If you want to revise your submission, use the 'Revise submission' link.

Your submission homepage includes a Sidebar, Summary, Revision History, and Additional Files section.

To revise (during any period of the review process), click “Revise Submission” on the sidebar. This will take you to almost exactly like the initial submission form. At this point, you only need to resubmit those elements requiring revision. Most likely, that will include two things: a new version of your paper (in MS Word format), plus a new cover letter detailing changes made to this version (for the reviewers). Do not forget to save the changes you make at the bottom of that form.

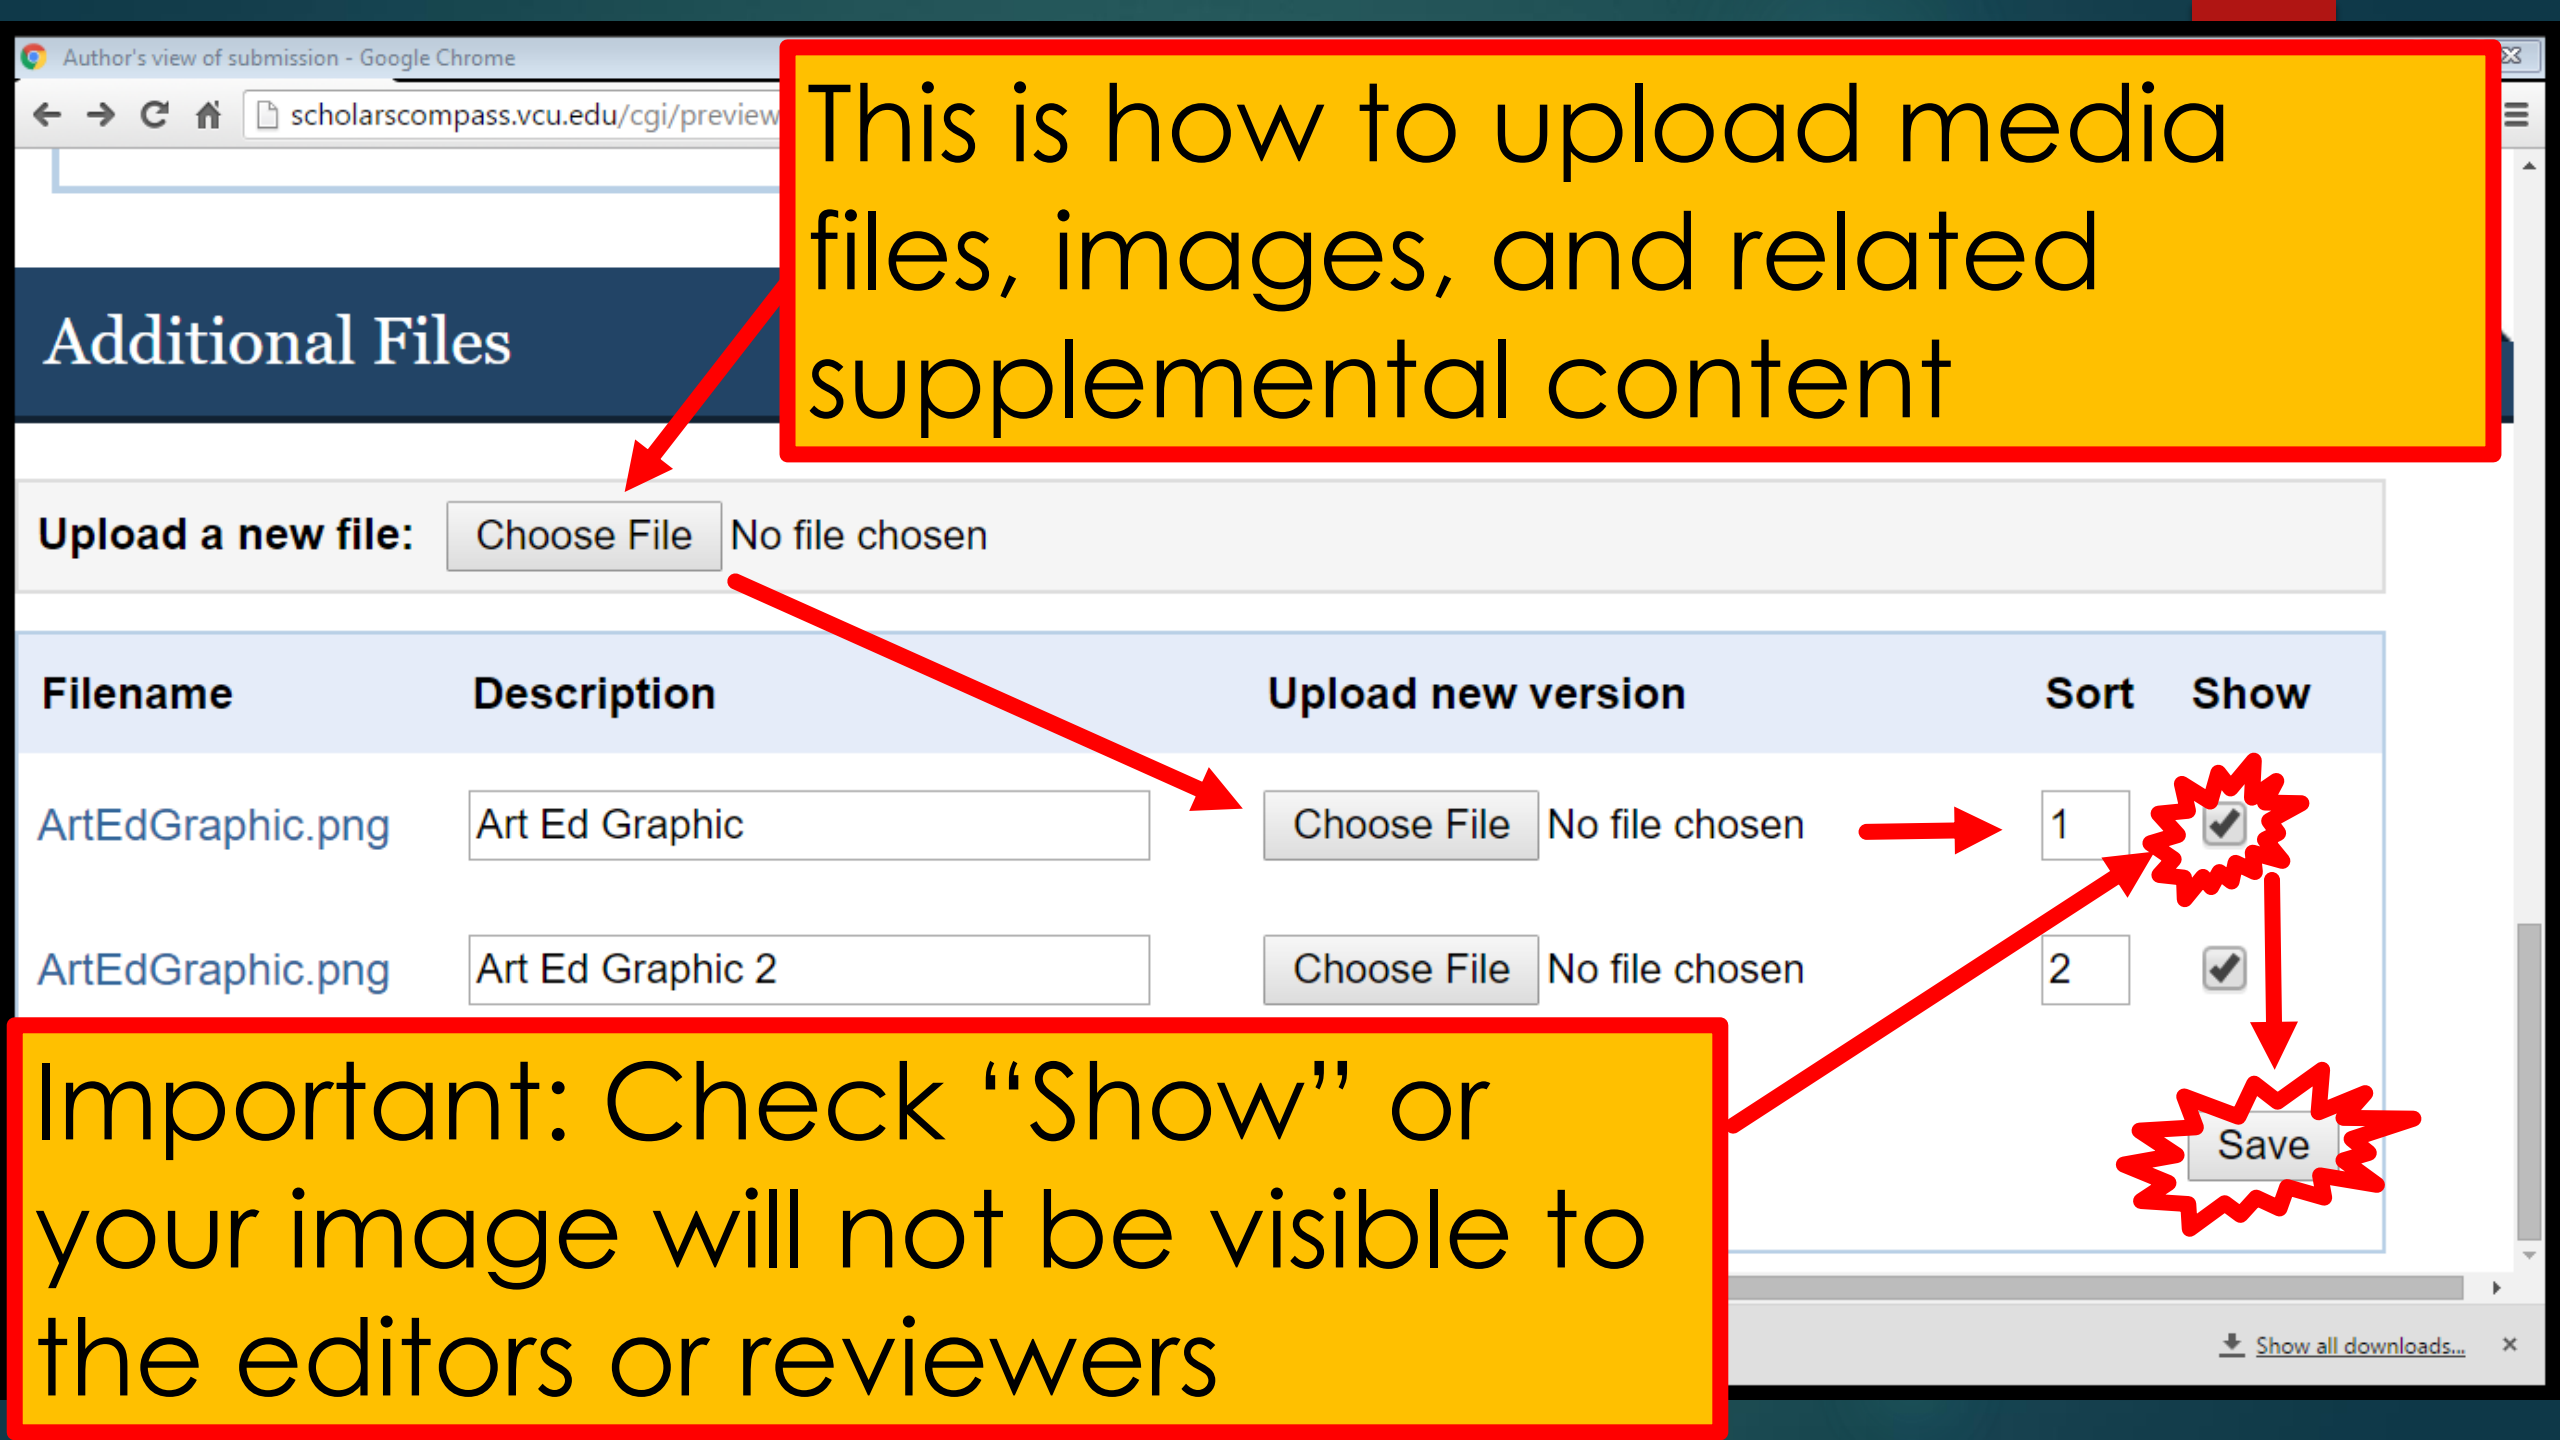

Each time you successfully submit a revision, a new version will appear in this box. It is good to double-check that your new versions appear here, and in MS Word format, because conversion of PDF files to Word creates editorial problems.
