* The audience may remain seated during the academic procession but will stand for the national anthem.

 Graduates will remain in place until the President's party exits the arena.
Honorary Doctor of Humane Letters

2004 Recipient
The Honorable Eric Cantor

The Honorary Doctor of Humane Letters is Virginia Commonwealth University’s highest form of recognition. Awarded by the president at Commencement, it recognizes the Commencement speaker as well as others who have made outstanding contributions to society through scholarship, public service, humanitarianism, science and art.
On January 3, 2001, Congressman Eric Cantor was sworn in as a U.S. Congressman for Virginia’s Seventh District. He got his political start interning with Congressman Tom Biley and serving as his driver on his first re-election campaign. Before his election to Congress, he served in the Virginia House of Delegates for nine years and achieved a record of accomplishment as a state legislator that was recognized by groups such as Virginia Free, the leading pro-business organization in Virginia, as well as the Virginia Family Foundation and the Virginia Health Care Association.

In November 2002, Congressman Cantor won re-election by 70 percent of the vote. Shortly after his re-election, he was selected to serve as Chief Deputy Majority Whip, the highest appointed position in the House of Representatives. As Chief Deputy Majority Whip, he has a seat on the Republican leadership table in the House, where he will help set the congressional policy agenda. This post was previously held by Representative Roy Blunt (R-Missouri), now the Majority Whip, and by the current Speaker of the House, Dennis Hastert (R-Illinois).

On January 10, 2003, Congressman Cantor won a seat on the House Ways and Means Committee, which has direct jurisdiction over taxes, trade, Social Security, Medicare, prescription drugs for seniors, health care and welfare reform.

His community leadership, commitment to public service and strong family values reflect upon his work in the U.S. Congress. The first measure he introduced was the Education Empowerment Tax Credit Act, which would provide for a $1,000-per-child education tax credit for all parents with school-age children. The bill also would empower parents with the resources to meet their children’s individual education needs, and the credit could be used toward the purchase of computers, encyclopedias, tutors, special education needs and even tuition.

On April 10, 2003, President George Bush nominated Congressman Cantor to the Board of Trustees of the James Madison Memorial Fellowship Foundation. Congress established the foundation in 1986 for the purpose of enhancing the U.S. Constitution curriculum in secondary schools.

A lifelong resident of Richmond, Congressman Cantor maintains his commitment to community through his participation on several community boards and associations, including the Western Henrico Rotary, Fraternal Lodge No. 53 AF and AM, and the Board of Trustees of the Virginia Holocaust Museum. He attended George Washington University, obtained his law degree from the College of William and Mary, and his master’s from Columbia University in New York. While in New York, Cantor met his wife, Diana. The Cantors live in Richmond with their three children, Evan, Jerina and Michael.

The academic costume worn at American college exercises derives from the Middle Ages. The oldest universities of northern Europe, such as Paris and Oxford, grew out of church schools, and both faculty and students were regarded in the Middle Ages as a part of the clergy. They wore clerical habits, largely borrowed from the monastic dress of that day, not just on special occasions but as their regular attire.

The head covering of the academic costume developed from the skull cap worn by the clergy in cold weather to protect the tonsured head. In the universities, the skull cap acquired a point on top, which evolved into a tassel. The bonnet with tassel is still worn by degree holders of European universities. In America, it has been replaced by the familiar mortar board, which still retains the medieval tassel.

The hood (the medieval caputium) was originally a covering worn over the head in bad weather, otherwise dropped on the shoulders as the monk’s cowl. At first it was worn by faculty and students alike, but in the early 16th century it was restricted to graduates, thus becoming the mark of a degree holder. Today, each college has its distinctive hood lining by which its graduates may be recognized in academic processions. Graduates from Virginia Commonwealth University may wear a hood showing a black chevron on gold background.

The gown comes from the medieval robe and seems to have been borrowed from the habit of the Benedictine monks. In the Middle Ages, undergraduates, bachelors and masters could be distinguished by the simplicity or intricacy of their gowns. The doctor’s gown was often furred, which survives today in the ornamentation found on the doctoral gown. Usually the gown is black, but some colleges have gowns of different colors.

The wide velvet borders extending down the front of the doctoral gown, the velvet bars on the sleeves, and the borders of most hoods are colored according to the scholarly field of the wearer.

Virginia Commonwealth University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action university providing access to education and employment without regard to age, race, color, national origin, gender, religion, sexual orientation, veteran's status, political affiliation or disability.

Virginia Commonwealth University is accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools to award baccalaureate, master's, doctoral and first professional degrees.
Recipients of Degrees

Because of rigid time requirements, this program must be printed before the final list of degree candidates and final graduation honor status for undergraduate students can be determined. The exclusion of the name of a student is not to be taken as indication of official status as a nongraduate, nor is the inclusion of a name of a student to be taken as certification of official status as a graduate. Only undergraduate students are eligible for honors designations. These designations do not apply to the degrees received by graduate students.

Virginia Commonwealth University

Virginia Commonwealth University is supported by Virginia to serve the Richmond area, the state and the nation through teaching, research, service and patient care.

VCU offers comprehensive undergraduate, graduate, professional and doctoral programs and encompasses one of the largest academic health centers in the nation. With more than $185 million a year in sponsored research funding, VCU is a Carnegie Doctoral/Research University-Extensive, one of only three institutions in Virginia to be ranked in the top category for higher education in the United States. Seventeen centers and institutes of excellence — involving faculty from multiple disciplines in public policy, biotechnology and health care discoveries — support the University's research mission.

More than 28,000 students pursue 181 degree and certificate programs through the University’s 15 schools and one college. VCU has a full-time faculty of more than 1,600 who are nationally and internationally recognized for excellence in the arts, business, education, engineering, the humanities, the life sciences, social work and all the health care professions. With an annual budget of more than $1.5 billion and with more than 15,000 employees, VCU and the VCU Health System also have a significant impact on employment and spending in the Richmond region.

VCU has been engaged in a long-range strategic planning effort that has resulted in such initiatives as a visionary master's building plan, the Virginia BioTechnology Research Park, the School of Engineering, the Carver-VCU Partnership for neighborhood development and, most recently, VCU Life Sciences, a comprehensive undergraduate and graduate program incorporating all aspects of the University's academic and clinical missions in teaching, research and public education.

VCU students and faculty also can be found in locations around the state and around the world. VCU is the only state institution offering an accredited Master of Social Work program in Northern Virginia. The School of Medicine is collaborating with the Inova Health System in Northern Virginia as well to establish the VCU School of Medicine-Inova Campus for third- and fourth-year medical students. Eventually, the partnership will expand to include residency training and joint bioscience and clinical research projects. And, the University is in its fourth year of offering bachelor's degrees in graphic, fashion and interior design at the School of the Arts in Qatar. In 1998, the University and the Qatar Foundation for Education, Science and Community Development entered into an agreement to establish the school at the request of the Qatar government.

VCU's long-range planning also has sought to protect the future of the clinical health care mission, including providing top quality patient care, indigent-care services and support for the teaching and research mission. The result is the VCU Health System, which was established on July 1, 2000, and brings together MCV Hospitals, MCV Physicians, Virginia Premier Health Plan and University Health Services.

VCU and the VCU Health System have been honored with more than a decade of national recognition for its top quality graduate, professional programs and its medical-care programs by U.S. News & World Report; local, regional and national guides to the best hospitals and best doctors; and professional societies and journals. The University also has been recognized for leadership in community and economic development in the 2002 report, “Leveraging Colleges and Universities for Urban Economic Revitalization: An Action Agenda,” by CEO for Cities and the Initiative for a Competitive Inner City. The report featured two case studies: VCU and Columbia University.
Congratulations to all!
