Students Face Examinations, Registration

The fall examination period begins Thursday and ends Friday, January 28. Morning exams are scheduled from 9 to noon, and afternoon exams, 2 to 5.

Following the examination period, students will have a five-day break until registration for the spring semester starts February 3.

Completion of the registration process for those students who have pre-registered should take an estimated 30 minutes, according to A.

Lee Hall, assistant dean of the college.

Registration will be on a half-hour block basis, he said.

Rather than having, for example, students whose last names begin with A through M register in the morning and N through Z in the afternoon, the total number of pre-registered students will be divided into blocks with as near the same number of students in each block as possible.

The matriculated (currently enrolled) college population has been broken down alphabetically into groups of 250. Persons whose last names are contained in the following breakdown will register at the corresponding time:

February 3, 9-11:30 a.m.
Aa-Bb, 9-9:30; Bb-Bz, 9:30-10; Cc-Cq, 10-10:30; Cr-Ek, 10:30-11; El-Gh, 11-11:30.
February 3, 1-4 p.m.
Gi-Ha, 1-1:30; Hb-Je, 1:30-2; Jf-

La, 2-2:30; Lb-Ma, 2:30-3; Mb-Na, 3-3:30; Nb-Pq, 3:30-4.

February 4, 9-11:30 a.m.
Pr-Sa, 9-9:30; Sb-Ss, 9:30-10; St-Tt, 10-10:30; Tu-Wg, 10:30-11; Wh-Zz, 11-11:30.

February 4, 1-4 p.m.
All non-matriculated students.
During the appointed half-hour for each block, pre-registered students will complete their registration by (1) picking up in the Science Building a packet containing their permit to register, IBM course cards, registration card, student personnel card, data processing card and three white schedule cards, (2) proceeding to Room 115 of the Science Building where they will fill in the cards, (3) going to the gymnasium to have their identification cards revalidated and (4) checking out.

The only schedule changes that

Magazines Published This Week

Spectrum and Image Print Winter Issues

It was the week of the magazine. Image, a journal of creative ideas, appeared on campus' newsstands Monday morning. Spectrum, a literary journal being published for the first time, was scheduled to be distributed yesterday.

Both magazines are being sold for 25 cents, although both are subsidized by the Student Activities Committee (SAC). Image received $4,300 from the SAC and Spectrum $600.

Basically a visual portfolio interspersed with two play translations, one essay and several poems, Image emphasizes the artistic field because this is the area from which it receives the most contributions, according to the magazine's introduction.

Spectrum—an Outgrowth

Spectrum, an outgrowth of a one-time publication, Folio 5, which was published earlier this year, was scheduled to contain five short stories, a selection of poems, a staff editorial, several essays and some satire.

"I think the Image could have had a bit more literary work," Maurice Bonds, head of the Department of Fine Arts, said. "But the visual work is simply wonderful and as usual it looks beautiful."

Image will be submitted to the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts' bi-annual photography contest, according to Managing Editor Pat Mcneally, and it will be distributed across the United States and in such countries as France, Germany and Australia.

Mcneally said 25 cents was being charged for the magazine to ease the burden of the SAC.

Both magazines plan a second issue for the spring semester, and both are now soliciting contributions for their spring issues.

College Asks $1,728 Grant Under Higher Education Act

The college, asking for a grant of $1,728 under provisions of the Higher Education Act of 1965, has applied for six student work-study positions for next semester.

Six positions would provide part-time work for 10 students at a base rate of $1.25 an hour, Dr. Charles M. Renneisen, dean of students, who submitted the plan, said.

An application for the funds was submitted to the United States Office of Education. Other provisions of the act would make available government-insured loans and scholarship grants.

Dean Renneisen is hopeful for an early approval of the plan. Students seeking work are required to come from homes where the adjusted family income does not exceed $7,500 a year.

Work made available, if the plan is approved, would involve clerical, secretarial and visual aids duties.

Government Pays Nine-Tenths

According to the act, the federal government would pay nine-tenths of the salary costs, with the remainder to be paid by the college. Students would not be allowed to work more than 15 hours a week.

Dean Renneisen said he hopes to have the job number expanded to approximately 30 by next fall and increased each year thereafter. Plans call for the Financial Aids Office to screen applicants for the new jobs.

Student loans, which would enable undergraduate students to borrow up to $1,000 a year and graduate students $1,500, may be coming in the near future, according to Dean Renneisen.

Under the act, the government would insure the loan and pay all interest charges while the student is in college. After being out of college for a year, the student

Student Activities Committee Gives Forum, Magazine Funds

The Student Activities Committee (SAC), at a meeting last week, decided it would reimburse students for one-half the price of a Richmond Public Forum season ticket and appropriate $100 more for a literary magazine.

The SAC's support of the Forum series will reduce the student ticket price to $1.50.

All fora will be held in the Mosque. Tickets may be purchased at the Student Personnel Office.

A motion made by Jerry Parrish, managing editor of Spectrum, was passed to allot $100 more to the cepted as a member of the SGA because of the discrepancy between its bill of rights and the rules of the college.

The vote was taken after much discussion and the club was rejected by a 26-11 margin.

Various members of the Senate and the House were present to argue in favor of defeating the measure. They posed the arguments

New Auditor Is Announced By Dr. Oliver

President Oliver announced this week the selection of Edward Oswald Santucci to fill the position vacated by former auditor William Cosby who resigned in December.

Mr. Santucci, who is presently business manager for the Virginia Civil War Commission, will start his duties as auditor and assistant treasurer next week. However, the title and duties of his office may be changed in a forthcoming reorganization of the business office next semester.

A native Richmonder, Mr. Santucci received a certificate from Smithdeal-Massey Business College in 1935 and in 1939 was employed by Stone and Webster Engineering Corp.

After serving in the Air Force as a second lieutenant during World War II, he returned to work for Stone and Webster and at the same time worked toward a BS degree in business administration, which he received from the University of Richmond in 1959.

In 1960 he obtained his position with the Civil War Commission.

Les Elgart and Orchestra Will Play for Mid-Winters

Les Elgart, nationally known band leader, and his orchestra will play for the annual Mid-Winters dance from 8 p.m. to midnight, February 26, in the Mosque ballroom.

The theme of the Junior class-sponsored dance is Moonlight Cocktails. The ballroom will be decorated in two of the following colors: gold, silver, blue or hot pink.

During intermission the class of '67 will form the traditional ring figure. The figure is for everyone who purchased a school ring. Dress for the dance will be formal. Students interested in participating in the ring figure may secure information forms at the information desk in the lobby of the Administration Building.

Tickets will be available to Dance club members in the Rotunda two weeks before the dance. Ed Hawpe, president of the Junior class, said that no more tickets than the maximum number of people (1,200) allowed by the fire laws in the ballroom will be sold. Tickets for non-Dance club members are $5.

Image: Many-Sided

Looking through the latest edition of the Image, RPI's visual arts portfolio, brings to mind a tale by Hans Christian Anderson.

Anderson, you remember, spun the fable about the king who was dissatisfied with his wardrobe.

He called before him the best tailors in the land and told them to design something more beautiful than anything else they had ever designed for him.

The tailors, having long exhausted their efforts to please the king, hit upon a brilliant plan. They decided to weave no cloth, but rather to tell the king that the material was so fine and exquisite that only those who had a rare taste in art would be able to see it. It would be invisible to all who did not appreciate great art. The tailors approached the king on the day appointed for delivery of the new costume with outstretched and empty arms.

The king, not wanting to admit that he could see only empty air, gasped and declared that his new robe was beautiful beyond imagination. Thereupon, all of his court declared the same.

The following afternoon the king was to lead a parade through his kingdom, and he donned what he thought was his colorful new apparel.

When he, clad only in his underwear, passed before the crowd, the crowd gasped, but each person praised the king's clothing. No one among them dared to say that the king wore no outer garment for fear someone would claim that he didn't appreciate art.

Finally, one little boy, standing near the end of the line, said, "The king has nothing on but his underwear."

Then everyone began to repeat the same, that truly the king had no beautiful robe on; alas, no robe at all.

If our little moral is subtle, let us state the point plainly:

Those among us who are afraid to criticize avant-gard artistic endeavor for fear it may be said that we could understand nothing but mediocrity should take heed.

One present-day psychiatrist has already done an excellent job in analyzing modern "abstract" art. C. G. Jung said that abstract art reflects the overly materialistic concerns of western man. In repressing the inner, subjective, and spiritualistic side of our natures, we have left this side underdeveloped. When it is expressed, as through abstract art, it is done so in an inferior manner.

Truly then, mere obscurity, when called abstraction, is no substitute for beauty. It is similar to a beautiful statue sitting in a vast, empty desert where no one ever passes. Is the statue beautiful, or merely unseen by human eyes?

Rams Win Two at Home, Lose One on Away Trip

It was two to one for the basketball team in its last three games.

The team gained an easy victory over Southeastern University Friday night, 88-77, won on a shot at the final buzzer over Frederick College, 87-86, on Monday night, and on Tuesday night lost to Washington and Lee University, 59-57, when the Generals scored two foul shots with five seconds left in the game.

The Rams have a 6-4 record going into Monday night's home encounter with Newport News Apprentice School.

Against Washington and Lee

At Lexington Tuesday night, the Rams trailed the entire second half before tying the score, 57-57, on a jump shot by Lyn Creech with 1:40 remaining. Neither team could manage to score until Creech fouled Washington and Lee's Jody Kline with 0:05 to go. Kline then scored on both ends of a one-in-one situation to give the Generals the win.

The Rams took the lead early against the Generals, and were leading 31-22 with 5:00 left in the first half. Frank Morrison then led a Washington and Lee comeback that saw the Generals score 14 points while the Rams could only manage two to give W&L a 36-33 edge. The Rams never went ahead again.

The Rams scored a cold 34.3 per cent of the shots, but Creech netted 22 points to lead the team. The only other Ram in double figures was C. G. Winston, with 11.

Morrison paved the way for W&L in ending the Rams four-game winning streak. He scored 18 points for the Generals. Kline and Robert Bauer, with 11 points apiece, and Bob Spesser, with 10, also scored in double figures for the Generals, who are now 4-9.

Winston Scores on Jump Shot

C. G. Winston scored on a jump shot as the final buzzer sounded to give the Rams an 87-86 victory over Frederick College in a game played in the gymnasium Monday night.

After the lead had exchanged hands eight times during the second half, Winston put the Rams ahead, 85-54, with 0:31 to go when he hit a field goal from underneath the basket and then added a free throw when he was fouled on the play.

The Lions came back to take the lead, 86-85, when Bob Modliszewski hit on both ends of a one-and-one with 0:19 left. Neither team could manage to score until Winston caught a blocked shot taken by Lyn Creech and put it back up for the winning score.

Creech was high scorer for the Rams, netting 28 points. Winston with 25 points and Mel Dunnivant with 23 were close behind. Neil Hodges led all scorers with 30 points for the Lions. Modliszewski tallied 16 points, Bernie Flynn 12 and Pete Johnson 10 as the Lions lost their eighth game in thirteen starts.

Against Southeastern last Friday night, the Rams jumped off to a 26-8 lead with 11:09 gone in the game and then coasted to a 85-72 victory over the Hawks.

Lyn Creech scored 24 of his game-high total of 32 points to pace the Rams to a 44-28 halftime lead.

C. G. Winston and Mel Dunnivant scored 16 and 12 points, respectively, for the Rams while reserve Bob Alfred added 11.

After Monday night's encounter with Newport News the Rams will be idle until February 3 when they travel to Norfolk to play Old Dominion College. The Rams follow up that game with a home encounter against Washington and Lee on February 8 and two days later will play host to arch-rival Randolph-Macon College. The Rams will be out to avenge a 97-92 set-back handed them by Randolph-Macon in a game played earlier this season at Ashland.

Washington and Lee Defeats Ram Matmen

After a good start the Ram wrestling team faded and lost its third straight decision, 33-8, to Washington and Lee University last Friday at Lexington.

According to head Coach Dave Magill, lack of experience is still hurting the Rams, but they are improving with every match.

Tommy Carr got the Rams off to a good start as he pinned Rommie Jacobs in 2:42 of the second period in the 123-lb. weight class.

Score Quickly Tied

The score was quickly tied as the Rams' Lyn Gibson was pinned in 2:50 of the first period.

In the 137-lb. class, Ram captain Willie Hatcher won his third straight match without a defeat as he decisioned A. Jackson, 6-0. This made the score 8-5 in favor of RPI, and it was the last time in the match that the Rams had the lead.

Hard luck then hit the Rams. The Generals won the 145-lb. class when Terry Wilson had to withdraw because of a shoulder injury. The Rams had to forfeit the 152-lb. class. This made the score 15-8 in favor of W & L. From this point it was no contest.

The Rams' Roy Demory was pinned by Jamie Andrews in the second period of the 160-lb. match.

Richard Lunde and Bill Jordan of the Rams were pinned in the 167- and 177-lb. weight classes, respectively, making the score 30-8.

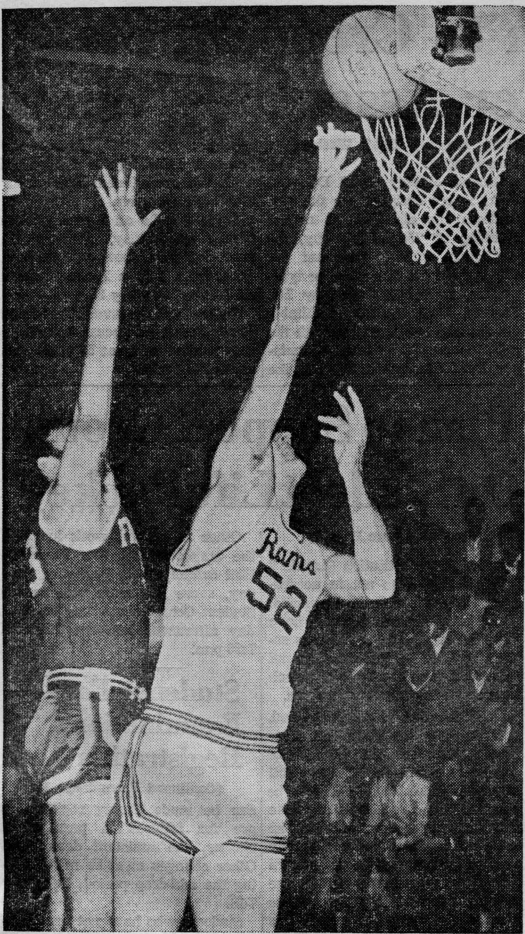

Finally in the unlimited class, Allen Crane was decisioned, 8-3, by Holmes Parker of the Generals.

This loss made the Rams' record 0-3 and set the stage for last night's meeting with Hampden-Sydney in the Franklin Street gymnasium. The Tigers are undefeated.

Apprentice School Is Foe

Tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. the Rams tangle with Newport News Apprentice School. Tuesday night they will meet East Carolina College. All matches will be in the gym.

The Rams will be inactive until second semester when they travel to Norfolk to meet Old Dominion College on February 7. Two nights later they will go to Newport News for a rematch with Newport News Apprentice School.

Fighting Five Victors In Intramural Action

In intramural basketball action one team increased its lead in the Gray League, while another team kept its chances alive in the Blue League.

In Gray League action the Fighting Five kept its undefeated streak alive as it downed the Kelps, 79-58. In winning its seventh straight game the Fighting Five was led by Paul Kirby and Jerry Stone, who scored 24 and 20 points, respectively. Mike Wolfrey paced the losing Kelps with 21 points.

In an upset the German club defeated the once-beaten Bangers, 58-46. Leading by only two points, 25-23 at the half, the German club came on strong in the second half to record their fourth win in seven starts. The German club was led by Morty Rudnick, who had 24 points, while Bucky Brockwell and Dick Dyson each added 12.

In other Gray League action, the Springers completely overran Park Avenue Dormitory, 77-39. The Springers were led by Bill Maughan and Bob Darge who each had 30 points each. Park Avenue never was in the game, as they were held to 14 points in the first half when the Springers scored 45 points.

In Blue League action Lafayette Dormitory kept its title chances bright as they dominated Sam's Shams, 48-29. Lafayette jumped off to a quick lead and at one time led 22-6.

The winners were led by Bob Christy who had 19 points. Brad Clever added 14 for the winners. The victory was Lafayette's third in four starts, while Sam's Shams have yet to win.

In the only other league game, Circle K won by forfeit over the Slip Sticks.

A Trip to the Moon

A local resident, not sympathetic with the parking problem that faces students here, has apparently enforced the threat on his sign in one of the alleys that honeycomb the campus. Mike Grim, Spec Staunton, taken aghast, now wonders if there is a car on the moon as well as a man in it.

Recruiters, Representatives Schedule Jan., Feb. Interviews

Representatives from various school systems and several companies will be on campus this month and in February to interview seniors for employment.

Representatives will be here on the following dates in January: 17—Norfolk city schools; 18—Henrico county public schools; 20—Lynchburg public schools; 25—Arlington county public schools; 26—Newport News public schools; 27—Newcastle, Del. public schools; 28—Henrico county public schools; 31—Charlottesville public schools.

Interviews scheduled for February 2 are with Chesapeake public schools and Baltimore public schools; 9—F. W. Woolworth's and the Connecticut Mutual Insurance Co.; 10—Boy Scouts of America.

Senior Class Plans Meet

The Senior class will meet 6 p. m., Tuesday, in Hibbs 303.

Interviews will last 30 minutes. Interested seniors should sign up for appointments in Room 21 of the Administration Building.

Cockroach to Creep on Stage For Theater Associates' Show

Archy, the cockroach, and Mehitabel, his feline friend, will cavort in the one-act musical, "Archy and Mehitabel", to be presented by Theater Associates (TA) as part of its annual scholarship show, January 21-23.

"Archy", based on the short stories of Don Marquis, will share the evening with "Red Peppers", a one-act musical comedy by Noel Coward.

Barbara Brown, Dra4 Richmond, will direct both shows, and Hugh Williams, Dra1 Virginia Beach, will be choreographer.

Business manager is Mary Anne Moorman, Dra1 Roanoke, who will also play Lily Pepper in "Red Peppers." Completing the cast of the Coward comedy are Bill Camp, Dra1 Roanoke, as George Pepper; Cindy Ferguson, Dra2 Alexandria, Mabel Grace; Mike Flynn, Dra1 Falls Church, Alf; Nick Cohn, Dra1 Bowling Green, Mr. Edwards; and Chris Renault, Dra1 Washington, Bert Bentley.

Charles Massey, Dra3 Durham, N.C., is set designer for the productions; he also doubles as the narrator of "Archy". Archy, the cockroach with a penchant for dancing out his life story on typewriters, is being played by Bill Temme, Dra1 Fairfax, Mehitabel the cat who has "been through the mill," is played by Ginger Montague, Dra1 Alexandria; Big Zill, the tom cat who steals Mehitabel's heart is Mike Flynn. Six co-eds from the drama club will act as Mehitabel's cronies.

There will be an 8 p.m. performance on Friday, January 21, another 8 p.m. show on Saturday, January 22, and a 2 p.m. matinee on Sunday, January 23.

Tickets will be available at the Shafer Street Playhouse box office with student rates at 50 cents and adults, 75 cents.

Plan to Support Group On Student Life Backed

that the SIR constitution (Article 9 in particular) was not in accordance with present school policies.

The article states students have the right to govern themselves socially and if they feel the rules not in accordance with their own feelings they may break such rules.

Reid Cornwell, Psy3 Richmond, said, in reference to the club's Article 9, that the last sentence of Article 13 of the RPI Student Bill of Rights states that a club may be expelled from the SGA at any time if it violates school rules. And, he said, the organization was simply striving for the right to govern itself, but would stay within the existing framework of the college rules while trying to attain this goal.

Another motion was introduced which would limit an organization to only two attempts to enter the House in any given semester. The measure will be voted upon at the next meeting on February 8.

Other action this week included the announcement that Founders Hall cafeteria will, beginning Sunday, serve the same role as the Student Center snack bar on Sunday afternoons between 3:30 and 7:30 p.m.

Students Face Examinations, Registration

can be made during registration are for failures in prerequisite classes, the assistant dean said. Other changes must be made during the add-drop period, February 7-18.

Students who have not pre-registered must first pick up a permit to register and then meet with their advisers to plan schedules.

The fee for late registration is $8.

Spring semester classes begin am., February 7.

Caravan of Music Due Here in March

The Ford Caravan of Music featuring recording artist Roger Miller and the Good Time Singers will appear in concert here March 21.

Ford Motor Co. will finance part of the cost, while the college has guaranteed the group $2,500 in addition to $200 of advertising, Dean of Students Charles M. Renneisen said.

The concert will be held at 8:15 p.m. in the Mosque. Tickets will be $2 for adults and $1.50 for students.

Exclusive sales to students here will be held for one week beginning March 1.
