PROJECT DESCRIPTION

The RAMSTRONG project's mission is to create a mobile website accessible online and through the VCU Mobile app that provides VCU employees with user-friendly, accessible resources to support their holistic well-being.

The RAMSTRONG project seeks to meet three basic needs. First, while VCU and the Greater Richmond area offer a plethora of resources to promote health, information about these resources is not readily accessible, and especially not accessible from one website or mobile app. RAMSTRONG aims to provide an accessible means for employees to learn about and take advantage of these resources. Second, while a growing body of scientific literature indicates employer sponsored health promotion programs increase job satisfaction, productivity, and retention, these programs are only effective if they are utilized. RAMSTRONG aims to increase their utilization by promoting awareness of their availability. Third, our society invests a substantial sum of resources to the care of those suffering from injury and illness and less to promoting our health and well-being. The RAMSTRONG project is motivated by a vision of a society that invests significantly in the promotion of wellness so as to reduce the incidence of injury and illness and to increase the prevalence of personal and social satisfaction at work and in life.

Our model for the RAMSTRONG app draws from the public health concept of the Wheel of Wellness, which specifies eight interrelated and interdependent dimensions of health: emotional, environmental, financial, social, spiritual, occupational, physical, and intellectual. When a person can demonstrate strength and well-being in each of these areas, they are more productive and receive greater satisfaction in life. Universities, including Princeton University, that have implemented similar website resources and the National Wellness Institute define wellness as "an active process through which people become aware of, and make choices toward, a more successful existence". Our RAMSTRONG website and mobile app will provide employees with an efficient, friendly means for becoming aware of campus and community resources and making choices that actively contribute to individual and community well-being in each of the eight dimensions. It is our hope that with the implementation of this project, VCU employees will have the resources to take charge of their wellness in each dimension and become RAMSTRONG.

QUEST FOR DISTINCTION

The RAMSTRONG project supports Theme I, Goal 2, as it contributes to a health and well-being promoting culture that aids efforts to recruit and retrain great employees. It also supports Theme II, Goal 2 by providing access to evidence-based health promoting resources whose utilization is proven to contribute to human health and “enhance the quality of life.” Finally, the RAMSTRONG project supports Theme III, Goal 2, by engaging the community in a way that empowers members, in this case, VCU employees, to make choices to engage in activities that promote their own health and well-being, and in so doing make an impact that matters on the quality of life.

PROJECT GOALS

1. To support employee retention efforts and contribute to achieving the Great Place culture (Quest Theme I, Goal 2).
2. To demonstrate VCU’s commitment to improving the health and happiness of employees and to enhance the overall quality of life for all (Quest Theme II, Goal 2).
3. To provide opportunities for VCU employees to engage in community activities that improve their individual well-being and the health of our community (Quest Theme III, Goal 2).

PROJECT STRATEGIES

The team was informed by and drawing elements from the public health and social work concept of the Wheel of Wellness, Princeton University’s U Matter Wellness Program, and the VCU Human Resources Work/Life and Wellness website to develop content. Team Buzz Ring employed a VCU Arts student to help design the RAMSTRONG app brand, and they are working with the AltLab to create the RAMSTRONG mobile website.

ACTION STEPS

- Work with Technology Services to host website on the VCU Mobile app.
- Collaborate with Human Resources to implement the project and develop a maintenance plan.
- Promote via TelegRAM, HR listserv/redesign, and orientation.
- Assess site and app traffic to determine future plans.

OUTCOMES

The team developed several measures to ascertain the success of the RAMSTRONG mobile app. These goals include:

1. 500 site/app visits in Spring 2017 and 5000 in year one.
2. 100 self-inventory downloads in Spring 2017 and 1000 in year one Fall 2017- Spring 2018.
3. Survey indicating 25% of employees being aware of the RAMSTRONG mobile app by the end of spring 2017; 50% by the end of fall 2017; and 75% by the end of spring 2018.
4. Survey indicating that employees utilizing the RAMSTRONG app had a more positive view of work at VCU.

The major accomplishment of the RAMSTRONG mobile app for the University will be to increase awareness and utilization of resources that promote the health and well-being of employees. Team Buzz Ring anticipates such increased awareness and utilization of these resources will in turn make a difference in terms of overall job satisfaction, productivity, and retention. Such will go some distance toward shifting the focus toward a culture that supports our health and wellness.

SUSTAINABILITY

The principal stakeholders who possess the human resources, financial means, and authority to implement and maintain the RAMSTRONG mobile app is VCU’s Human Resources, as part of the ongoing Great Place Human Resources Redesign Project. The team is working with Cathleen

C. Burke, Assistant Vice President for Human Resources, and Tammy Jackson, Program Manager, Performance Management, Great Place Human Resources Redesign Project, to determine the best steps going forward to ensure the successful implementation of the RAMSTRONG health and wellness mobile app.

FINANCING AND RESOURCES

Initially, resources to implement the project will need to come from existing sources, primarily staff time from Human Resources, University Relations, Technology Services and the GEHLI project team. Work to build and host the mobile website will be incorporated into an ongoing project to restyle the Human Resources website along with the Great Place Human Resources Redesign Project. Internal resources will also be used to develop an icon hosted on the VCU app. Ongoing costs to sustain the project will be limited to hosting and updating the website. It’s difficult to quantify the cost due to the nature of using existing human capital, the estimated cost time to create the website and sustain the project on an annual basis is provided below.

Project Budget

	Item Description	Justification	Cost
1.	University Relations Staff	Create Mobile Website	5,000
2.	Human Resources Staff	Website Design	4,000
3.	Technology Services	Host Application and Site	1,000
4.	Alt Lab	Design Icon	1,000
5.	Annual Maintenance	Maintenance Team (Misc. Staff)	5,000
		Total	$16,000

RECOMMENDATIONS

The goal of the RAMSTRONG campaign is to “make life real” for all VCU Employees. In order to make the RAMSTRONG campaign real, here are a few recommendations for full implementation of the project: work with Technology Services to host website on the VCU Mobile App; collaborate with Human Resources to implement the project and develop a maintenance plan; promote the app via TelegRAM, HR listserv, orientation, and during redesign meetings; assess site and app traffic to determine future plans; and create an online wellness assessment that is relevant for VCU Employees.

FINAL PITCH

The RAMSTRONG mobile app will make a substantial contribution to the goal of providing VCU employees with an easy way to learn about and utilize resources that improve their well-being and in doing so will make VCU truly a great place to be and become the very best of who we are.

Wellness Wheel & Assessment

Wellness is not merely the absence of illness or distress - it is a striving for positive physical, mental and social well-being. It is a lifelong process of making decisions that support a more balanced life and enable you to maximize your potential.

There are always opportunities for enhancing your wellness. A good place to start is self-reflection and goal-setting.

The Wellness Wheel describes the integration of 7 important dimensions of wellness: emotional, environmental, intellectual, occupational, physical, social and spiritual.
