

RPI Seeks $16.9 Million From State

RPI is seeking more than $5 million in capital outlay funds for the 1966-68 biennium. The college seeks to build a new classroom building, a library and several other improvement projects.

President Oliver said this week the college last August sent the state a capital-outlay request of $5,452,000 in addition to a maintenance and operations budget totalling $11.5 millions for the next two years.

Representatives of the college will appear before the General Assembly and before Appropriations Committee members sometime after the assembly convenes Wednesday to explain the requests.

The largest capital outlay item, Dr. Oliver said, is for a $905,000 classroom building. It is proposed that the 52-room building be five stories high, containing a basement and be located on North Harrison st.

Also needed, Dr. Oliver said, is a library building to relieve the space limitations of the existing unit. The college is asking $1,360,000 for a four-story library building, to be located either on Shafer st. or Park ave.

Plans call for the conversion of the present library to classroom use.

Not Enough, But Too Many

A report prepared by Dr. Errett W. McDiarmid, professor of library science at the University of Minnesota, claims the Library is 100,000 volumes short of recommended qualifications. Miss Rosamond McCanless, librarian, said new books are constantly being added, but there is no room for them. At present there are no concrete plans for a new library. Here David Smith, Psy3 Richmond, sits on the floor of one of the "upper rooms" where books are filed on window sills.

President's Office Announces Arts, Sciences School Creation

The President's office announced this week the creation of a School of Arts and Sciences and two faculty positions as the first steps in the reorganization of the college's academic division.

The new school was established on a recommendation from the President's office to the Board of Visitors, which approved the move in its November meeting.

The new positions created by the Board include Dean of the School of Arts and Sciences and Dean of the Graduate School.

The first position will be filled by Dr. Edwin Whitesell, currently professor of English at the University of South Carolina in Columbia and chairman of the graduate council there. Dr. Whitesell is also one of the founders and editor of an English magazine, "The Explicator."

On Recommendation

Dr. J. Kenneth Roach, Dean of the College, said creation of the school was one of the recommendations by the visiting committee of the Southern Association of Schools and Colleges, which evaluated the college last year. However, Dean Roach said, the idea for the school originated in talks between the visiting committee and faculty and administration members.

The school has also arisen, Dean Roach added, from the necessity for some college organ which could administer the BA degree in English and history programs, which is new this year.

According to Dr. Oliver, the school will be composed of some of the existing academic divisions (departments or schools) that are traditionally classed as liberal arts and general sciences.

Dean Roach added that the structure of the new school, on which work has not yet begun, will depend also on the wants of department heads and faculty.

The reorganization is expected to be completed by September.

Dean Roach said Dr. Whitesell will not take his position here un-

Dr. Oliver's New Secretary Is No Stranger to Campus

Mrs. Ada Scull Quynn, President Oliver's new secretary, is no newcomer to the campus. She has been here for 13 years, first as a secretary in the School of Distribution and now in her new position as Dr. Oliver's confidential secretary.

She took over her new job when Mrs. Mary King, Dr. Oliver's former secretary, recently retired from the position.

Before coming here, Mrs. Quynn worked as a secretary for the C&O Railroad in Newport News and served as the chief clerk for the maintenance of way department. She later moved to Richmond to fill the position of secretary in the School of Distribution here.

Merger of RPI and MCV Proposed

The merger of RPI and the Medical College of Virginia (MCV) into a metropolitan university has been recommended by the State Higher Education Study Commission in its report last week to the Governor and the 1966 session of the General Assembly.

The commission's report said, "steps [should] be taken at an early date to plan for the establishment of the proposed Central Virginia State University in Richmond." The report said RPI has many unique fields of the liberal arts to offer students and a variety of curricula for occupational preparation. Also, the report stated, RPI offers many fields of work that can be found nowhere else in the state.

The report also said MCV is one of the few institutions in the United States that is operated separately from a well-established university; no additional institutions of its type will be accredited by the National Accrediting Association in Medical Education.

A combination of the two schools, according to the commission, would offer greater educational opportunities for students of both institutions. Certain fields of study that are oriented toward the medical field could also be directed toward the industrial applications.

A new campus for the proposed university would include a minimum of 1,000 acres with adjacent undeveloped land which could be acquired for further expansion.

In dealing with RPI's expansion program the report said: "Richmond Professional Institute [at its present location] should include

SACS Committee Lists Findings Of Evaluation

By Diane Pioro

The findings and recommendations of the visiting committee of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS) which evaluated the college last spring have been released for publication in a progress report to the SACS' committee on standards and membership.

SACS, the accrediting agency for educational institutions in this area, including RPI, sent a 15-member committee to the campus last April to review a two-year self-study program conducted by the faculty, and to determine whether the school is fulfilling its purposes.

The visiting committee submitted its report in December to the SACS' Commission on Colleges, which includes the committee on standards and membership.

The progress report lists the recommendations of the committee and the "areas in which progress has been made in effectuating the recommendations" under the headings of 11 standards and of individual schools and departments:

Standard One—Purpose:

The report stated the college's purpose to be the provision of professional training and general education for future professionals.

"It should be pointed out, however, that this purpose is at present undergoing a rigorous evaluation and will be revised to incorporate additional objectives arising from the rapid growth of the institution and the extension of the areas in which it seeks to provide educational service."

Standard Two—Organization and Administration:

It was suggested that communications be strengthened, especially between administration and faculty, which is being studied by a Faculty Council committee, and that a School of Arts and Sciences be established (see story this page).

Third Standard Given

Standard Three—Educational Program:

The report here lists five recommendations, two of which are covered in other standards. The other three include a re-examination of the college's policies and practices on admissions and reconcile the two, which point is being given "full attention"; the establishment of a committee for curriculum control and administration on a campus-wide basis, which has existed since 1963, and more and better instructional facilities (see General Assembly story this page).

Standard Four—Financial Resources:

Besides suggesting a better program of finance and budget reports, the committee reported the need for strong requests to the Governor and the legislature for large appropriations for library and physical plant improvements to bring them up "to acceptable standards."

Standard Five Is Faculty

Standard Five—Faculty:

The committee asked that steps be taken to upgrade faculty's academic preparation "specifically through the employment of more persons with terminal degrees." The 1966-68 budget provides for the hiring of at least 33 such persons.

Also recommended are leaves-with-pay for faculty to continue professional growth—five are now on leave—and the reduction of some excessive teaching loads.

Standard Six—Library:

The committee reported need for a minimum collection of 130,000 volumes, removal of the fashion department from the present building, construction of a new library, establishment of a book fund in the future, employment of one more professional librarian, definition of what constitutes the Library and less reliance on the use of off-campus libraries.

Standard Seven—Student Personnel:

The report lists steps for reorganization of the Student Personnel Office, including a definition of philosophy, the identification with this office of some services such as placement and counseling, and

A Time of Need

The Richmond Professional Institute has requested approximately $5.5 million from the Commonwealth of Virginia for new construction and expansion in the coming biennium. In the current biennium, RPI requested $4.3 million, but received only $1.6 of this amount.

With 7,855 students presently enrolled and increasing at almost 1,200 a year, RPI is the fastest-growing college in the state and already has the largest on-campus enrollment.

It needs greatly expanded plant facilities if it is to meet the rising demand being made upon it.

RPI is a unique institution, offering educational advantages that cannot be found at other colleges in this region. The Departments and Schools of Rehabilitation Counseling, Distribution, Occupational Therapy, Interior Design and Commercial Art are the only ones of their kind in the South. The School of Social Work is the only one in Virginia and trains 87 per cent of this state's welfare workers.

The School of Art is ranked third best in the nation, the drama department fourth and the School of Music is second in the South. This has been accomplished despite the fact that RPI has consistently received very low state appropriations. The accomplishments of these departments certainly justify a new Fine Arts building.

In addition, liberal art courses have been added in recent years and now majors in English and History are offered along with a liberal education in many other fields.

Considering the much larger appropriations allotted to other Virginia colleges, even those having considerably fewer students than RPI, and the significant amount RPI has managed to accomplish with what it has received, it seems that a much larger amount of state support should be forthcoming.

a new Dean of Students who has training in that field. The college does have a new dean this year who is meeting with his staff to plan for implementation of the other suggestions.

Improvement is also asked in the health services, which have been expanded by the employment of two new nurses, and also by obtaining the services of two doctors who maintain daily office hours on campus.

Standard Eight—Physical Plant:
The report lists no specific recommendations about the physical facilities.

Activities Office

Standard Nine—Special Activities:

"That a careful study be made of a central RPI office of conference activities" is recommended and is being taken care of at present by the Director of the Center for Continuing Education.

Standard Ten—Graduate Programs:

The committee suggested a central office with a single administrative position for the graduate programs and more authority for the Graduate Council.

Standard Eleven—Research:
Recommendations here include the encouragement of the faculty to do research, the provision of greater research facilities and expanded teaching in the use of computers.

Encourage Research

The responsibility for encouraging research has been delegated to the future Dean of the Graduate School.

The recommendations for individual schools and departments in-

Included in the request is a bid for a $932,000 addition to the gymnasium, Dr. Oliver said. The addition would have 35,510 square feet and include a swimming pool and a basketball court.

For land acquisition and improvements to the purchased property, the college requests $927,000. What property is to be acquired has not been determined, Dr. Oliver said.

Funds totaling $240,000 are asked for renovations to the Administration Building, the fifth of the six-point capital outlay request.

The sixth item, extension of campus utilities, will require $88,000.

clude generally the reduction of teaching loads, new facilities and housing for some departments, curriculum changes or additions, the study and readjustment of objectives in some schools, provision for library holdings and additional faculty.

Some specific suggestions, for which explanations are not always given, include "making more coherent the structure of the School" of Art by establishing a fundamental core program of courses common to all its departments and administered by the School, with students admitted to it rather than directly to the departments. It was also suggested "that both the School of Art and the central administration consider means of improving communications and understanding."

The School of Music was asked to standardize its admission policy and adhere to it consistently.

Student From Iran To Aid Homeland

By John Edwards

Social problems exist the world over, and though they may vary considerably due to fundamental causes, their structure and eventual solution are closely related.

These ideas are the basis of study for a young lady from Iran who is working on her master's degree in social welfare.

Golmar Azhari, better known to her many friends as "Goly," has been in America since February studying the structure of social problems with the hope of finding an approach to those in her native country.

"Many of the problems are the same," she said, "but the causes of the problems vary to a great extent."

Interest in Juvenile Delinquency

Interested primarily in juvenile delinquency, Goly studied this summer at colleges in Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois learning the basic approach to delinquency in the United States.

She said even though many of the delinquency problems in the United States and Iran are the same, their causes are very different in the two countries.

In explanation, Goly quietly reflects that many of her countrymen are poverty stricken, and that theft for actual survival is commonplace. The need for the basic essentials of life largely directs the actions of many youths in Iran, she feels.

Goly is the daughter of Lt. General Reza Azhari, the highest ranking officer of the Iranian army, and retains a position of social importance in her country.

"My father didn't limit us to one social class though," she said. "I often rode a bus to school in order that I might mingle with and learn to understand the people of my country. I sometimes objected then, but I appreciate the value of this now."

The attractive young Iranian does indeed understand the people of her country. Before coming to America she worked in the public prosecutor's office of the Iranian ministry of justice — the first woman to hold a position in that field.

"Until six years ago," she said, "there was no such thing as social work in my country."

Goly readily admits that her country simply has no facilities to deal with juvenile delinquency in a constructive manner.

"In admitting this," she said, "we accomplish the first step toward overcoming the problem."

She thinks that much of America's delinquency problem rests in a lack of guidance. The freedom the American citizen enjoys often leads to irresponsibility and this, instead of bringing more freedom, brings the need for more control by society.

RPI Asks U.S. Grant For Addition to Hibbs

RPI has applied for a grant of federal assistance that could amount to up to $216,000 for the construction of the new Hibbs Building extension.

The Office of Development announced yesterday that the grant application was made under the Higher Education Facilities Act of 1963. It provides, in addition to other areas of assistance to higher education, financial assistance for construction of instructional facilities.

An office of the Virginia Commission on Higher Education facilities assigns priority to Virginia colleges based upon the need of the individual institution.

W. O. Edwards, director of development, noted this week that RPI ranks high in need because it has been established publicly that it rates at the top in percentage of efficient utilization of present classroom space.

Only instructional rooms in the Hibbs extension would be eligible for grant assistance under terms of the act. The third and fourth floors only are to provide instructional space because the basement will have a book store and the first and second floors, cafeteria and service areas.

However, new instructional space scheduled includes 18 classrooms and 26 faculty offices. If RPI's application is approved, the money will be available sometime after March 1, according to Mr. Edwards.

The state of Virginia has appropriated $1,318,000 for the project.

Students Required To File Numbers

Students who do not file their social security numbers with the Registrar by January 21 will not be permitted to register for the spring semester, February 3 and 4.

Social security numbers will be used effective next semester in place of the present student numbering system.

Students who have not yet obtained social security numbers may secure an application form at the information desk in the lobby of the Administration Building.

Kalif To Speak

Dr. George T. Kalif, director of School of Social Work, will visit Emory and Henry College today and tomorrow to speak on education and job opportunities for employment in social work.

He will be the guest of Dr. Loren Dow, head of the department of sociology at Emory and Henry.

Rams Win Two Contests, Host Southeastern Next

By Larry Evans
Proscript Sports Editor

The Rams won two home basketball games this week, defeating Hampden-Sydney College in overtime, 99-95, Tuesday night and Old Dominion College, 88-82, Wednesday night to give them a 4-3 record going into tonight's home encounter with the Hawks from Southeastern University of Washington, D.C.

Against Old Dominion Mel Dunnivant scored a field goal with 12 seconds gone in the game to put RPI ahead, 2-0, and the Rams kept the lead the remainder of the game.

Rams Lead at Half

The Rams went to the dressing room at halftime with a 45-38 lead, stretched it to 52-41 with three minutes gone in the second half, and then held off a Monarch scoring threat in the closing minutes led by Randy Leddy.

With 1:07 left the Monarchs narrowed the score to 84-80, but C. G. Winston and Ron Woody each scored a pair of foul shots in the final 50 seconds while the Rams held the Monarchs scoreless.

Lyn Creech paced the Rams' scoring with 22 points while Mel Dunnivant (19), Winston (14) and Bob Griffin (12) also scored in double figures.

Monarch Scoring

Randy Leddy led the Monarchs with 24 points and also pulled down 27 rebounds. Jerry Nichols added 20 points for the losers, who are now 7-3.

On Tuesday night the Rams upset highly-touted Hampden-Sydney in overtime, 99-95, before a capacity crowd in the Ram gymnasium.

After the Rams had led the entire game, H-SC's Frank Booth scored on a tap-in with 4 seconds of regulation play remaining to tie the score, 86-86, and put the game into overtime.

Winston, Dunnivant Score

C. G. Winston and Mel Dunnivant paced the Rams in the overtime period. A basket by Winston from underneath with 0:02 left put RPI out of reach, 98-95. Winston also scored three foul shots in the overtime period while Dunnivant scored three field goals and blocked a shot.

Lyn Creech and Dunnivant had 29 and 28 points respectively for the Rams while Winston added 20 points and Bill Donlon 14. Eddie Dyer netted 23 points and Thom Quarles and Jimmy Rosenstock 18 each to lead the Tigers who are now 8-3.

Pressmen, Yankees, Fighting 5 Unbeaten

By Ken Heite

Action in both men's intramural basketball leagues before the holiday break was highlighted by upsets, near upsets and overtime contests.

In the Gray League the Sots were upset by Alpha Sigma Sigma, 65-63. The Sots were previously unbeaten and their defeat left the Fighting Five (5-0) as the only undefeated team in the league.

Ray Antonick (14) and Jerry Hubbard (12) paced Alpha Sigma Sigma, 2-5. Lester Sapp led both team with 20 points to pace the Sots, 6-1.

In other league action the Fighting Five defeated the Transfers, 93-78. Butch Waleski (25), Jerry Harding (23), Jerry Stone (20) and Bill Wright (15) led the winners, but the scoring honors went to the Transfers' John Cappola who scored 33 points.

The Transfers, 2-5, also beat the Super Boys, Bob Polk scored 24 and Capolla added 23 for the winners, while the losers were paced by Jim Worden's 26 points.

Bangers Win

The Bangers won by forfeit over Alpha Sigma Sigma. The Bangers' record is 5-1.

The Springers, 3-2, overran the Kelps, 75-46. Bobby Gammon led the Springers with 23 points.

The Woolmacks, down 29-24 at halftime, came from behind to defeat the German club, 54-52.

In the Blue League the Pressmen remained undefeated, but they had to go into overtime to preserve their perfect record. They defeated the Ballhawks, 59-56, outscoring them 9-6 in the overtime period. The Pressmen, 4-0, were led by Ernie Bryant's 32 points.

The Yankees, also 4-0, had an easy time keeping their perfect record as they defeated Sam's Shams, 70-28. The Yankees were paced by Joe Casey (19) and Ed Coffman (12) as they handed Sam's Shams their third straight defeat without a victory.

Four Overtimes

In a game that took four overtimes, the Virginia Tech Engineers finally overcame 808 Franklin, 51-49. The game was tied 39-39 at the end of regulation time; 43-43 after the first overtime, 47-47 after the second overtime, 49-49 after the third overtime before the final winning two points were scored in the fourth overtime period.

The Engineers, 2-2, were led by Jeff Dudley's 20 points, while 808, 1-3, was led by George Grubbs' 22 points.

In another close game Lafayette Dorm edged Circle K, 47-45, on Rob Henderson's shot just as the buzzer sounded. Lafayette, 2-1, was led by Brad Clever (19). Circle K, 1-2, was led by Maynard Gwaltney (27).

Dance Club Planned By Athletic Department

Louis J. Ampolo, physical education instructor, is planning to form a modern dance group that will represent the school at the College Dance Festival of Virginia, March 19, at the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts.

Mr. Ampolo will interview interested students, 7 p.m., Monday, in rooms A and B in the Gymnasium.

He said he prefers persons who have had some background in ballet or modern dance, but he also extends an invitation to those "who have a strong interest but not necessarily a lot of background."

The primary purpose of the group will be to plan and perform a five-minute routine with about 15 people for the festival. Mr. Ampolo hopes to retain a working group for experimental creative work.

Grapplers Seek First Mat Win Away Tonight

The Rams, looking for their first win after two defeats, travel tonight to Lexington, to wrestle Washington and Lee University.

The Rams lost to Wilmington College, 26-8, and William and Mary, 23-15, in their first two contests. The Rams have never beaten a Washington and Lee grappling team, but in the opinion of Head Coach Dave Magill they have never had the material that they have this year.

Both coaches and wrestlers are confident of a good showing on their part.

til August or September, but will visit the campus before then to aid in the structuring of the school that he will head.

Dean Roach explained that the second position, Dean of the Graduate School, will be an administrative one at the head of a central office that will co-ordinate the activities of the college's graduate programs, such as processing applications for admission or for the reception of master's degrees.

The graduate council, which now performs these duties, will stay on, probably as an advisory body, Dean Roach said. In other words the Board of Visitors has authorized a new position, not a new academic division, it was pointed out.

Dean Roach said he expects the Dean of the Graduate School will be named by July 1.
