace. However, there are still two privately owned properties in this space.

The college is not sure how much of the appropriations requests it will receive. In the 1964-66 biennium, the college received only $1,662,000 out of a total budget request of $4,394,000.

SGA Parliamentarian Raps Precedure of House Ruling

Brent Webber, Student Government Association parliamentarian, said that the acceptance of Image magazine to the House last week without a constitution "is typical of the somewhat rash and irregular manner in which the House disposes of its business."

The statement came after a discussion of whether the purpose of the Image was beneficial to the SGA.

A motion was made by Lewis Clayton, Engr2 Highland Springs, that the Image be accepted to membership without a constitution. The motion was seconded and after discussion it was accepted by a 26-6 margin.

In other action the House and Senate approved a proposal for students to sign a booklet supporting the U. S. forces in Viet Nam.

The proposal passed unopposed in the Senate, and by a 29-2 margin in the House.

The House accepted to its membership the Hibbs Chapter of Virginia College Council on Human Relations.

Reid Cornwell, Psy3 Richmond, representative of the club, said its objectives were to work in the area of human relations and to help socially deprived people in the city.

In other action this week it was proposed a committee be formed to do research on the possibility of forming a football team in the future, and when their findings are complete they will be submitted to the Administration for its consideration.

Also it was announced by Joyce Auman, SGA treasurer that the SGA scholarship fund drive began November 1, and that each club in the SGA is required to have a project to raise money for the drive.

The goal this year is $2,000, and any student who has a 1.3 over-all grade average and who can prove that he qualifies on the basis of need is eligible.

The SGA will sponsor a tape drive on November 16, and it will ask each student to donate 25 cents. The drive will be in front of the Administration Building.

Change in Style

The Proscript this week is inaugurating a new system of identifying students in the body type of address. Formerly, students have been identified by class, major and hometown, as in this manner—John Smith, Senior, Drama, Chocketuck. In the interest of conserving space, students will now be identified in this manner: John Smith, Dram Chocketuck.
